HUNDREDS HOMELESS

15 Killed, Scores Hurt As Florida Tornado Strikes

Nine white persons and six Negroes died in wreckage left by the twister which roared over the town of 4,000 population, 15 miles northeast of Pensacola, shortly after 9 a. m.

The Florida Highway Patrol estimated 75 houses were destroyed and scores of others were damaged in varying degree. The injured were estimated at between 75 and 100.

RIPS AREA

The tornado ripped through a mile-long strip extending from the College Park residential area to northwestern outskirts of the town. It swirled on through an unpopulated area toward the small community of Munson, uprooting trees and damaging isolated structures.

The Rev. Robert Cowling, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal church and disaster chairman for the Red Cross, said an aerial survey showed the area of damage was five miles long and a quarter-mile wide, extending from northwest Milton to northeast of the town's outskirts.

He estimated that between 200 and to 250 homes were severely damaged or destroyed. He placed the homeless at about 400 persons.

Fifty cots were set up for the homeless in the county courthouse. A number of residents whose homes were destroyed were sent to Whiting Field, an auxiliary of the Pensacola Air station, Others moved in with relatives.

Frame homes in Milton burst open from the tornadic blast. A two-block area in the College Park section was hardest hit with at least 10 homes destroyed and 25 extensively damaged.

The town's only hospital, a 50-

JFK To Ask Extension Of Jobless Aid

Congress To Get Stopgap Request Within Few Days

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy disclosed Saturday he will ask Congress for another stopgap extension of unemployment benefits pending action on permanent legislation to reshape the whole program.

The White House did not say what the chief executive will ask in the way of temporary relief for jobless workers whose benefit periods run out. Nor did the announcement say when the request will go to Congress but indications are that it will be no later than next week.

RETROACTIVE

The temporary 13-week extension voted last year expired Saturday and the stopgap request will be for extensions retroactive to April 1.

Kennedy made it clear he is not abandoning the broad program of permanent changes he requested on March 12 but feels action will have to be put over to next year.

Kennedy estimated that about 1.5 million jobless would be helped by his extension program. In his March 2 letter to Congress, he estimated 150,000 of the long-term jobless would exhaust regular benefits in April and about 10,000 more would find themselves in this plight each month throught the rest of this year.

The President's pending permanent program not only would extend the length of benefit periods but would increase benefits by stages up to 1968 and add about 3 million workers not now covered. These would include salesmen, shop operators paid on commission, agricultural processing workers and firms with single employes.

OUACHITA PARISH

Gibbs To Ask For 3rd Seat

State Rep. Lawrence Gibbs Saturday announced that he would seek to gain another seat in the House of Representatives for Ouachita Parish.

Gibbs said that the parish's population growth entitles Ouachita to more representation.

Gibbs has sponsored legislation in the House since 1959 in an effort to get another representative for Ouachita.

His announcement came on the heels of a Supreme Court decision earlier in the week which ordered federal district courts to hear suits seeking reapportionment of state legislatures.

A Constituitonal amendment would be needed to give Ouachita the additional seat. Two-thirds of the members of both houses of the legislature would have to approve the act, and in addition, it must be passed on by the voters of the entire state.

NEEDS MAJORITY

It would have to gain a majority of votes in a general election.

In a study conducted and published by LSU, it was found that 72 per cent of the state's population lives south of Alexandria. The House voted two additional seats for East Baton Rouge Parish in 1960 and two new seats for Jefferson Parish in the same session. All four were approved at the polls.

Natchitoches Parish, with approximately 34,000 resident, has two representatives, and Rapides, with 111,000 population, has three. Ouachita Parish has 101,000.

Gibbs said he thought it "only fair that Ouachita Parish have proportionate representation."

In his statement, Gibbs said: "Due to the steady population growth of Ouachita Parish, its

Soviets Put U.S. Mission Under Guard

Retaliatory Step Is Taken After American Action

BERLIN (UPI)—American military police Saturday night chased down and halted a Russian bus load of soldiers at the East-West Berlin border shortly after the Soviets cracked down on the U.S. military liaison mission in Potsdam, East Germany.

The Russians threw an armed guard around the U.S. Army liaison mission and placed its members under house arrest. The Soviet high command said members could not leave without a Russian escort and banned trips outside the city without special Russian passes.

RESTRICTIONS

The action was taken in retaliation for U.S. Army restrictions imposed on the Russian liaison mission in the American Zone of Germany Thursday. The restrictions were imposed because East German Communist police shot up an American mission automobile in East Germany.

Saturday a Russian bus carrying armed Russian soldiers tried to evade American controls on the East-West Berlin border. The bus was detained for 30 minutes and then allowed to proceed to the Russian war memorial in the British sector.

The M. P.'s chased the bus from Check Point Charlie at the Friedrich - Strasse crossing in jeeps, forcing it to the side of the street in West Berlin and halting it until identities could be checked.

The East German Communist news agency ADN said the Russian action was in retaliation for the American blockade of the Soviet military mission in Frankfurt.

But a U.S. Army spokesman in Frankfurt said there are "no indications" that the Soviet move would result in any relaxation of the restrictions imposed on the Russian military mission at the U.S. Army headquarters in the West German city.

Gen. Bruce C. Clarke, commander of the U.S. Army in Europe, forbade the Russians to travel outside their Frankfurt headquarters without a U. S. escort last Thursday. He acted

Trapped As Vehicle Goes Over Bridge

By SARAH LITTLE
World Staff Writer

Two West Monroe youths drowned Saturday afternoon when the driver apparently lost control of the truck they were in, turning it upside down in a bayou approximately three miles south of West Monroe after crashing through a bridge.

State police identified them as driver of the truck Marshall L. Blakeney, 18 of 321 Martin St., and Roger Kerry, 17 of 122 Thomas Dr., West Monroe.

Ouachita Parish Coroner Dr. John P. Burton said that both youths died of drowning and placed time of death around 2 p.m.

SAW WHEELS

A motorist noticed the rear wheels of the truck at 2:40 p.m. and notified state police. The accident occurred 3.2 miles south of West Monroe on the Oastinbeen Road.

Troopers investigating the accident said that apparently Blakeney was traveling east on the Oastinbeen Road at an excessive rate of speed and lost control of the vehicle.

The truck swapped sides of the road several times, troopers said, before hitting the bridge and going off. It turned upside down, and the only parts visible were the tires and bottom of the truck.

The youths were apparently imprisoned in the truck with the windows up and troopers were unable to determine whether they attempted to open the door to es-

Two-Year Steel Contract Okayed

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Steel negotiators announced Saturday terms of a new two-year labor agreement that was immediately hailed by President Kennedy as fulfilling his appeal for an early and responsible settlement.

The pact waived any immediate wage increase but provided a broad array of contract changes including new vacation and retirement provisions aimed at sharing work time in an industry hard hit by unemployment.

David J. McDonald, president of the Steelworkers Union, said provisions for longer vacations and extra vacation time off for longer-service workers, together with more liberal pension arrangements, should open work in steel mills to thousands of extra employes. He said he did not know how many.

INCREASES COSTS

The agreement apparently called for labor costs increases in the neighborhood of 10 cents an hour, as was reported in advance. The estimate was supported by an industry statement that it would increase labor costs about 2½ per cent. The union said no accurate cost estimate was possible.

However, Kennedy in a telephone message to McDonald at the union's Wage Policy Committee meeting said the settlement was "obviously noninflationary and should provide a solid base for continued price stability."

The union policy committee, which had already ratified the new agreement along with the union's executive board, greeted Kennedy's remarks with applause. The President praised the contract's "new and imaginative benefits in areas most vital to employes—income and job security."

An industry statement said the settlement is the most moderate

Bogalusa Strike Is Settled

BOGALUSA, La. (AP)—Workers who went on strike at the huge Crown-Zellerbach Corp. paper mill seven months ago voted Saturday night to accept the company's new contract offer and return to work.

The vote was not announced but was reported to be 8-1 in favor of the offer.

The strike — first big labor dispute in this industrial city of 22,000 in more than 40 years — began Aug. 27 when 1,140 members of the United Papermakers and Paperworkers, Local 189, walked off thier jobs.

Their action halted paper production and idled some 500 other hourly workers at the plant, the area's economic backbone with an annual payroll of $11 million.

Douglas Shows, the union president, said, "Our union has voted overwhelmingly to accept the proposal made by Crown-Zellerbach Corp. We feel it is an honorable settlement, and we can live in harmony with it,"

Details of the settlement were not disclosed.

Ray Dahl, the company's resident manager, said that all supervisory personnel would be alerted as soon as possible to prepare the mill for resumption of operation.

Masonic Meet Set For Today

Judge Luther A. Smith, Masonic leader from Washington, D.C., will speak in Monroe today at a program marking the 150th anniversary of the founding of the Grand Lodge of Louisiana, Free and Accepted Masons.

The sesquincentennial ceremonies will begin at 2:30 p.m. in Brown auditorium on the Northeast Louisiana State College campus.

Judge Smith is Sovereign Grand Commander of the Supreme Council, 33rd Degree of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry, Southern Jurisdiction, U.S.A.

The Southern jurisdiction, with membership of more than one half million, comprises the 33 states west of the Mississippi and south of the Ohio rivers, the District of Columbia, the states of Alaska and Hawaii, and all of the territories and possessions of the United States.

Judge Smith is a past Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Mississippi and former judge of the Court of Chancery for the 10th District of Mississippi. He received his bachelor of laws degree from Vanderbilt University in 1909 and an honorary doctor of laws degree from Georgetown University, Washington, D.C., in 1961.

In addition to receiving many Masonic citations, medals and awards, Judge Smith has been presented with honors for service by numerous civic, religious and philanthropic organizations.

Earlier this year, he was named "man of the year" by the Volunteers of America, a national re-

Winds Strong At Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE (AP) —Powerful winds ripped loose two anchors and their chains from the Jugoslav ship Bosna Saturday in the Mississippi River here.

The ship drifted out of control into the U.S. Navy wharf, ripping away 30 feet of the wharf, and nosed into the muddy east bank of the river where it stuck.

Tugboats helped the vessel get off the mudbank after about two hours. The ship had no further damage.

Heavy rain and gusty winds also interrupted electrical service here, and state police reported what may have been a tornado passed over the Walker area east of the city without causing any damage.

RUINS TRAIL TORNADO

Eyewitnesses Tell Of Grim Disaster

MILTON, Fla. (AP)—"I heard a young woman scream 'It's a baby' over and over again. Then I saw what she had seen: the twisted body of a small child lay in a heap near what had once been a frame house."

A Pensacola newsman used those graphic words to describe the deaths and destruction left by the monster tornado which ripped through the northern side of this northwest Florida city at mid-morning Saturday.

"Pulverized piles of automobiles, homes, stores and trees confronted the hundreds of rescue workers who tramped through the rubble looking for bodies," reported Gayle Norton of the Pensacola News-Journal.

He said the woman's screams when she found the broken body of the baby drew the attention of two stretcher bearers. They quickly picked up the body and put it in an ambulance which took it to a funeral home.

Ensign Paul H. Hill, 23-year-old Chicago Navy officer stationed at nearby Whiting Field, reported his home lay outside the path of wind destruction by a mere 15 feet.

The officer said he heard what he thought was thunder, but that it "kept getting louder and louder. Then it sounded like hail began hitting the side of the house," he said.

"Our windows blew in but the venetian blinds had been closed and little glass came into the house. Suddenly it got quiet. I opened the front door and looked out. I couldn't believe it. As far as I could see in front of me no buildings were standing. I heard nothing.

"I took my wife next door to the neighbors and when I came

Odd Clothing Fit Trips Up One Smuggler

NEW YORK (AP) — Customs officials cleared Sabino Palermo's luggage, but his careful, measured gait and the odd way his clothing fit him prompted them to take another look.

It wasn't a deformity or poor tailoring.

Palermo was arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Max Schiffman in Brooklyn Saturday on a charge of smuggling 337 gold Swiss watches into this country in the linings of his topcoat and sports jacket and the waistband of his trousers.

Customs officials said the watches were worth $30,000 retail and the duty would have been $3,000.

Palermo, 37, Italian native who has been in this country for about a year working as an airlines cashier, was arrested at Idlewild Airport Friday on his return from a trip to Paris and Rome. Schiffman ordered him held in $5,000 bail for a federal grand jury.

If convicted he could be sentenced to five years in jail and a $10,000 fine, and, as an alien, deported.

Annual Easter Seal Parade Is Set Today

Fair And Cool Expected Today

The highest monthly rainfall so far in 1962 fell in March in the amount of 4.5 inches, according to the records of the Federal Aviation Agency at Selman Field.

After only a trace of rain being recorded Saturday in the Twin City area, no more is expected for today.

The forecast reads generally fair and cooler. High temperature is expected to reach 55 degrees today and the low is forecast to fall to 38 tonight.

The high Saturday was recorded at 50 degrees and the low was recorded at 43 degrees. Skies showed mostly cloudy.

ARKANSAS GOVERNOR

Faubus To Skip Fifth Term Race

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus, whose name became synonymous with the South's resistance to school integration during the 1957 crisis in Little Rock, Saturday night announced his retirement from politics.

The 52-year-old governor indicated he would not seek a precedent-shattering fifth term and gave health as the reason.

"I am sure my friends do not want me to continue and seriously risk the loss of my health," he said over a statewide radio and television network. "I could then be of no useful service to you, nor to my family or myself.

PLANS TO WRITE

"Secondly, I wish to do some writing," he said. "I am sure I will never find the time so long as I remain in the governor's office.

"Therefore," he declared, "it is my decision not to seek renomination and re-election to the governor's office in 1962."

Of the once-bitter issue of segregation, Faubus talked with kindness about the Negroes of Arkansas, but he sounded a warning for those who urge immediate eradication of color bars.

"Some day some of you pseudo-intellectuals here in Little Rock will hear the sound of youthful

PLAN LAUNCH FRIDAY

New Type Rocket To Get Test Soon

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — America plans to launch a new high-energy rocket on its maiden flight in early April.

The rocket, a silvery Atlas-Centaur standing 107 feet tall, represents this nation's earliest hopes for a major increase in the size and weight of its satellites and space probes.

Scientists said that, barring any more big hitches in the program, Atlas-Centaur rockets could be ready to put 4½-ton satellites—more than half again as large as the heaviest that current rockets can carry—into orbits 300 miles above earth.

The first Atlas-Centaur flight, delayed for several months because of myriad technical troubles, is no wset for next Friday.

The initial flight will be a simple ballistic-type "up-and - down" trip of several hundred miles, to separate the Atlas booster rocket and to ignite the revolutionary Centaur engine in space to see how it works.

The heart of the gleaming rocket's power is the Centaur second-stage engine, which uses a volatile mixture of super-cooled liquid hydrogen and liquid oxygen as fuel. This is a highly efficient propellant mixture that can deliver more power per pound than any previously used by the United states.

Scientists will be content simply to get the first Atlas-Centaur into space long enough to see if the second stage will fire. After that, there will be at least six more "research and development" flights—each a bit more complex than the one previous—before the new rocket is ready for serious work as a satellite launcher.

Indonesian Attack Is Predicted

HOLLANDIA, West New Guinea (AP)—The head of Dutch armed forces in West New Guinea said Saturday recent Indonesian military landings were in preparation for a larger frontal attack.

Col. M. Elbers, the chief of staff, said the Dutch armed forces have been chasing down the infiltrators, making their military value useless.

Elbers told a news conference the landings have been taking place along an 800-mile front, from Waigeo Island on the northwest to Kokenao on the south coast.

A battalion of Papuans, the natives of this island claimed by Indonesia, are helping to track down the infiltrators, the colonel added. The Papuans know the wild frontier region of jungles and swamps.

The Dutch intercepted four Indonesian torpedo boats last week but they still are looking for an Indonesian schooner that landed invaders on the south coast, the colonel reported.

A Dutch warplane fired on the schooner after she discharged the infiltrators, but whether she was hit was not reported.

With negotiations between the Dutch and Indonesians over the island dispute in recess, the Netherlands is speeding up reinforcements, apparently convinced an attack is near.

When the airlift is completed, Dutch troops in West New Guinea will number 7,000 to 8,000.

bed structure, filled quickly with injured victims. The hospital transferred 19 of the most seriously hurt to Pensacola hospitals and treated 60 others. Fifty-four of the latter were dismissed after treatment.

Damage to homes and business houses was estimated at about $1.5 million by T. G. Melson, president of the Milton City Council. He added: "But that's just a guess right now."

The black funnel toppled a 350-foot microwave tower and knocked down high-voltage lines throughout the area.

Weather forecasts called for nothing more than scattered showers and residents were unaware of the approaching danger.

Three small tornadoes were reported by the highway patrol at Naceville, north of Ft. Walton Beach, at Panama City Beach and near Youngstown. There were no reports of injuries in those places.

Small tornadoes also were reported in Alabama and Mississippi. The Montgomery, Ala., Weather Bureau reported a tornado unroofed a house and wrecked a garage near the Jackson Camp community in east-central Alabama. High winds flattened several summer houses and damaged fishing camps near Elberta in southeast Alabama.

One person was hurt and 10 buildings damaged by a tornado that skipped over a two-mile area in the Pleasant Hill community 10 miles east of Columbus, Miss.

The Milton tornado struck in an area of homes ranging in value from $12,000 to $15,000.

Three small tornadoes also were reported in southern Georgia, but there were no reports of injuries.

At Tifton, the roof was blown from a shed at the Tifton farmers market. An American Legion club was destroyed at Doerun and there was some damage to small buildings and trees. There was no report of damage by a tornado at Alma.

As the fatality count at Milton mounted, a temporary makeshift morgue was set up in the heart of the city. Highway patrolmen, civil defense workers and volunteers grimly searched the flattened buildings for additional bodies.

Capt. J. W. Jordan, Panama City highway patrol troop commander, took charge of the overall operation. Thirty-two additional officers were called in to assist.

Power lines were cut off and the few lines remaining into Milton were jammed. Curiosity seekers clogged roads for miles around despite pleas from the mayor and other officials to stay away.

Judson Daughtery, 49, owner of the Skyland Lounge, was sleeping on the second floor of the lounge building when the tornado approached. He climbed from bed on hearing the wind.

"All of a sudden it felt like something had grabbed me and turned me round and round," he said. The lounge was demolished and Daughtery was left lying behind a tree.

Daughtery said that if he had been downstairs at the time he would have been killed. "I can't figure out how I got out alive," he added.

C. H. Phillips, Milton correspondent for the Pensacola News-Journal, was talking on the telephone to a member of the Pensacola paper's staff when his home began to shake at 9:05 a.m.

Phillips said he had been in five other tornadoes and he told the News Journal a tornado had just struck Milton. A peculiar smokey odor accompanied the first blast of wind, he said.

Negro Shoots 2 Others, Himself

FARMERVILLE (Special) — A Farmerville Negro shot and wounded himself, his former wife and a bystander Saturday morning in a Farmerville grocery store, according to Union Parish Sheriff Jurd Stewart.

Stewart said that Joseph Bilberry had been separated from his wife, Mary Lee Bilberry, about two weeks when the incident occured.

Pat Watson, Farmerville Negro, was apparently shot accidently, Stewart said. He said that all were shot with a .22 revolver which Bilberry shot himself with in the hand.

All were taken to a Monroe hospital. Stewart said the injuries appeared to be only minor.

out a woman was standing in the middle of the street screaming 'My baby, My baby.'"

As word of the disaster began to get out despite broken telephone lines and power failures, assistance began pouring into the city. Early in the afternoon a long line of emergency equipment was being moved into the town from nearby Pensacola.

A. C. Lewis of the Wolfe-Lewis Funeral Home, which handled most of the bodies, said the town had not experienced such a disaster before in his 23 years here.

Ted M. Childers, another Milton resident, said the winds struck after he had left his two daughters, Vonnie Jo, 8, and Linda, 11, at home while he went three blocks away.

"The first thing I did was jump into the car and go home to see about the girls," he related. "When I got there Linda was in the yard trying to find Vonnie. We found her buried under a pile of rubbish. I knew she was hurt and tried to get her to the doctor. The roads were blocked but I finally bulldozed through."

Vonnie had a broken leg. Linda had suffered cuts and bruises as the wind reduced their home to rubble.

voices in your home," he said. "You will walk into your parlor and find your daughter being fondled by a black man. You will not like it. Some of you might accept it, but most of you will be like the professor in a college in New York who, when faced with the situation, exclaimed, 'this integration stuff has its limits.'

"Some day a white youth will drive up to a Negro home for a date with the Negro son or daughter, and some honest Negro parents are going to think, as I heard one Negro mother say, 'this thing is bad, wrong.'"

In 1957, Faubus called out the Arkansas National Guard to prevent integration of Central High School in Little Rock. President Dwight D. Eisenhower sent in federal troops to see that the desegregation was carried out without violence.

Fabus, born in a one-room log cabin on Greasy Creek, beat incumbent Francis Cherry's try for an almost automatic second term in 1954. Faubus has won handily every two years since.

The one-time school teacher's retirement leaves the field wide open for this summer's Democratic primary. The only announced candidates are Rep. Dale Alford, D-Ark., and Kenneth Coffelt, a Little Rock attorney.

Faubus, in his speech, pointed to improvements in Arkansas in the fields of education, welfare, mental health, highways and industrial development during his eight-year tenure.

"And so, with malice toward none and charity for all, I thank you for your unbounded goodness to me, for the great privilege and high honor which has been mine, and wish each and every one of you God's richest blessing," he concluded.

ADN said Russian military authorities banned all trips of American mission members outside of Potsdam and placed the guard around the headquarters to enforce the ban. It said the Americans would have to secure special passes from the Russians for any movement outside the city.

But it was not clear from the ADN report if such passes would be required to travel the 10 miles of East German territory which separates Potsdam from West Berlin.

Two-Year Steel Contract Okayed

in years and the first since 1954 achieved without a strike.

It lifts the danger of a strike only until August 1963, however, because on that date the union will be free to renew a walkout threat. It is given the right to reopen the contract as of then on wages, pensions, insurance and other matters.

It was evident, however, that success in negotiating a new agreement a full three months ahead of the June 30 expiration of present contracts reflected a new era of cordiality in an industry long marked by hectic labor relations.

Kennedy said the pact indicated "industrial statesmanship of the highest order." Thus, at the moment, there was every hope that the prospective renegotiations in 1963 could be carried out with similar good will.

With heavy job losses due to automation, the steelworkers were mainly concerned with increased job security.

The expanded vacation and pension benefits were designed to help ease those job fears and create openings for some long-time industry workers already laid off.

Lengthening vacations is a technique that was adopted to share the available work time as an alternative to the more drastic step of reducing the standard 40-hour work week first suggested by the union.

Regular vacations will be changed in this fashion: Workers with 3-5 years service will receive two weeks off with pay, instead of 1 week off with 1½ weeks' pay now; those with 10-15 years service will get 3 weeks off with pay, rather than 2 weeks with 2½ weeks pay; those with 25 or more years of service will get 4 weeks off with pay, instead of 3 weeks off with 3½ weeks pay.

In addition, there will be an extra week special vacation for every two years' of service after Dec. 31, 1960. This means that 25-year employes, for example, will have a five-week vacation beginning next year, and a six-week vacation beginning Jan. 1, 1964, and so on.

tremendous industrial and agricultural growth, along with the many state agencies and institutions located here, I feel that Ouachita Parish should have, and is entitled to, an additional member in the legislature.

"I have recognized this need for some time and have authored and co-authored legislation along this line since 1959. Ouachita Parish is a rich parish and its 101,000 population certainly deserves an additional member of the House which will give us more strength from this area in regards to important questions which arise there and affect the lives of the people of this parish.

"Of course, under Constitutional law, any legislative act passed on this matter is subject to the vote of the people of the entire state."

On the matter of the federal courts and the Supreme Court decision, Gibbs said, "It is regrettable to see the federal courts move into the legislature. In the past, the state of Louisiana has reapportioned its members though maybe not as substantially for some parishes as it should. But we certainly have not been like Alabama or Tennessee which have refused reapportionment since 1901.

"I do not believe the federal courts acted wisely, injecting themselves into the state legislatures. It is my hope that our legislature will recognize the need to apportion itself in regards to population."

Gibbs added, however, that he would not fight anyone who wished to seek recourse for reapportionment in the federal courts.

Open House Set By Tech Library

RUSTON (Special) Members of the Prescott Memorial Library staff will hold an open house in the new building from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday, according to Ernest J. Scheerer, head librarian for the Louisiana Tech facility.

"It is a coincidence that on the same date in 1927, the Tech Talk announced work had begun on the then new library," Scheerer remarked. "That building which cost $75,000, including equipment, was opened to students, faculty and the general public the following December.

Three FAA Employees Get Awards

Three Federal Aviation Agency employees in the Monroe flight service station at Selman Field, have received official recognition for "outstanding performance during the past year," it was announced Saturday by station chief Jack Hover.

The men, Benjamin F. Bryan, Marcus B. Cole and Harold V. Odom, were recommended for "outstanding performance ratings" on the basis of meritorious work in providing flight assistance service to airmen in the Monroe area. The local flight service station is one of approximately 350 such FAA facilities in the United States which provide airmen with essential weather and operational information they need to make decisions and fly safely. All flights away from the airport begin in the pilot briefing room of the flight service station.

In making recommendation for the outstanding ratings for Bryan, Cole and Odom, written justification was submitted to FAA's southwest regional office in Fort Worth, Tex., indicating specifically how all substantial aspects of job performance by the flight service specialists not only "exceeded normal requirements" but also "deserved special commendation." The special commendation was received in the form of approval of the ratings by Assistant Administrator Archie W. League.

Performance rating is a periodic appraisal of performance of federal employees in order to recognize the merits of employees who have contributed to the efficiency and economy in the Federal service and to determine methods to increase the effectiveness with which employees do their work.

Selman Field now boasts a total of three FAA facilities. These are the airport traffic control tower under direction of tower chief Jack Pfrimmer, the flight service station under station chief Jack Hover and the systems maintenance section under maintenance chief Robert Griffith. FAA employees at the airport now total 27 people in all three facilities.

To Seize South

Communist Aim For Viet-Nam

By HOWARD PAGE
World Staff Writer

The relentless program by the communists to seize South Viet-Nam is outlined vividly in a recent publication by the U.S. Bureau of Public Affairs entitled "A Threat to the Peace."

As is emphasized in the introduction, there can be no doubt that the government of the Republic of Viet-Nam is fighting for its life.

The study presents a detailed picture of Viet Cong (Vietnamese Communist) operations and of the program of the communist government in Hanoi to win power over all Viet-Nam.

Even as they were negotiating the Geneva Accords that ended the Indochina war in 1954, the communists were making plans to take over all of Viet-Nam.

Some of the communists' best-trained guerilla units were moved to remote and inaccessible regions in the south, particularly to mountainous areas along the Cambodian and Lao borders and to jungle regions in the southern delta.

At that time, the communists planned that nationwide elections scheduled in the Accords for 1956 would turn all of Viet-Nam over to them. But the authorities in South Viet-Nam refused to fall into this well-laid trap.

DIDN'T SIGN

For one thing, the government of the South had never signed the Geneva Accords and was not bound by their provisions.

The failure of 1956 was a severe blow to the morale of the Viet Cong organization in the South and defections were numerous.

The period 1956-58 was one of rebuilding and reorganization for the Viet Cong. Defectors were replaced with new party officials trained in the North. Recruitment was pushed and more and more the Viet Cong units turned to the use of force and terror.

After 1958 the use of terror by the Viet Cong increased sharply, and the control organizations in the North expanded and refined their techniques.

When the Republic of Viet-Nam was born in 1955, its economy was a shambles. Years of foreign occupation, wartime bombing, bitter fighting with the French, and internal battles with dissident elements had left confusion in their wake.

In most foreign ministries, and also in Saigon itself, the estimates of the longevity of South Viet-Nam's independence ranged from six months to a year.

However, extensive aid from friendly powers, particularly the United States, was an important element in South Viet-Nam's surprising recovery from chaos. And the years 1956-1960 produced something close to an economic miracle in South Viet-Nam.

Economic and social advances scored by the South Vietnamese up to 1960 made it clear that Hanoi's program for peaceful takeover had little or no chance of success. If they were to win, the communists had to resort to force.

So, the leaders in Hanoi decided on a course of violence.

The organizational framework of the Viet Cong military units is quite standarized throughout South Viet-Nam. There are three kinds of Viet Cong soldier.

First, there are the village guards who receive no pay. They are poorly armed — mostly knives, machetes and spears — and operate on their assignments mostly at night.

Secondly, there are the halftime or irregular forces organized by the Viet Cong at the district level. They receive half pay and are better equipped and better trained than the village guards.

HARD CORE

However, the hard core of the Viet Cong military organization is the full-time regular units. These units contain well-trained and highly disciplined guerrilla fighters.

Money to pay the regular Viet Cong units comes from a variety of sources. "Taxes" are extorted from the local population, and landowners and plantation operators are often required to pay a tribute to the Viet Cong as the price for not having their lands devastated.

Among the favored targets of the Viet Cong have been police stations, civil guard outposts, and small units of the South Viet-Nam Army. These raids have provided the Viet Cong with a supply of arms and ammunition.

The communists have avoided any large-scale introduction of Soviet-bloc arms into South Viet-Nam, for this would be too clear evidence of their direct involvement.

Size of the Viet Cong regular units has grown steadily in recent years. Once estimated at approximately 3,000 men, the strength of the full-time Viet Cong fighting force was believed to total at least 8,000 or 9,000 near the end of 1961.

In a transparent effort to give their movement a cloak of respectability and of popular support, the so-called "Front for Liberation of the South" was formed in late 1960.

Through their propaganda the Viet Cong seek to appeal to every group in the South with promises of special attention.

While professing sympathy for the needs and hopes of the people, the Viet Cong has resorted to the most brutal forms of force and coercion in carrying out its program. Assassination had been a favorite tactic, with especially government officials and schoolteachers as victims. Also, hundreds of village chiefs have been murdered. Kidnapping has been still another tactic.

Through harassment, the murder of teachers, and sabotage of buildings, the Viet Cong succeeded in closing more than 200 primary schools in South Viet-Nam in 1960.

NO SECRET

The communist authorities in North Viet-Nam have made no secret of their full support for the subversive movement in the south.

At a meeting in September, 1960, the communist leaders in the North called for formation of a broad national united front directed against the U.S. - Diem clique. Three months later Hanoi announced creation of the "Front for Liberation of the South."

The offficial government radio in Hanoi is used both overtly and covertly to support the Viet Cong effort in South Viet-Nam by means of a heavy schedule of propaganda.

Political guidance of the Viet Cong is supplied by the Lao Dong Party, which is the communist party, led by Ho Chi Minh.

For administrative purposes the Viet Cong divides South Viet-Nam into two mjaor zones: the Interzone of South-Central Viet-Nam and the Nambo region. The former includes the highlands and coastal regions of Central Viet-Nam south of the 17th parallel, while the Nambo region is made up of the southern and southwestern provinces including the Mekong delta area.

Military affairs of the Viet Cong are the responsibility of the Armed Forces high command in North Viet-Nam under close supervision of the party.

A key element in the Viet Cong effort is an elaborate organization in Hanoi called the Central Research Agency.

Also operating under the direct supervision of the C.R.A. headquarters are a number of special centers for overseas operations. One such center is responsible for maintaining intelligence channels to overseas areas. It operates through special units at Haiphong and at Hungary which have contact with Hong Kong, Paris and other overseas points.

Inside South Viet-Nam the Viet Cong are known to have a large intelligence network. Some of its units are responsible for receiving and sending on agents arriving from the north. They feed and give instructions to groups infiltrating into South Viet-Nam.

Authorities in North Viet-Nam — the central government, the Army, the Central Research Agency, the Lao Dong Party — have gone to elaborate lengths to conceal their direct participation in the program to conquer and absorb South Viet-Nam. In part, these efforts are designed to help preserve the fiction that the armed uprising in the South is an internal matter.

CAPTURED WEAPONS

Weapons of Soviet-bloc origin are generally shunned and Viet Cong troops entering the south usually are supplied with French weapons dating from the Indochina war on U.S. equipment captured in Laos or in attacks on military units in South Viet-Nam.

Over the years, the government of South Viet-Nam has tried to bring details of this picture of subversion and covert aggression to the attention of the world. Primarily, it has done so by presenting evidence, as it was acquired, to the International Control Commission. Almost 200 letters detailing more than 1,200 incidents — everything from acts of sabotage or cases of assassination to large-scale military actions by the Viet Cong — are in the International Control Commission files. However, that body has not investigated any cases of subversion.

The reasons for this inaction are obvious. The Polish member of the I.C.C. will not favor any investigation that might embarrass the Viet Cong.

Through its clandestine channels into the South, the Viet Cong have sent not only espionage agents and military personnel but large quantities of military equipment and other supplies.

One item produced in Hanoi that is virtually standard equipment for Viet Cong fighting units in the South is a map. For the most part, these North Vietnamese maps of the South are a 1956 issue based on information collected up to 1954.

In attacks on Viet Cong units and camp sites, the Army of the Republic of Viet-Nam has occasionally discovered medical supplies produced in the Sino-Soviet bloc which could only have been obrought in from outside South Viet-Nam. Included were stocks of medicines from Hungary, Bulgaria, and Communist China.

This flow of supplies from the North into South Viet-Nam—like the infiltration of agents and the introduction of military personnel — is a clear violation of the Geneva Accords.

The Viet Cong long have used infiltration routes through Laos and along the Viet-Nam-Laos border to send personnel from North Viet-Nam into the south.

Since December, 1960, North Viet-Nam has been the base from which the extensive Soviet airlift of supplies to the Pathet Lao has operated.

The presence of North Vietnamese units in Laos is disturbing to the government of South Viet Nam on two counts. First, it means that much of northeastern and southeastern Laos is under control of the communists. And, second, is the knowledge that regular units of the North Viet-Nam Army are in a position to move readily into South Viet-Nam to fight with the Viet Cong whenever the high command in Hanoi decides they are needed.

The communist program to take over South Viet-Nam has moved into a new and more dangerous phase. Political and propaganda activity has been stepped up. And military actions have been stepped up with the employment of larger units.

For the people of South Viet-Nam the meaning of a communist victory is obvious. They would join their compatriots in the North within the communist orbit. They would take their place alongside the North Koreans, the Tibetans, the Hungarians, the East Germans, and others in the conformity of an "order" ruled by Moscow and Peiping.

For Viet-Nam's neighbors the consequences of a communist victory in all Viet-Nam would be far-reaching. It would doubtless seal the fate of Laos, where the communists already control about half the country.

Viet-Nam is not an isolated problem, because the tactics used there have been used before.

The United States and other friendly countries have already contributed much to the cause of strengthening South Viet-Nam's military and economic programs, and still more assistance will be needed.

NORTHEST CONCERT

Thurber Carnival Set For April 13

Imogene Coca, Arthur Treacher and King Donovan will star in "A Thurber Cardinal," hailed as the freshest, funniest and most delightful show of the year by New York Drama Critics, Friday night, April 13, at Neville High School Auditorium.

The last presentation of the season by the Northeast State Concerts Association, "A Thurber Carnival" was written by the inimitable James Thurber. It highlights his most hilarious sketches about the battle of the sexes. It will start at 8:15 p.m.

This smash comedy revue hit had a long successful run on Broadway, and a first-rate crew of sardonic funsters have gotten together to give a merry Thurber anthology.

Expert comics of the off-beat, underplaying, browbeaten and battered school, Imogene Coca, Arthur Treacher and King Donovan are ably assisted by Walter Klavun, Elaine Swann, Vince Harding, Janis Hansen and Gigi Durston in a variety of roles.

Miss Coca portrays a woman with an amusing new concept of "Macbeth," a reluctant murder victim and an euphoric renovator of sad poetry. Treacher, the veteran stage and motion picture comedian, scores as an island cast away and errant husband. Donovan plays the day-dreaming Walter Mitty, an imbibing General Grant, and a husband getting rid of his wife.

Among the sketches are King Donovan's monologue on the way of a somewhat eccentric family reacted "The Night the Bed Fell on Father." Treacher is an islander with mermaid problems.

In all, "A Thurber Carnival" comprises 16 sketches based on the hilarious short stories of Thurber, the Ohio-born humorist who has just about said everything there is to say about the battle of the sexes.

It is being produced by Lee Guber, Frank Ford and Shelly Gross Productions, with incidental music by Don Elliott, scenery by Ramse Stevens and lighting by Lester Tapper.

IMOGENE COCA and King Donovan are shown as Mr. and Mrs. Preble in "Mr. Preble Gets Rid of His Wife," a skit from "A Thurber Carnival" to be presented in Neville High School Auditorium on Friday, April 13, at 8:15 p.m. by the Northeast State Concerts Association. The Broadway cast also stars Arthur Treacher in a James Thurber presentation of "the battle of the sexes."

Cadet Captain Promotions At Tech Announced

These promotions are effective only until the end of the present semester but they make these cadets the highest ranking officers in the junior class.

Permanent promotions given recently were to James W. McManus, Shreveport, promoted to the rank of lieutenant colonel, and promotions to major for George S. King, Shreveport, and John M. Roberson, Ruston.

Prison Head Defends Acts Of Barnett

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Penitentiary Supt. Fred Jones Saturday defended Gov. Ross Barnett's prison leave policies, saying they are hardly different from those of previous administrations.

Jones appeared at the governor's office to issue a statement to newsmen following disclosure of a legislative investigating committee's report that more than 600 convicts have gained leaves and term suspensions since Barnett took office in January, 1960.

After issuing the statement, Jones told a newsman he felt a proposed constitutional board to run the prison system would be "a good idea." The committee will recommend creation of such a board.

The prison superintendent said Barnett has been issuing "no more prison leaves" than did former Govs. Hugh White and J. P. Coleman.

"In fact, on pardons and suspensions granted, the present administration has been much more conservative," Jones said.

Ten pardons have been issued in Barnett's administration, he said, but 46 were granted by Coleman and 252 by White. Jones said the number of suspensions under Barnett also was lower than before.

Jones said criticism of Barnett's leave policies has failed to "present an accurate picture of the situation."

A liberalized program of prison leaves was initiated by the late Gov. Thomas Bailey in the 1940s, Jones said. "Because of the success of this program, succeeding administrations have continued the system with much the same results.

"It has been shown by actual experience that such leaves have served to help keep prisoners orderly and busy at their assigned work and, in many instances, have helped to bring about their rehabilitation and the eventual return of them to family-supporting roles in the state's society."

Jones said the Barnett administration adopted a policy of authorizing a series of leaves, rather than suspensions, to some prisoners "too make certain that they were rehabilitated and ready to serve their families before more permanent freedom was granted them."

5 Local Students File For Degrees At Northwestern

NATCHITOCHES (Special) — Five Ouachita Parish students have filed their candidacy for degrees to be awarded at the close of the spring semester at Northwestern State College.

Of the total 273 candidates, 19 are seeking the graduate degree. Successful candidates will be awarded degrees at the annual spring commencement exercises to be held in Fine Arts Auditorium May 29.

Bachelor of Arts, Robert L. Dow and Martha Clarene Prewitt, West Monroe; Bachelor of Science, Douglas Weldon Brewer, West Monroe; Bachelor of Science in Nursing, Mary H. Kilpatrick Freeman, West Monroe, and Elizabeth Bonner Kirkham, Monroe.

Negroes Booked For Battery

Two Negroes have been booked for aggravated battery by Monroe police after both were involved in separate cases.

They were identified as Albert C. Wright, 32 of 811 Layton Ave., and Richard Lee Harris, 22 of 1909 Grammont St., both of Monroe.

Wright was booked at 5 a.m. Saturday and allegedly cut Negro Willie Mae Higgins, of 1720 Short Wood St.

Harris was charged with aggravated battery on a Negro woman identified as Maxine Dunn of 1008 Rogers St. She suffered a cut under her eye, a laceration of the lip and was kicked in the side.

Probers Still Seeking Clues In Two Crashes

WASHINGTON (UPI) Investigators reported little progress Saturday toward the solution of two recent airliner crashes claiming 202 lives.

One was the mysterious dive of an American Airlines Boeing 707 into Jamaica Bay March 1 seconds after taking off from New York's Idlewild airport. All 95 aboard perished.

The other was the disappearance of a Flying Tiger constellation carrying 107 persons on a military charter flight over the Pacific March 15.

A Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) spokesman said experts are following several leads on the American crash but thus far had nothing definite to report. Some kind of control trouble is suspected.

The fate of the Flying Tiger plane may never be solved because to date not a single scrap of debris or wreckage has been found. The major clue involved a report from a Liberian tanker which saw a "huge light" flash in the sky at a location which would have been along the airliner's scheduled flight path.

That account bolstered widespread speculation that the plane, whose passengers included 93 U.S. Rangers en route to embattled South Viet Nam, was the victim of sabotage.

Two investigators from the CAB's Bureau of Safety have interviewed the tanker's crew and obtained fuller information on the location and circumstances of the apparent aerial mid - air explosion.

Tuesday Voting For Offices At Tech Scheduled

RUSTON (Special) — Louisiana Tech students will vote in a second election Tuesday to fill eight offices of the Student Senate.

Three posts were filled in an election this week. They are secretary, Carol Joyce Waller of Farmerville; senior man representative, Larry Beadles of Shreveport; and junior man representative, Buddy Barr of Vernon.

Offices to be determined in the runoff election Tuesday are:

Treasurer — Annette Maranto of Shreveport and Loret Ross of Shreveport.

ANGERS DIXIE SOLON

School Aid Step Called Blackmail

BILOXI, Miss. (AP)—Congressman William M. Colmer, D-Miss., said Saturday the announcement that the federal government will cut off aid to segregated schools in certain areas is "blackmail of the highest order."

Colmer, en route to Jackson for the dedication of a Veterans facility, said that while the ruling affects only children of base military personnel, it is just a question of time when they will extend the order to cover all students in all impacted area schools.

"This should leave no doubt in the minds of the people advocating general federal aid to education about their ability to receive federal funds without integration. It points out again the fact that federal control follows the federal dollar."

Colmer, in an interview with the Daily-Herald, Biloxi-Gulfport, said he is going to oppose the ruling.

"I will try and bar that kind of administrative dictum in the new impacted area bill that will be considered prior to the effective date," he said.

"This also points up further the determination of the administration to solidify the Negro block vote. It looks like there is no end to which they will not go to accomplish this."

In regard to reduction of federal funds for land purchases in Hancock County and at Cape Canaveral, Fla., the congressman said his off-hand reaction was that they (the space agency) can get along without as much land as they thought.

The House appropriations committe Friday knocked out a $65 million extra fund for the space agency to buy land at Cape Canaveral and in Mississippi.

In the end, however, they will get all the money they need as witnessed by the military bill in the House during the week which had only one vote against it.

On the Nova missile which has been proposed for the Michoud plant at New Orleans, he said this was not definite yet. Nova, the largest rocket planned by NASA, will be capable of sending more than 75 tons on the moon journey.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials told Colmer they were considering the feasibility of developng the missile as Michoud if facilities were adequate, he said. But they also were considering other sites.

"I have a commitment that if they do not settle on Michoud, that they will send a team and survey all available sites from Alabama to the Louisiana line," Cohen said.

"They have to have available water transportation to barge the missile to testing grounds in Hancock County. The government is under mandate to use federal lands and facilities if available and therefore Michoud is being considered."

NASA last year selected the huge inactive government-owned plant at New Orleans for one of its largest operations. It will house one of the biggest rocket vehicle assembly areas in the country.

Republicans Blast $7,600 Global Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — Around the world in 45 days went a trio of congressional staff aides.

A report on their global inspection tour, taken at a cost of $7,600, brought a blast from six Republican Congress members Saturday who said they were not notified of the trip in advance or invited to go along.

The three-man traveling team came back with a report covering four general areas: overseas armed forces radio and television stations, community relations abroad, troop indoctrination programs, and the newspaper Stars and Stripes.

The group, members of the staff of the Government operations subcommittee, made some general recommendations on tightening up coordination of these activities and avoiding duplication.

Their observations were issued Saturday as an official report of the House Government Operations Committee. The six Republican members made clear their displeasure in minority views issued simultaneously.

The Republicans said:

From a persual of the findings and recommendations consisting of four pages and the so-called staff study consisting of some 30 pages and some 100 pages of exhibits, it is difficult to detern whether or not the subject matter is of sufficient importance to justify publication as a House document."

The minority members said such staff work should be "subject to the control, supervision and guidance of the elected members of the committee. We believe there is a danger in independent staff operations and the lending of dignity to staff activities and views approaching that of a committee inquiry and report."

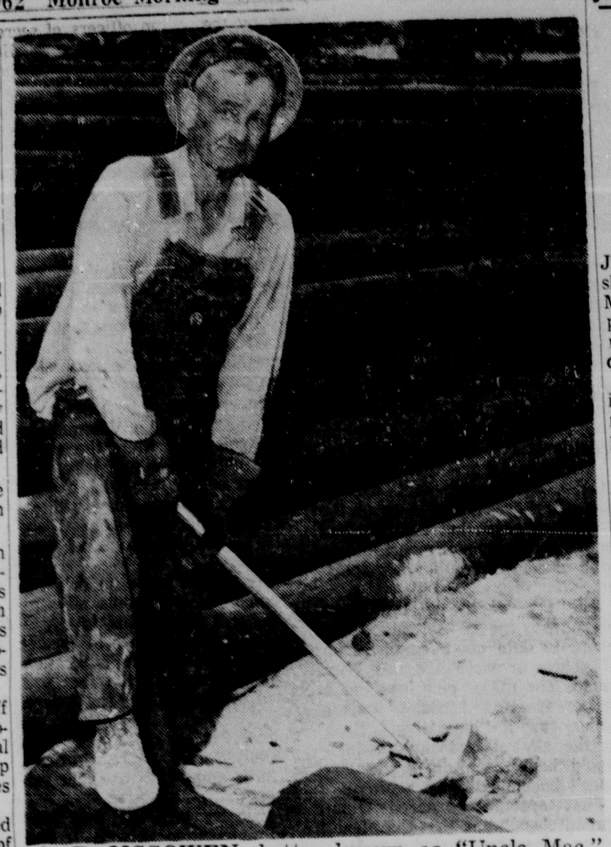

The three who made the inspection tour are Samuel J. Archibald, Phineas Indritz and Jack Howard. They are staff members of the subcommittee on Government Information, headed by Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., and were employed by the Democratic majority.

As required by House rules, their expenses on the 45-day trip were reported in the Congressional Record and totaled $7,600.

The staff report, adopted by the full committee, makes the point that armed forces radio and television stations overseas have enormous impact on foreign audiences, even though they are aimed at American soldiers.

The report said there are arguments on both sides of the problem of providing over-all guidance to overseas military radio and television stations.

It recommended that the Defense Department study the possibility of giving one agency sole responsibility for production of troop indoctrination materals.

A. B. MCGOWEN, better known as "Uncle Mac," is shown here at Northeast Louisiana State College wielding an axe 31 years after he drove the first piling in 1931 to start construction on Brown Hall, the first structure built at the college. He and a construction crew began driving pilings this week to begin construction on a new $800,000 library building. They will drive 780 pilings on the new building, but Uncle Mac doesn't remember how many he helped drive in 1931 at Northeast. He does remember that he made 30 cents an hour then and said that he now makes $3.60 per hour. After driving pilings on various projects from Arkansas to the Gulf of Mexico, Uncle Mac retired three years ago only to discover that he had to go back to work to satisfy his desire to enjoy life by working.

BEFORE MEN GO THERE

Surface Of Moon May Be Analyzed

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Half a century ago a British physicist discovered in the tiny hearts of atoms a principle which now makes it possible for space scientists to analyze the surface of the moon before men go there.

The same principle, operating in a rocket-borne device weighing less than five pounds, also could be used to study the chemistry of planetary surfaces.

The story is told in a University of Chicago report on "The Scientific Imagination At Work." The story traces the evolution "of an idea from an English laboratory 50 years ago to an application on the moon."

In 1911 the British physicist, Lord Rutherford, produced the first unassaible evidence that every atom, of whatever element, has a heart, or nucleus.

In the course of his experiments, Rutherford discovered that charged particles aimed as infinitesimal bullets at a sheet of metal foil occasionally bounced. Most of the particles went right on through the thin foil. But others hit something that made them carom. This "something" was the atom's dense and weighty nucleus.

It developed that each element in the roster of matter produced a characteristic pattern in the energy and intensity of particles rebounding away from it.

Thus the way a particle bounced showed whether its target was an oxygen nucleus, say, or the core of a silocon atom. This characteristic came to be known as "Rutherford Scattering" and it suggested a relatively simple way of identifying chemical elements.

Dr. Anthony Turkevich of the University of Chicago has proposed a device, based on Rutherford's discovery, for getting chemical information about the moon's surface material.

This information, the university said, will enable space scientists to determine whether human life can be supported on the moon by processing lunar material "to obtain the oxygen and other elements necessary for survival."

Turkevich's robot analyzer would weigh under five pounds and fit easily into a shoe box. It may be put to work in the space agency's survey program to land instruments gently on the moon in 1963-64.

It would contain no moving parts, no chemical reagents, no test tubes. A pencil-thin piece of radioactive material would fire a continuous stream of alpha particles — positively charged nuclei of helium atoms — at the moon dust or rock on which the device rested.

A detecting material would record the energy and intensity of the rebounding particles. Turkevich said this would show without fail the existence of such elements as carbon, oxygen, or silicon to a depth of a few millionths of an inch in the moon's surface.

JARRING DEFICIT LOOMS

State Budget Comittee Faces Tremendous Task

By JAMES MCLEAN

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Gov. Jimmie H. Davis' legislative shock troops open their attack Monday on state spending proposals for next fiscal year, which run $73 million more than current deficit operations.

Without a Tidelands settlement in sight, the task of the new 17-man budget committee handpicked by Davis is tremendous.

Never before has such a group started preparations for a legislature while mired deeply in a financial bog.

What these men decide—while working closely with Commissioner of Administration James S. Reily and Budget Officer Homer Russell could help the state squeeze by another year. Or their decisions might point to a harder tap on the taxpayers' pocketbooks.

Reily, the governor's fiscal adviser, has been an optimist in the midst of financial black clouds. Almost unnoticed, in his support, was a report for February showing Louisiana business activity has jumped 12.7 per cent compared with a year ago.

The budget committee actually will serve as shock troops, hoping to absorb most of the fiscal thunderbolts making many lawmakers nervous.

School boards by the score are borrowing money to get by until next year, more than ever before, because the state is falling behind in its payments. This means a jarring financial blow against revenues in the new fiscal year starting July 1.

What adds up to trouble, barring a miracle, is that State Treasurer A. P. Tugwell repeatedly has insisted he is considerably behind in paying bills. Tugwell has warned of a large deficit by the end of this fiscal year nest June 30.

In addition to the money for the mounting costs of state government next year, the Davis budget committee also will have to worry about paying off some of this year's bills from next year's revenues.

Sen. W. J. Cleveland, Crowley, budget committee chairman, said all meetings with department heads beginning Monday would be closed.

This is the way it was done when former Gov. Earl K. Long operated his budget committees. Fiscal officers figure they can get more free talk that way.

Finance officers report the new committee will key its operations to the April 11th oil lease sale, during which Louisiana holes to collect at least $20 million.

That lease sale might bring only $10 million—it might bring up to $60 million.

If the amount is small, then the budget committee will have an idea of how much slashing it will have to do for next year's operations.

If the lease sales are far better than expected, the optimism might gain a foothold. For the state could look forward to a better-than-expected income during the coming year.

For Gov. Davis, competence and hard work in his new budget committee is vital. Springing up like frightening dust devils on the road ahead are such explosive issues as money, more school segregation headache. Reapportionment may stir up a dust storm too.

Should the budget committee give Davis a ready-made answer for money problems, he can crack the tension quickly and ease the other sticky questions.

Davis inherited financial problems.

Former Gov. Robert Kennon, who had extra millions in oil revenues to play with, used some of the plentiful funds to lift the annual level of recurring expenses.

Long came along and pushed the higher level even higher by raising taxes and cleaning out all the millions in various state reserves—thus launching deficit operations.

The current administration, after one tax defeat, has been pinning its hopes on a tidelands settlement, so it can reach for ready dollars. More than $350 million is held in escrow from oil revenues in disputed offshore territory.

Davis and U.S. Sen. Russell Long are considered friendly these days.The senator is close to President Kennedy, who holds the key to the tidelands settlement.

It was not a surprise to see the familiar faces of many old Long lawmakers in the makeup of the new Davis budget committee.

Sen. Cleveland was a key Long man, and he's chairman. Another is former House Speaker Robert Angelle, dean of the House.

Rep. Angelle said many of the old Long legislators probably were selected by Davis "because of our experience in serving on previous budget committees.'

He denied there was any political strategy in Davis' selection of so many onetime Longs.

"I don't think Gov. Davis is looking for any political gains in his committee selections," Angelle said. "He is just trying to solve his financial problems, and I want to help my state."

Labor Council Convention To Begin Monday

BATON ROUGE (AP)—The four day annual convention of the Louisiana State Labor Council. AFL-CIO, usually a top political sounding aboard, begins Monday for about 650 delegates and guests here.

In advance of the big state-wide labor meeting, various trade organizations Saturday and Sunday held their own annual conventions and officer elections.

Most officer elections for such groups as the Barbers' State Council; the State Council of state, county and municipal employes.

There was no direct connection between the weekend meeting and the labor convention to be held Monday through Thursday, a spokesman for the AFL-CIO said, other than for convenience of delegates to both.

The customary executive board meeting of the Labor Council will be held Sunday afternoon, attended only by the 20 top officers of the AFL-CIO.

Speakers will include Ralph A. Dungan, special assistant to President John F. Kenedy; U. S. Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La.; U.S. Reps. Hale Boggs and James H. Morrison, both Louisiana Democrats; Gov. Jimmie H. Davis; and Ivan A. Nestigen, undersecretary of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Victor Bussie, president of the State AFL-CIO, will make his report Wednesday afternoon, and there will be a nomination of officers for the coming year.

ANNUAL VARIETY SHOW

'Redskins Parade' Set At Northeast

The 1962 edition of "Redskins on Parade," Northeast State's annual variety show, is slated Thursday and Friday, April 12-13, in Brown Auditorium on campus.

Sponsored annually by the Northeast Student Council, the talent display will feature a chorus line composed of 17 coeds.

Another highlight of the program will be the background music provided by the Northeast Jazz Ensemble, directed by Del Sawyer, assistant professor of music. Ray Carroll, senior music major, has written and arranged the numbers for the Jazz group.

Costumes for the chorus line were designed by Ann Ellen Harter and Richard Brooks, Northeast students. The home economics department is making the costumes.

Phi Mu Sorority is slated to be on the scene as "The Girls Who Didnt Make the First Line Chorus. Kappa Alpha Fraternity will present their version of "Officer Krumpky." The basketball team will reveal its talents in a special number directed by Dr. Ethel Trice, associate professor of health and physical education.

Delta Omicron and Phi Mu Alpha Symphonia wil unite their efforts in a series of songs from the South. The advanced modern dance class will present "Voodoo Rhapsody," and a scene from "The Music Man" is included, plus other acts.

C. G. Drennan's Father Dies; Services Held

Funeral services were held Saturday at Mendelhall, Miss., for Charles M. Drennan, 66, father of C. G. Drennan, president of the Ouachita Parish School Board and City councilman for Sterlington.

The elder Mr. Drennan, an employee of Standard Oil Company for 30 years, died at his home in Mendelhall Friday after an illness of four months.

Bob Kennedy Envoy Post Is Suggested

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., praised Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy Saturday night as a hard-hitting salesman of American ideals and urged he quit the Justice Department to become a full-time "roving ambassador."

Goldwater, not usually rated as a fan of the Kennedy family, described the President's younger brother as "quick under the hat." He said the attorney general had proved his ambassadorial talents in his recent frank-talking travels through Japan, Indonesia, Germany and other area , where he several times argued down hostile demonstrators.

"I would just as soon see Bobby quit the attorney general's office and continue to do this work, because I don't think you can argue that he didn't do the United States some good around the world," Goldwater said in a taped local television interview (WOR-TV).

The younger Kennedy made his goodwill trip around the world Feb. 1-28. It was described as "informal," but the tour gained significance because he was the President's brother and some of his visits were to key trouble spots such as Indonesia, where anti-U. S. demonstrations were in progress.

However, the Republican senator added he thought it was "a mistake to have the attorney general, no matter what his name is, travelling around the world... I think there's far too much work to be done at home in the attorney generals office to have this man acting in a dual role."

"And my suggestion would be," Goldwater said, "if he wants to continue this, have him resign his attorney generalship and assume the role of roving ambassador."

South Solons In Key Spot On Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The fate of President Kennedy's sweeping new plan to bring farm surpluses under control rested Saturday with about half a dozen southern Democrats.

Without the backing of these "swing" members of the closely-divided House and Senate Agriculture Committees, the key sections of the administration's bill may be scuttled next week in the committees.

Administration sources believe they will have the backing of enough of the Dixie legislators to win in both committees by narrow margins. At least one veteran said privately, however, that prospects for the feed grain production control plan, regarded as the heart of the bill, must be rated as poor.

The measure includes programs under which both feed grain and wheat growers would have to decide in referenda between strict acreage controls, with penalties for over-production, or elimination of government price supports. Other sections of the lengthy omnibus include a proposed long-range plan to shift 50 million acres of cropland into grass, trees, and recreation use.

Chairman Allen J. Ellender, D-La., has indicated his Senate Agriculture Committee will begin closed-door sessions to shape its version on Monday. Ellender said recently that his committee will rewrite many parts of the proposal, but he predicted the final product would be based on the theory that any farmer who wants government price supports must be willing to accept controls on surplus crops.

House Chairman Harold D. Cooley, D-N. C., also hopes to begin full committee closed sessions next week. Subcommittees have been hammering out preliminary agreements, and a dairy subcommittee is scheduled to meet Monday in the final stages of that procedure.

The importance of a relative handful of Southerners in both committees grows out of the fact that the administration apparently will get little or no Republican support.

The House committee has 21 Democratic members and 14 Republicans. With all 14 Republicans expected to vote against the administration's plan for mandatory fee grain acreage controls, the plan will be beaten 18-17 if four southern Democrats join the GOP members.

Greek Week Set At Northeast; Banquet On Tap

Dr. Joseph R. Brown, associate professor of history at Northeast Louisiana State College, will be guest speaker at the qnnual Greek Week banquet set for Monday at 7 p.m. at the Paragon Club.

The banquet opens a series of activities for social fraternities and sororities on campus. Events will close Friday with a song festival in which the five organizations at Northeast will compete for awards. The contest, starting at 8 p.m. is open to the public.

Judging will be done by Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Anspach and Frank Parker, all off - campus musicians who have served as judges for the past three years.

Dr. Brown's talk will emphasize "The Good Old Days." The speaker will compare the United States today with that of 50 years ago. Considering the question as to whether the "good old days" were really as fine as many persons are prone to believe Dr. Brown will stress the fact that conventionally the public often thinks of such a period when there were few big controversies, particularly of an international nature.

The speaker, who joined the Northeast faculty in 1953, received the doctorate at Louisiana State University and later did additional study at the National University of Mexico.

He completed requirements for the bachelor's degree at Texas Western College and the master's at the University of Chicago.

Dr. Brown is affiliated with the following organizations: Louisiana Historical Association, Southern Association, Hispanic American Historical Association, Phi Kappa Tau and Phi Alpha Theta fraternities.

Recess Taken In Cuba Trial Of Prisoners

HAVANA (UPI)—Morning newspapers reported Saturday the mass trial of war prisoners in Havana went into weekend adjournment after testimony implicating the United States in last April's invasion attempt. The trial will resume on Monday.

Press reports said that at the second session Friday the five-man military tribunal listened to the reading of a letter from Jose A. San Roman allegedly "confirming the direct participation of the U. S. State Department and Central Intelligence Agency in preparation and direction of the criminal attack on Playa Giron."

Western reporters have been barred from the mass trial, but reporters from Communist and "friendly" newspapers and news agencies are permitted to attend.

(In a broadcast heard in Miami Friday, a Havana radio program said the government had opened the trial of 1,179 persons. The broadcast seemed to indicate that three chaplains captured among the 1,182 prisoners taken at Pig's Bay have not been placed on trial by Premier Fidel Castro's government.

(Radio Havana said Saturday that prosecutor Santiago Cubas called on nine prisoners to testify at the second session and that all recognized the "legitimacy" of recordings from television broadcasts they made soon after the invasion failed. "Evidence was given of imperialist Yankee participation" in the landing, the radio said.

CHARGED WITH FRAUD

Texas Financier Remains In Jail

PECOS, Tex. (AP)—Financier Billie Sol Estes remained in jail Saturday as the last of the three men charged with him in the West Texas mortgage cases went free on bond.

The young, stocky financial wizard failed to produce the $500,000 bond federal authorities clamped on him Thursday.

The men are charged with conspiracy and transportation in interstate commerce of "falsely made, forged, altered and counterfeited securities."

The charge claims the mortgages were issued for tanks which never existed.

Harold E. Orr, 31, unshaven and outwardly calm, chewed on a cigar as he left.

The third man, Coleman D. McSpadden, 45, was released at Lubbock Friday night.

Each of the three made $25,000 bond, reduced from an original $250,000.

Estes business operations are estimated to be worth as much as $150 million. A court hearing is scheduled in El Paso Monday on his application for lower bail. A federal grand jury will meet there the same day and presumably will study charges against the four men.

Disciosure of Estes' arrest sent the stocks of some finance companies spinning Friday in Wall Street, but they later partly recovered.

The spectacular size of the mortgage business in anhydrous ammonia tanks was outlined by a spokesman for one of the lending companies when he said 12 firms have about $22 million tied up in West Texas mortgages listing tanks as security.

Some farmers signed mortgages for hundreds of tanks but never saw them. They signed leases which called for lease payments enabling them to make the mortgage payments.

All four men, the wives of Alexander, Orr and McSpadden, and 12 other persons also face a civil suit for $4,300,000 filed by Pacific Finance Co. of Los Angeles.

The civil suit claims damages because of mortgage dealings with the group.

The civil suit says that Estes, who leased many of the tanks, has informed Pacific Finance that he is unable to continue paying for the leases.

None of the four has made a detailed statement about the case.

Estes' vast grain storage operations also came under probe.

C. H. Moseley of the Dallas office of the Commodity Credit Corp. said 20 investigators are making measurements of the grain in Estes' storage warehouses. One agriculture official said a measurement was made about two months ago and the measurement found correct.

Moseley said his records show Estes should have on hand 32 million bushels of grain sorghum and 3 million bushels of wheat. Federal records show his storage capacity is 54 million bushels.

Estes came to Pecos in 1951 when he was 25. He claimed he made his first million before he reached 30. Estes now is 37, and lists more than 30 companies as his—or his in partnership.

Colmer To File For New Term

BILOXI, Miss. (AP)—Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., said Saturday he would file papers Monday as a candidate for re-election.

Colmer, of Pascagoula, said he felt, because of his seniority in Congress and as a ranking member of the House Rules Committee, he would be in a good position to serve his district, state and nation.

First elected to Congress in 1932, Colmer has served continuously since then.

DURING CIVIL WAR

Small Tennessee Chapel Scene Of Fierce Battle

EDITOR'S NOTE — A soldier wrote at the time that the Grant and Sherman of the war's end would have dismissed any one who fought as amateurishly as they did April 6, 1862. But those were days of national innocence, of hope for a brief bloodless war and when Shiloh was only the name of an obscure little church in the woods.

By TOM HENSHAW
Associated Press Writer

It was a small log Methodist meeting house, tucked away in the quiet backwoods of southwestern Tennessee. They called it Shiloh Chapel, after the Bible, "place of peace."

Yet on Saturday evening, April 5, 1862, it was a place of war, a forward command post of the powerful Union Army of the Tennessee, Maj. Gen. Ylysses S. Grant, commanding.

And on the following day, a Sunday, the peace was to be shattered by the bloodiest battle on the North American Continent, a struggle that drew it s name from the chapel: The Battle of Shiloh.

The Army of the Tennessee, 40,000 strong with a growing tradition of victory unique among Union forces, was an army in waiting.

In a few days, Maj. Gen. Don Carlos Buell and his 20,000-man Army of the Ohio would arrive and together they would assail the Confederates at the vital rail junction of Corinth, Miss., 20 miles south.

It was a relaxed army — and careless.

When Col. J. J. Appler of the 53rd Ohio, known as a nervous man, warned Maj. Gen. William T. Sherman that there seemed to be a large enemy force in front of his lines, Sherman glared at him.

"Take your damn regiment back to Ohio," he sneered. "There is no enemy nearer than Corinth."

Grant himself, recuperating from a painful ankle sprain suffered in a fall from his horse, wired his immediate superior, Maj. Gen. Henry W. Halleck, in St. Louis: "I have scarcely the faintest idea of an attack being made on us."

Charles Morton, then a private in the 25th Missouri, noted in his memoirs: "The Grant and Sherman of 1864 would have relieved for utter inefficiency any general who had shown no more skill than the same Grant and Sherman did at Shiloh."

Scarcely three miles away, unknown to the Union army, the entire Confederate Army of the Mississippi, 40,000 men, was drawn up in battle array.

At the very moment Sherman was chewing out Appler and Grant was reassuring Halleck, the Confederate commanders, Gens. Albert Sidney Johnston and Pierre G. T. Beauregard, were planning their strategy.

In the morning, they would strike hard at the Union left, anchored at Pittsburg landing on the Tennessee River, fold it back against a flooded stream called Owl Creek and capture the whole army.

As the meeting broke up, Beauregard, the hero of Sumter and Bull Run, resplendent in his flaming red zouave cap, struck the proper note of Southern confidence.

"Gentlemen," he said. "We sleep in the enemy's camp tomorrow night."

The attack opened at dawn. Incredibly, despite the crescendo of cannon and the rising crackle of rifle fire, few Union commanders seemed to take it seriously.

Men of the 61st Illinois had eaten a leisurely breakfast and were cleaning muskets and shining shoes for the routine 9 a.m. inspection when an excited officer burst into camp on a foaming horse.

"My God!" he cried in amazement. "This regiment is not in line yet! They have been fighting on the right for over an hour!"

The Southern left, under Maj. Gen. William J. Hardee and the Episcopal bishop turned general, Leonidas Polk, met uncalled for success against Sherman's green troops.

But on the right, the main Confederate attack stalled against one of the war's epic stands by Brig. Gen. Benjamin M. Prentiss and his motley collection of Midwestern brigades.

Johnston himself went to the right to ralls his forces. Waving a tin cup taken from a Yankee breakfast table, he led a successful charge through a peach orchard in full bloom.

He was shot in the leg and bled to death on the field.

Grant, hard-pressed, sent for his last reserves but Maj. Gen. Lew Wallace — who had not yet written his classic "Ben Hur"— and his 7,500 men took a wrong turn and missed the battlefield.

Buell and the Army of the Ohio were hurring to the field but most of them were still 20 miles away on the road from Nashville.

The Confederates aimed their heaviest blows at Prentiss, dug in on a sunken road in the midst of a veritable jungle. Twelve times they attacked; twelve times they were hurled back.

"It's a hornet's nest in there," wailed a Confederate soldier as the bullets buzzed angrily about him — and the little patch of ground has been called that ever since.

The Confederates trained 62 big guns on the hornet's nest and raked it with grape and canister. The air was filled with flying dirt, trees and metal. Still Prentiss held.

The sun hung low over the carnage when the Confederates finally flanked, then surrounded the hornet's nest. Prentiss, seeing further resistance useless, surrendered with 2,200 survivors.

He had lost roughly half his division — but he had saved the Army of the Tennessee.

The Confederates massed one final assault on the shaken Union army near Pittsburg Landing but it petered out in a flooded ravine in the face of heavy fire. Darkness ended the first day's fighting.

Beauregard, commanding in place of the slain Johnston, fulfilled his promise. He not only slept in the enemy's camp but in the very bed where Sherman had slept the night before.

But, even as the last firing died away, Leander Stillwell of the 61st Illinois heard martial music and looked up to see a body of troops marching down from the North.

"What regiment is this?" he asked.

It began to rain, a steady downpour punctuated by thunder and lightning, as Buell's fresh 20,000 moved into the lines. An embarrassed Lew Wallace arrived with 7,000 more.

Someone asked Grant if he was discouraged.

"Not at all," replied the imperturable general. "Tomorrow we shall attack them with fresh troops and drive them, of course."

With that, he wrapped himself in a poncho and went to sleep under an oak tree while the rain pattered through the leaves and his injured ankle throbbed with pain.

The Confederates spent a sleepless night.

Flushed with a triumph in their grasp, they couldn't resist looting the captured Union camps for scarce food, new clothing and souvenirs to send the folks back home.

Even if a Southern soldier wanted to sleep, there was the incessant rain and two federal gunboats, anchored at Pittsburgh Landing, lobbing shells into the Confederate lines all night, two every 15 minutes.

The restless cavalryman Bedford Forrest, who was to found the Ku Klux Klan after the war, prowled the front lines. He alone of the Confederate commanders noted Buell's arrival.

But his messengers of warning, urging a night attack or a quick withdrawal, couldn't find Beauregard and no one else wanted to take it upon himself to issue such weighty orders.

Grant attacked at daybreak. The Confederates, utterly exhausted and stunned by the unexpected vigor of the Yankee assault, gave ground rapidly.

By noon Buell had retaken the Hornet's Nest and the once-blooming, now desolate peach orchard. Grant, commanding the Union right, was fighting near Shiloh Chapel.

Defeat swept the sagging Confederate lines. Beauregard saw it in time to order a withdrawal before the embers of despair could be fanned into a rout.

Brig. Gen. John C. Breckinridge, a former vice president of the United States who had run for president against Lincoln in '60, covered the retreat, but the federals didn't feel up to pursuit.

By evening, the Union army was back in its original camps and the Confederates, hampered by muddy roads and the downpour that turned to hail and sleet, were wending their way back to Corinth.

Shiloh was a typical battle of the early Civil War.

It was a curious blend of heroism and cowardice, brilliant leadership and utter incompetence. It was a Northern victory but an inconclusive one.

The losses appalled the North. Grant's army suffered 10,944 casualties in killed, wounded, missing and captured; Buell 2,103. The Confederates lost 10,699, including Johnston, one of their ablest generals.

In all, Shiloh listed 23,746 casualties, nearly 25 per cent of those engaged and more than the total American losses in the Revolution, the War of 1812 and the Mexican War combined.

Three Envoys Resign Posts

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy accepted the resignations Saturday of three U.S. ambassadors now serving in Africa. Two of them are retiring and one resigning because of ill health.

Retiring after long careers in the foreign service are Andrew G. Lynch who was named ambassador to the Somali Republic in July 1960, and James S. Moose Jr., ambassador to the Sudan since March 1956.

Francis H. Russell, who was appointed ambassador to Ghana in November 1960 is resigning. In a letter to him, Kennedy expressed the hope he would have a speedy recovery and return to duty.

PEOPLE URGED TO READ

National Library Week Observance Slated Here

By MARY ANNE CORPIN
World Staff Writer

"Read and watch your world grow."

Ouachita's 100,000 residents join with millions across the nation next week in the fifth annual observance of National Library Week.

"A better - read, better informed America" is the keynote of the local program, NLW Chairman Ben F. Marshall said yesterday, in listing committee members for the special week, April 8-14.

Marshall, vice - president of the Ouachita National Bank, and Miss Frances Flanders, parish librarian and NLW vice - chairman, termed the observance "the springboard of a year - round program, designed to encourage lifetime reading habits and to create wider use and support of libraries of all kinds."

The 1962 event will stress the need for more school libraries and will alert young people to the wide range of career opportunities in the library profession.

"Whatever a persons age," said Marshall, "reading will provide a rich harvest of knowledge, new ideas and information. life are free . . . for example, a library card. For anyone who doesn't have one, all it takes are a few minutes. Visit the library nearest home: four are in Ouachita Parish, the main library on North 18th Street, the Anna Meyer branch on Jackson, the West Monroe library, and the Carver branch.

"Browse around, and sign up for your library card," Marshall urged. "It's a personal passport to a world of pleasure and knowledge."

Next week, Miss Flanders plans to release a list of the notable books of 1961, present special displays, host the African Violet Show, and reveal new services planned for the libraries.

SPECIAL EMPHASIS

Throughout the parish, libraries in schools, churches and at Northeast Louisiana State College will place special emphasis on the National Library Week theme.

Mrs. Jim Williams, chairman of Monroe exhibits during NLW, commented, "Books and reading are an important part of home life. Parents' reading habits set the example for the children.

"National Library Week is a good time to make reading a family affair. The parish librarians will welcome the chance to recommend some books the entire family can enjoy."

Assisting Mrs. Williams on the exhibits committee are Mrs. Bob Clay, Mrs. C. A. Petrus, Mrs. Jim Lokar, Mrs. Lon Heuer, Mrs. Amos Shelton and Mrs. Tommy Holmes.

Mrs. James Avant, assistant librarian for the Ouachita Parish Public Library, is taking an active part in working on the exhibits.

Other committee officials include:

West Monroe exhibits; Mrs. Henry D. Montgomery, chairman, and Mrs. D. C. Brothers, librarian for the parish's West Monroe library branch.

Church libraries: Mrs. Wesley Shafto, Monroe, chairman.

School libraries: Miss Marjorie Oliver, supervisor, Monroe City Schools; Miss Gertrude Gregory, supervisor, Ouachita Parish Schools; and Miss Margaret Whitman, president of Ouachita Parish School System librarians.

Speaker's Bureau: Diehlmann C. Bernhardt of the Bernhardt Building, chairman; Mrs. B. W Biedenharn, Chairman of the Board of Control of the parish public library; Miss Flanders and Mrs. Avant.

Publicity: Miss Frances Flanders, chairman; Jack Gates, News - Star — World Publishing Co.; Lee Hawkins, Ouachita Citizen; James Plaisance, K.M.L.B. radio; Dr. F. P. Cerniglia, KLIC radio; Ollie Bales, KUZN radio; Harry Arthur and Mack Ward of KNOE radio and TV; Miss Mary Anne Corpin, News-Star—World Publishing Co.

"Libraries, if used fully and supported properly," said Miss Flanders, "can make reading materials available to everyone.

"National Library Week is an established, continuing year-round program to help build a reading nation and to spur use and improvement of libraries of all kinds.

"Reading can help the individual to enlarge his world, to gain perspective, to realize his potential excellence, to enjoy his leisure and find new meaning in his work. Libraries are as important as the purposes they serve, since they make possible the achievement of both the individual's and society's social, educational, cultural and economic goals."

Kennedy Okays Legislation On Buying Bonds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders and the White House were reported Friday to have agreed on legislation to give President John F. Kennedy discretionary authority to lend up to $100 million to the United Nations.

The compromise is designed to resolve a dispute over Kennedy's request for U.S. purchase of $100 million in bonds to help finance U.N. operations in the Congo and the Middle East.

Public announcement of the agreement is being held up. But from a source in a position to know, who asked not to be identified, it was learned that the general outline of the compromise is this:

The President will be authorized to lend at least $25 million to the United Nations and up to $75 million additional to match either loans or bond purchases made by other member nations.

The terms of the loan, both with respect to interest rates and duration, will be left to the President's discretion. Presumably, he thus could make the loan on the same terms as the proposed bond issue — for 25 years at 2 per cent.

Some details reportedly remain to be ironed out, but this is expected to be done by Monday when the Senate is scheduled to take up the legislation.

BLOSSOM FESTIVAL

U.S. Capital Set For 6-Day Pageant

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's capital launches its biggest spring show this week. The Cherry Blossom Festival celebrates the 50th birthday of its famous Japanese cherry trees.

The six-day pageant, April 3-8, will feature television personalities, a colorful parade, concerts, and a coronation dance aboard the streamer Sea Belle.

It was 50 years ago that the first two cherry trees were planted by Mrs. William Howard Taft and the Japanese ambassador and his wife, Vicountess Chinda. The latter planted a second tree as a token of friendship between the Japanese and the American people.

The first festival celebrating the cherry trees was not begun until 1927 when school children staged a play re-enacting the first planting ceremony. This simple celebration was repeated annually until 1933.

In 1934 the government of the District of Columbia staged a three-day program at which Miss Eleanor Roosevelt, daughter of Henry L. Roosevelt, the assistant Navy Secretary, reigned as queen. A big parade along Pennsylvania Ave. ended with a gigantic fireworks display over the city. A parachutist jumped from an airplane and landed in the Tidal Basin to climax the show.

In the first post-war year for the festival, 1947, the crowds broke all previous attendance records as some 450,000 persons jammed the Tidal Basin to see the blossoms and take part in the celebration.

This year officials predict almost 2,000 trees will be in full bloom in the area around the Tidal Basin. At the cherry blossom ball an official of at least cabinet rank will help to select the festival queen from among 50 state and two territorial princesses.

The queen will lead a traditional parade of princesses down Constitution Ave. the next morning, April 7. Miss America will narrate the televised two-hour parade

Mrs. John F. Kennedy is honorary chairman of another of the events, a luncheon fashion show to be staged at the Sheraton Park Hotel, April 4. A coronation dance will also be held aboard the glass enclosed steamer, Sea Belle, during a cruise down the Potomac River. The ship will accommodate 1,200 guests for the event April 7.

The festival will feature a musical, "The Boy Friend," as its annual theatrical entertainment. Washington's Harmony House Players will present the show at the Roosevelt Auditorium April 6-7.

The Cherry Blossom Festival pageant will climax the six-day celebration when the queen will be crowned with a $100,000 coronet of pearls and gold. The crown, to be presented at an outdoor theater on the Washington Monument grounds, is the gift of a noted cultured pearl firm in Japan.

FLYING FARMER FORECAST —Ceilings over the area will be 3000 to 4000 feet broken in the morning. Temperatures will be cold in the early morning with lows in the mid 30s rising to near 50 by noon. Surface winds will be northwesterly 10-15 MPH.

GULF COAST — Port Arthur, Tex., to Pensacola, Fla.; northerly winds 17-28 miles per hour and partly cloudy weather today.

MID-SOUTH AGRICULTURAL WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR APRIL

April showers will total 4 to 6 inches in the mid South, about normal for this time of year. Rain will fall on each town or farm on 8 to 10 days during April. The general rain periods that were characteristic of the past 4 months are disappearing and rainfall will occur mainly as showers during April.

Temperatures will be a little below normal in the Missouri Bootheel, North Arkansas and West Tennessee but will average near normal in the rest of Arkansas, North Mississippi and Louisiana delta. Afternoon readings will rise from an average in the high 60s in early April to the high 70s in late April in the northern sections and from the low 70s to the low 80s in the southern sections. Nighttime low readings during April will rise from the high 40s to the high 50s in the north and from the mid 40s to the low 60s in the south sections.

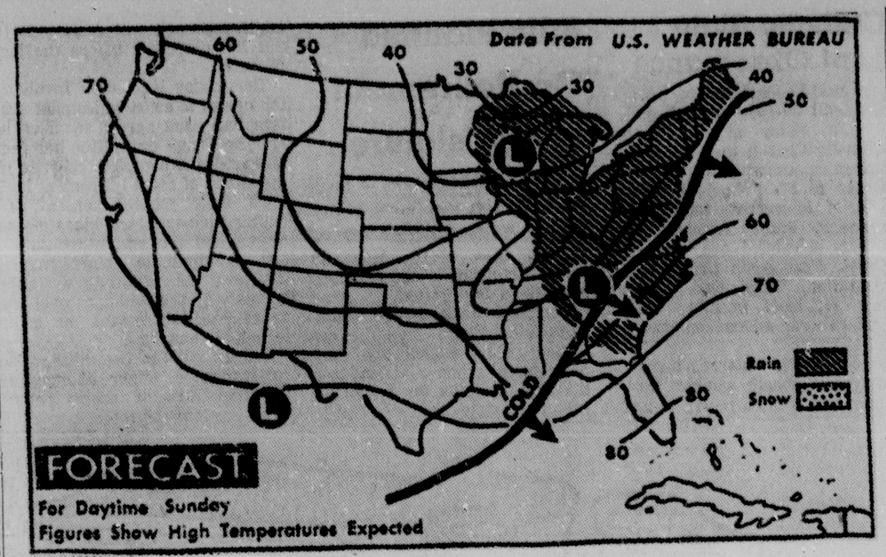

Soil temperatures at the 2-inch depth have been averaging in the high 50s and will rise into the mid 60s by mid April. Indications call for a cool spell late in April but soil temperatures will be up in the high 60s or low 70s by the last of the month.

Sunshine will prevail about two thirds of the daylight hours and with the increase in solar radiation during the month evaporation will come closer to equalling total rainfall than it has during the past 5 months. Thus, fields will be open about two thirds of the time in April. Sandy soils, of course, will dry sooner than heavy clay soils. The prevailing track of low pressure disturbances is shifting a little farther north and is forecast to extend from north Texas thru northwest Arkansas and southeast Missouri into New England. This will give the heaviest rains to areas north of the mid south. The high pressure track is expected to extend from Montana thru west Tennessee to the east coast. This will bring only occasional and very brief cool spells to the mid south.

March rainfall over the mid south was variable, but as forecast on March 15th, lightest rains were generally in the western party of the area.

Negro's Foot Amputed As Hit By Train

Forty-three-year-old Negro Leonard Shaw of 810 Layton St., was reported in fair condition at the hospital last night after being hit by a train and losing a foot.

Monroe police investigating the incident said it took place near the South 26th Street Missouri Pacific railroad crossing around 8 p.m.

Engineer of the freight train, G. W. Allison and fireman W. D. Moses aboard the train alerted police of the accident after they hit the Negro.

They stated to police that Shaw was sitting on the south rail of the track, facing toward the in side when they struck him. The engineer, along with another witness, D. R. Willoughby, said that when they first saw him, they started slowing the train in an attempt to stop.

He was rushed to the St. Francis hospital, suffering from shock, loss of blood, a severly bruised and lacerated left arm and from the loss of his left foot.

Police instituted a search for the foot which was found near the South 26th Street Crossing where his body had been picked up. His hat was found 505 feet up the track from where his body lay, but it was not known last night whether that was the point at which the train struck him.

Negro Charged On Four Counts

Negro John Hawkins, 46, of 3908 Barlow St., was booked by Monroe police on four counts Saturday night that ranged from resisting arrest to peeping tom.

Hawkins was taken into custody at Sixth and Adams Street after a chase and booked for peeping tom, indecent exposure, resisting arrest and vagrancy. Bond on him was set at $750. He was apprehended at 9 p.m.

Police received a call at 8:45 p.m. from the vicinity of 710 Washington St., that a Negro man had been caught peeping in a window. A white man was attempting to hold the Negro until police arrived, but the two got into a scuffle, and the Negro escaped.

He was apprehended shortly afterwards, and witnesses identified Hawkins as the Negro who had been caught.

West Monroyan Booked For DWI

James C. Steele Jr., 52 of 201 Arlington Place, West Monroe, was taken into custody at the intersection of North Fourth Street and Louisville Avenue at 10:40 p.m. Steele was booked for DWI and reckless driving and released under a $435 bond.

Main Issues On Disarming Still Ahead

GENEVA (AP) — Diplomatic sources said Saturday the 17-nation disarmament conference has gotten off to the fastest start of any international negotiation of this type since World War II.

Language used by the delegates has been proper—even courtly. During the first three weeks of the talks the delegates have expressed differing views, but for the most part have avoided bitter arguments of the cold war.

Yet many Westerners expect the storm will break soon. The basic procedural problems remain to be worked out. Beyond these lie the peaks of the real issues.

Preliminary skirmishing on procedure has revealed outlines of the old U.S. - Soviet disagreement on the key problem of international inspection and verification.

The Western powers suspect that the sweeping Soviet proposal for complete disarmament in four years cloaks stubborn Kremlin resistance to any international policing arrangements to guarantee that a treaty is enforced.

In the related field of suspension of nuclear weapons tests, this same Soviet attitude on controls has blocked the conclusion of a treaty despite negotiations extending back 3½ years.

Western diplomats said they found it particularly discouraging that the disarmament conference has made no dent yet on the nuclear test ban problem.

The U.S.-British-Soviet subcommittee discussing this issue remains deadlocked over Soviet insistence that a test ban treaty must be supervised only by existing national means of identifying suspicious disturbances. In other words, the United States would use its own instruments to detect Russian blasts and vice versa.

Soviet Ambassador Semyon K. Tsarapkin is unwilling to accept the American-British demand for international controls.

Time is a pressing factor on this issue. President Kennedy insists that Western security requires the United States to get off a series of atmospheric tests in late April unless the Russians have agreed to an adequately policed test ban treaty by that time. The Russians say they will undertake a new test series of their own if he American explosions take place.

Conference delegates from the smaller countries have urged the two nuclear giants to avoid starting up a nuclear testing race.

Despite the existing disappointments and the major problems looming ahead, diplomats said the present disarmament talks have gotten off to as favorable a start as could have been expected.

The disarmament delegates are now geting down to detailed work, whereas the 1960 disarmament conference argued for weeks over the meaning of words and never did settle procedural problems.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean has checked a move by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin to have the Soviet draft disarmament treaty taken up at once article by article. Dean maintained there first must be agreement on international enforcement before the treaty writing work can begin.

The two men, co-chairmen of the conference, are meeting over the weekend to seek an agreemen on a work program.

Former Mule Capital Losing Last Of Barns

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — A parking lot for tractors soon will replace the last of the oldtime mule barns that once made Memphis the "mule capital of the world."

In those colorful years when the mule was king, Memphis boasted of 22 mule barns and corrals holding as many as 12,000 mules at a time. Mule auctions would start on Monday morning and sometimes continue into the next day.

Then came farm mechanization and modern truck tractors, killing off the once flourishing business.

The final blow came Saturday when Gordons Transports Inc., disclosed it had purchased the last of the old barns, founded nearly a half century ago.

A spokesman said the building would be torn down to make way for a parking area for tractors.

Man Is Booked On 3 Driving Counts Saturday

A 30-year-old Monroe man was booked on three counts Saturday morning that include hit - and-run driving and driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages.

Monroe police identified him as C. R. Stokes, 30 of No. 33 Glen Dale Dr. He was placed under a $500 bond for DWI, reckless driving and hit-and-run driving.

Stokes allegedly was involved in a two - car collision on North Second Street Friday night. A vehicle driven by Miss Lajuana Mathieu, 19, of 709 Hinke Dr., was struck on the left side as it was traveling north in the 400 block of North Second Street.

The car that struck her auto left the scene of the accident and did not stop to administer aid. Police found the vehicle that struck her car several blocks on down the street.

Stokes was contacted at his home, and police arrested him at 1 :15 p.m. Friday on the charges.

A Negro, Lawrence E. Crayton, 34, of 3315 Pearl St., was also booked for DWI and reckless driving. Crayton was booked at 2:55 a.m. Saturday after being apprehended at Pearl and Lidell Streets. His bond was set at $435.

SENATORS DIVIDED

Tax Revision Bill Changes Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—The key business-modernizing provision of President Kennedy's tax revision bill appeared Saturday to be in trouble from two sides in the Senate Finance Committee.

Republicans said they consider the tax credit plan ineffective and unduly complicated. They pledged to try to find a substitute more to the liking of business.

Committee Democrats who normally support the President let it be known they look on the provision as unduly generous to business. They plan to try to knock it out or at least scale down the benefits.

The provision offers businesses a $1.2-billion annual tax cut as an incentive to buy new machinery or equipment and thus improve productivity. Up to 7 per cent of the amount of such investment could be deducted directly from the tax bill.

Many of the more than 200 witnesses who have asked to be heard at Finance Committee hearings on the bill want to testify on this feature. The hearings begin Monday.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., senior Republican on the group, told a reporter the tax credit plan is so complicateed the average businessman who cannot afford a tax attorney can never understand it.

Sen. Frank Carlson, R-Kan., said in a separate interview that "I do not think this provision will do the job of increasing the gross national product, (GNP) that it is expected to do."

Both GOP senators said they would prefer to see more liberal depreciation allowances on new equipment. House Republicans failed in an effort to substitute such a provision in the bill.

Democrats were less outspoken on the incentive plan since it has strong backing from the Kennedy administration. This may temper their opposition.

But it is understood Sens. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., and Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., among others would like to see the provision cut back sharply if not dropped.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told a reporter he is hopeful the Senate will approve the bill in about the same form it passed the House.

Carolson said he also expects to oppose a second major provision which would set up an income tax withholding system on interest and dividends.

The Kansan, as a member of the House Ways and Means Committee in World War II, helped to put through withholding for wage and salary income.

"But withholding on dividends and especially interest raises many problems that were not present on salaries," he said. "It is hard to administer and will work a hardship on many people."

Nevertheless, Carlson — noting the big Senate Democratic majority — said that "if the administration really puts on the pressure for this, it probably can keep it in."

YOUNG STARGAZERS

Theory Is Offered On Space Puzzle

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Two young stargazers have come up with a new theory about those puzzling bursts of radio signals from a fixed point on the cloud-covered planet of Jupiter.

It is based on a discovery the researchers made while studying Jupiter with two dish-shaped telescopes that see radio waves the way humans see light.

Jupiter has a radiation belt like earth's, and the young astronomers found out that Jupiter's wobbles.

This led them to speculate that the wobbling brings the radiation belt down into Jupiter's atmosphere from time to time, causing sparks something like the aurora in the earth's polar regions.

The point where this happens, they say, may be the point of origin of the radio bursts that have puzzled scientists for 10 years.

The California Institute of Technology issued a report Saturday on the work done so far by Dr. David Morris, 27, research fellow, and G. L. Berge, 23, graduate student, at the institute's radio observatory in Owens Valley, Calif.

Jupiter's radiation belt, like the belt which earth satellites discovered, apparently is composed of solar radiation trapped in the planet's magnetic field.

On Jupiter, the magnetic poles —the axis around which the doughnut shaped radiation belt spins—are 7,000 miles from the geographic poles, which form the axis around which the planet itself spins.

This means, according to the theory, that every time the 85,000-mile-diameter planet turns its magnetic sheath wobbles up and down like a tilted merry-go-round.

Catholic Slate Lent Observance

A mid-Lenten Day of Recollection will be held from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. today at St. Paschal's Catholic Church in West Monroe, under sponsorship of the Third Order of St. Francis Fraternity.

Brief instructive talks will be made by Father Lambert. Other events scheduled are Way of the Cross, Franciscan Crown Rosary recitation, Third Order opening prayers, brief business meeting and general announcements.

Bills Planned On Retirement In Legislature

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Louisiana's interim legislative committee on retirement systems sent its proposals for the May legislature Saturday to the legislative council to be drafted.

Chairman Jack Fruge, senator from Ville Platte, said the committee recommended one major and several minor revisions in retirement systems for various groups of state workers. The legislative council will draft bills to put the proposals before the legislature.

The major legislation involving the clerks of court retirement system had been agreed upon earlier. The Fruge committee has recommended a complete re-write of the clerks of court retirement law.

On their mutual consent, an actuary incorporated ideas of the clerks and the committee in effort to eliminate confusion and imprpove the retirement system's legislative base. Changes over the years had left in the air some technical questions.

Fruge said the committee also recommended minor changes in the registrars of voters retirement system and the parochial and municipal employes retirement system.

DIVING IN a front roll over four fellow students at Kiroli School is Downey Barker. Girl in the foreground is Betty Sue White. Behind her is Rene Lolly. The other two were not identified.

Kiroli School Promotes

Physical Fitness Plan

When weather and ground moisture conditions permit, the 500 students, from the first through the sixth grades, file out onto the drill field daily for 20 minutes of calisthenics under the direction of Principal Howard Barker, and student leaders.

The daily routine is not stymied, however, during inclement weather. Students are taken in small groups to facilities at the end of the cafetorium where there are tumbling mats and a trampoline.

EXPERIENCE

Barker, who was a physical training director at various Air Force bases during World War Two, held several coaching posts before coming to Kiroli School as principal when it was opened in 1957.

He was head football coach and athletic director at Ponchatoula High School in 1941, prior to his military service. After the war he spent two years as football coach at Slidell High, and in 1948 returned to Ponchatoula High. He was assigned as football coach at West Monroe High School in 1953, a post he held for about four years.

Prior to his present assignment he was coordinator at the Cerebral Palsy School at Selman Field. He holds a BA degree from Louisiana Tech and MS degree from Arkansas University.

CONCERNED

"I was concerned about physical fitness programs for students before President Kennedy brought up his recommendations for giving more attention to physical fitness," said Barker.

When the program was organized plans were explained to teachers, and student leaders were selected and trained from the ranks of the sixth grade.

"They were briefed in minute detail," he continued. "Everything is standardized procedure like it was in the Air Force. The student leaders help out with all classes from the first grade up. The usual practice on the drill field is to let student leaders take charge of various class groups."

POINTERS

Periodically, Barker leads the entire student group while the student leaders observe to gain new pointers on how to handle the chores.

When weather conditions prevent use of the drill field, the teachers are instructed to take the students to the indoor area for exercise when it appears that their "level of attention is dropping."

After the workout, he said, they are relaxed and more attentive.

TRAMPOLINES

There are three trampolines on outside play areas. One is for first and second grade students, another for third and fourth graders, and one for fifth and sixth grade students.

Students from Kiroli have staged trampoline demonstrations at several schools and on television, demonstrating how the physical fitness program is carried out.

Last year, the school held its first annual field day, with all of the students taking part in one or more events. The second annual field day will be held May 1.

Barker said that it will get under way with all of the students taking calisthenics. Then there will be a maypole ceremony, followed by competition in various events by students within their own grade groups.

First graders will compete with first graders, and so on. Girls will compete with girls, and boys with boys in the events. The top ones in various sections of a grade group will then be matched against one another.

Field events will include races, cane or broom stick throw, baseball throw, high jump and broad jump.

One of the liveliest routines in the physical fitness program is in working out on the trampolines. The youngsters turn flips and bound high into the air. Barker said that youngsters who workout on the trampolines learn better how to fall without being injured.

Laughter Enters

Lawmakers Lapse

EDITOR'S NOTE — Freedom of speech and action are cornerstones of American legislatures but sometimes their lapses bring down the house. Here's a collection of some choice examples of our state lawmakers at work.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I don't make jokes," Will Rogers said. "I just watch the government and report the facts."

Will would have had a ball this year, or any year with our state legislatures. There is no humor better than galloping oratory that over leaps itself and becomes impaled on a tortured metaphor or a muddy malapropism or a ringing contradiction.

Thus a few weeks ago a member of the Massachusetts House rose with the fire of Daniel Webster and trumpeted: "Now is the time for us to show leadership, to take a definite stand—and put this question on the ballot for the people to decide."

PUZZLE

The New York State Assembly was debating a bill when one assemblyman asked another who would perform what services under the bill. This self-choking knot quickly ensued:

"Who do you mean by who?"

"What do you mean, who do I mean by who?"

"The who you just referred to."

"Who do you mean . . .?"

"I am talking about the statement you just made 60 seconds ago."

"What was the statement I made?"

"I don't know."

"Neither do I."

(Laughter)

Every year produces great slips of the tongue in state capitols but New Jersey this year produced one that would have filled a dozen of Freud's notebooks. It was at the inauguration of Gov. Richard J. Hughes, who had won a close election.

SLIP OF TONGUE

With 5,000 watching, outgoing Secretary of State Edward J. Patten handed Hughes his certificate of election, explaining that it had been verified by "the great steal (seal) of the state of New Jersey."

Over the years, Massachusetts has produced bumper crops that would make Sam Goldwyn envious. In fact, one state senator borrowed directly from Goldwyn and added his own little canape by intoning: "If our foundling fathers were alive today, they'd turn in their graves at what we're doing here."

Another Massachusetts senator, gathering heat during debate, shot this block-buster: "When my committee conducted a hearing on this bill, the commissioner of education came to it and he was unanimously in favor."

Then there is the inadvertent physical humor produced by our state lawmakers. Again Massachusetts can claim a blue-ribbon for the senator who was invited to preside during the final few minutes of a Senate session because some of his constituents were visiting in the gallery. The senator was completely dignified until——

SPLASH

"The Senate is adjourned," he said, forthrightly bringing down his gavel, which hit the edge of a full inkwell, which spun into the air raining India ink all over the rostrum, himself, the clerk, the president and three page boys.

In the last session of the South Dakota Legislature, someone just managed to catch a typographical error in a bill that would have repealed the entire 1960 supplement to the state code and, in one stroke, would have nullified 22 years of legislative work.

During the last session of the Maryland Legislature, a senator complained about the great number of expectant mothers on the welfare rolls. A welfare department man rose to explain but his full comment was lost in a roar of laughter. He got only as far as saying, "We're trying to get these women back into the labor market."

In Delaware, someone drank the distilled water used in the duplicating machine one afternoon and the whole legislature bogged down because no bills could be prepared.

On another afternoon, Senate Majority Leader Curtis W. Steen socked a constituent in the nose in the capitol for assailing his integrity. The constituent asked, in vain, for repeal of the state's antidueling laws so he could challenge Steen to a joust with 45-automatics at 30 paces.

On another occasion, according to the Wilmington News-Journal, the House leadership launched a plot to keep one member from changing his vote on a gas tax increase.

Accordingly, the House recessed. The target of the conspiracy was drinking in a nearby bar with many new friends who were only too glad to buy. At 1 a.m., when the intended victim was beginning to doze, the House was immediately called back into session without the customary bell ringing.

But just as the vote on the gas tax was reaching a critical point, in walked the drinking member. Suspecting a plot, he had been feigning sleep. His appearance stalled the vote for one more day but then the bill finally was passed at the next sitting when he was absent.

The intentional humor of state legislators never quite matches the unintentonal. Still the boys give it a good try.

In Kansas this year, Senator August W. Lauterbach introduced a bill to build a dam in his county.

"We haven't got any running streams in my county but it would make a good tourist attraction—a dam without any water," he said.

A fellow senator suggested the project be named "Lauterbach dam" and then added it might even be better to reverse the words. Having had his fun, Lauterbach yelled the loudest in the voice vote to kill the bill.

ONE OF THE student leaders from the sixth grade at Kiroli, Chris May, leads a fourth grade class in calisthenics on the drill field. All procedures are standardized.

Mansions For All

Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller, New York state's champion left-winger has come up with an idea that might put all the old-time slogan-hunters to shame. He wants to put low-income people into fine homes they can't afford and not make them pay any more than they pay for present low-income housing.

Louisiana's late Governor and Senator Huey P. Long was a pretty good slogan-maker but he never exactly talked about putting low-income people on easy street with no additional effort on their part. Huey coined the expression "Every man a king." It sounded good and didn't mean much either, financially at least, since a man might be a "king," in his own home with the doors shut, even if it was little and he didn't have anything. Then there were others who talked about "a chicken in every pot" and "two cars in every garage." Of course the chickens and the cars have pretty well come true but the people paid for them without any special help from the slogan-makers.

Now Rockefeller says he feels that some low-income people living in public housing would like to live in apartments which only middle-income people inhabit now. If they don't realize this desire, he thinks they'll get inferiority complexes and that will be terrible.

Right now we can think of at least one man who has quite an inferiority complex because he would like to have a million dollars and has never been able to get anyone to give it to him.

Rocky proposes that 20 per cent of the middle-income apartment space be opened to those tragic souls who want to live that much higher up the ladder than they can afford. He'd let them have these middle-income apartments for what they've been paying for the low income apartments, or for about one-third or one-fourth what the apartments now bring, since the low-income apartments are government - sponsored projects, with low rentals.

Fortunately for those outside New York, Rockefeller is proposing this as a state project. The difference between what the low-income people would pay for the apartments and what they should pay would come in the form of a state subsidy which the taxpayers would pay.

Concerning Rockefeller's socialistic dream, the New York Daily News adds these thoughts:

"As for middle-incomers whose hearts burn to live in Rockefeller or Vanderbilt-style apartments, their turn no doubt will come later, as Rocky happily plans to make New York state a paradise.

"We're only thankful that this Santa Claus notion must get voter approval next November 6 if it is to take effect. If the voters don't give it the grand boot, they're dumber than we ever thought they were."

As a matter of fact, the Rock has got it all wrong. He ought to fix it so the lowest would be the highest and the highest the lowest. That could be done by letting the low-income people move into the big mansions and the Rockefeller-Vanderbilt ilk into the public housing projects. This wouldn't disturb the middle-income people, as it would leave them where they are. Of course, they haven't got everything they want but then they wouldn't know who to feel inferior to—the low-income people in the big mansions or the millionaires in the public housing projects.

No Knuckle-Rapping

When a five - officer military court at Fort Polk, La., sentenced Pfc. Bernis Owen of Seadrift, Tex., to six months at hard labor and loss of $50 in pay each month for six months it rightfully administered more than a knuckle-rapping. It showed a firm determination to uphold military discipline.

The conviction and sentence is subject to review by the army judge advocate general's office and can be appealed to a military court of appeals but the court at Fort Polk returned the judgement as it saw it. The decision required a two-thirds majority of the court, which apparently meant that at least four of the five members voted for the conviction and sentence.

Evidence showed that the reserve army private first class had disregarded warnings that his "we -want-out" campaign was disrupting army morale and discipline and that he would be punished if he did not end his public attacks on officers.

Members of the military reserves subject themselves to that discipline when they join. Without discipline, an army would not be an army. It does not behoove the reservists to question a call-up.

There are some who believe that President Kennedy's call-up of the reserves was a political, rather than a military, maneuver and they agree with Owen that the reserves should be released. This, however, is a question that is hard to determine. At the time the call-up was issued Russia was putting the pressure on this country in several ways, including its menacing attitude toward Berlin. Clearly, the tension seems to have lessened somewhat since the call-up, although it might have done that anyhow, in as much as Nikita Khrushchev believes in alternately applying and easing the pressure.

While the verdict against Owen may seem hard, it serves to underline the seriousness of the world situation and the necessity for strict obedience by those who wear the uniform of the American military man. If every private were allowed to vent his spleen against the officers and against the service we soon would have no discipline and no army.

Gompers No Socialist

The late Samuel Gompers. pioneer, American labor leader and regarded by many as the real father of labor unionism in the United States, was an outspoken foe of socialism.

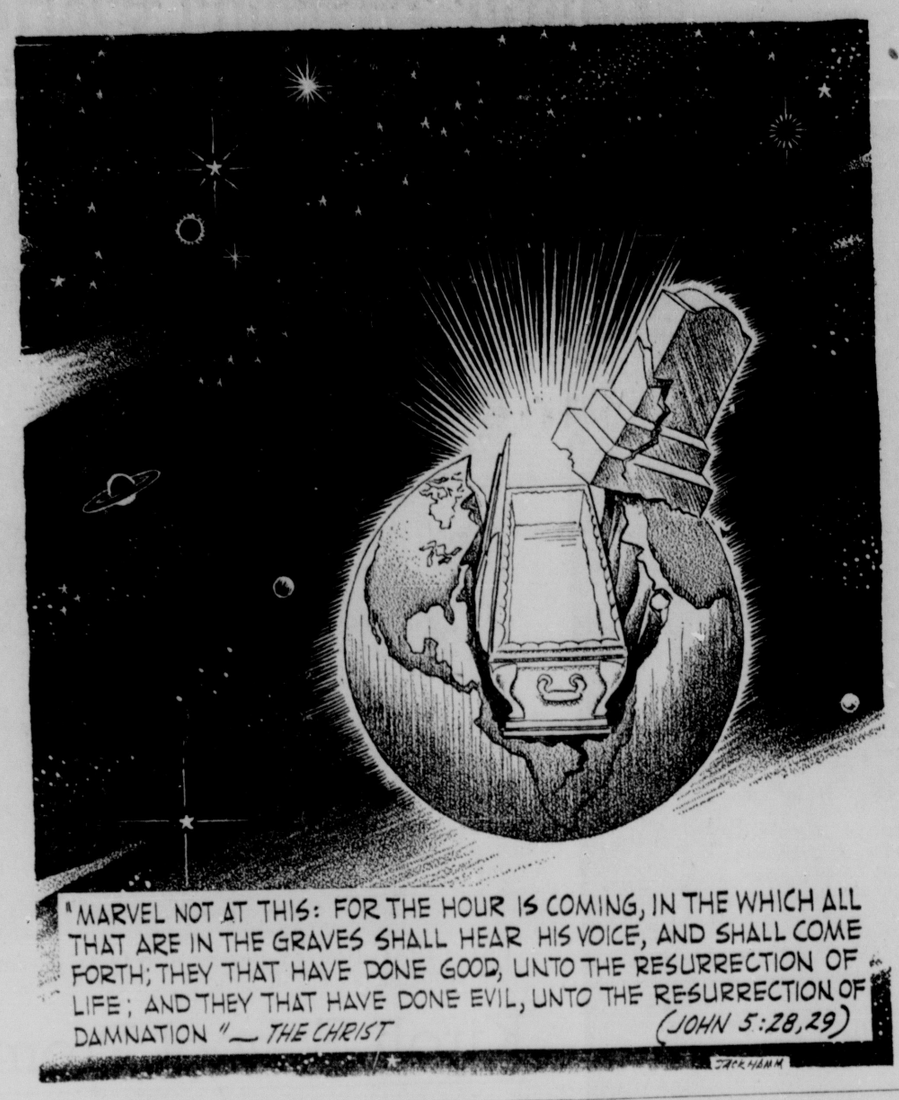

Gompers said:

"Doing for people what they can and ought to do for themselves is a dangerous experiment. In the last analysis, the welfare of workers depends on their own initiative. Whatever is done under the guise of philanthrophy for social morality which in any way lessens initiative is the greatest crime that can be committed against the toilers. Let social busybodies and professional 'public morals experts' in their fads reflect upon the perils they rashly invite under the pretense of social welfare."

John L. Lewis, old-time labor leader, organizer and former president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations and head of the United Mine Workers for many decades, opposed the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt when Roosevelt ran for president for the third time in 1940. Lewis had no stomach for the brand of socialism Roosevelt was promulgating.

If present-day labor leaders had the wisdom and foresight of some of the older-timers they would know that when socialism takes over labor's cause is lost.

Struggle For Mind

Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

We are presently engaged in a struggle the scope of which is almost beyond comprehension. This struggle has been going on for many years and the enemy is gaining ground (contrary to the statements of Kennedy and Stevenson). This struggle is not one that the average American can easily discern. The shooting phases can be recognized Korea, Laos, Vietnam, Cuba, etc). However, there is a struggle for the control of the human mind which must not be overlooked. From the minds of men come ideas, and ideas control the world.

"Democracy is on the way out. Socialism is inevitable. The Constitution was not meant for our present day situation. There are no set values or morals. Everything is relative. Christ was nothing but a wandering prophet." These statements are actual ideas expressed by actual students. These ideas are dangerous because they reflect the kind of thinking that will put us in grave peril.

Through the various means of communication we are constantly being exposed to bits of socialism. Many of the youth of today are receiving carefully-worded, skillfully - manipulated, doses of this poison. At first they may shrug it off, but after a few years of repetition, some of the ideas are accepted. Eventually the young person's mind has been captured. He can now be counted on to further the cause of socialism. There is at least one antidote for this kind of poison. It consists of more parents assuming their responsibilities, taking an interest in their children's physical, mental, and spiritual development, and demanding that they receive training in keeping with the highest qualities of Americanism.

It is not the purpose of this article to expose anyone or to ridicule our educational system. It is the purpose of this article to point out that these conditions can and do exist. If it results in one person doing some thinking, then it will not have been in vain.

In closing I wish to congratulate Mr. Pierron and Mr. Martin for their stands in last week's column. It is good to see that some people take enough interest in our cause to challenge socialistic ideas. If more people on the "right" would contribute their thoughts, then we might discourage some of the defenders of the "left." My thanks goes also to the Monroe and Shreveport papers for their stands against socialism.

Sees 'Super-Socialists

To the Editor:

New Orleans, La.

If President Kennedy and other leaders of the Liberal Democrat party have the effrontery to call Conservatives "the extreme right" or "super patriots," then perhaps we who believe in the Constitution, we who call ourselves Conservatives would term members of the Liberal left "super Socialists."

How Do You Stand, Sir?

By BARRY GOLDWATER

U. S. Senator From Arizona

We must offer the rest of the world a chance to really understand the American character, it seems to me, if we are to thoughtfully examine our position in the world vis-a-vis the Communists.

It is true that we are still richer and stronger than the Soviets—though their standard of living has increased somewhat and their military power has increased greatly. But suppose, 10 years from now, that the Communists achieve a standard of living higher than ours and an army, air force and navy better than ours. (I do not expect them to do this, but let's suppose they might for the sake of argument.)

Should we, in such circumstances, admit their superiority and yield to them? If prosperity and material power are the prime summits of human striving, it follows that we might just as well throw in our lot with the Communists. In fact, there are so-called "liberals" in America today who have come to this conclusion. They say they would rather be Red than dead.

But I cannot agree that material prosperity and armed might are the indices of personal and national greatness.

I do not believe that any mere "standard of living," in iteslf, is worth dying for. I deny that goodness and truth are determied by the magnitude and number of hydrogen bombs. I suggest that we American, and our Christian and western civilization, stand for truths nobler and more enduring than these material satisfactions.

I suggest that if you must choose, it is better to be poor and free than to be snug and a slave.

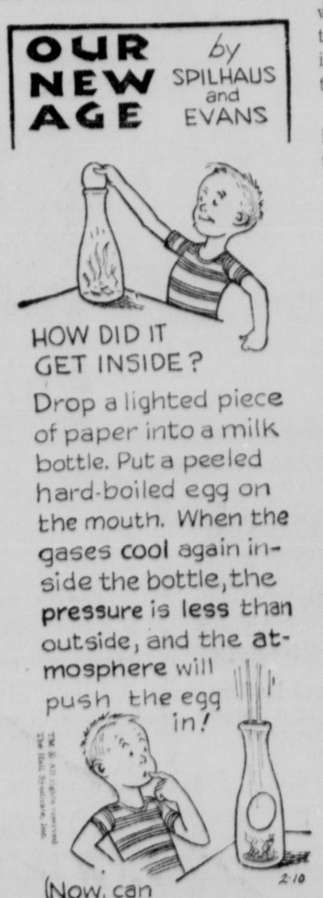

I suggest that if you must choose, it is better to live in peril, but with justice, than to live unjustly on a summit of material power.

I suggest that if you must choose, it is better to stand up as a suffering man than to lie down as a satisfied animal.

Now, to compete in bragging with the Communists is lost endeavor; at that game, the most practiced liar always wins. And to adopt Communist standards for such a bragging match is folly. To cite tables of figures about our low prices and our high wages converts no Communists, impresses few neutrals and does not convince even ourselves. Indeed, this may rouse envy throughout the world without creating friendship. To demonstrate that our Globemasters can fly in enough Gurkhas and guns to discourage the Katanga gendarmes and smash the Katanga hospitals is not proof, either to Africans or ourselves, that we have any cause worth fighting for.

I believe it is time for us to tell our allies, and our adversaries — and ourselves — just what Americans really are ready to sacrifice for — and, if need be, to die for.

How do you stand, sir?

Reds Lose Grain

Huge Shipment To Communist China And North Korea Stopped

The vigorous opposition of two influential members of Congress played a major role in stopping the sale of $400 million worth of grain to Communist China and North Korea.

The huge grain shipment was barred by President Kennedy after he learned that Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass., and Representative A. Paul Kitchin, D-N. C., chairman of a special House investigating subcommittee were opposed to the sale and were ready to light a congressional bonfire if it was approved.

Word of this explosive legislative opposition was given the President by Commerce Secretary Luther Hodges during a White House meeting called to determine whether a private export license for shipment of the grain should be granted.

International Trade Corporation, a Seattle, Wash., firm, had applied for the license to ship six million tons of wheat and barley to Red China and 4.5 million tons to North Korea over a three-year period.

The refusal of the license was announced by the Commerce Department in a two - sentence statment issued last Friday. It made no mention of the following dramatic White House meeting during which the legislators' intervention tipped the scales against the sale.

Undersecretary of State George Ball and Dr. Walt Rostow, chairman of the State Department's Planning Commission, had just finished a vigorous argument supporting the grain sale when the President, turning to Secretary Hodges, asked for his views, stating:

"Luther, since it is your responsibility to grant or deny this license, let's hear from you."

"Before giving you my own position," Hodges replied, "I would like to present the views of Speaker McCormack and Representative Kitchin who is chairman of a House subcommittee investigating the sale of strategic materials to the Communist bloc."

TAKING A STAND — "Have they expressed themselves?" inquired the President.

"Quite vigorously," said Secretary Hodges. "They called me personally and expressed very strong objections to the sale. They requested that I make their views known to you."

"On what grounds are they opposed?" asked the President.

"Speaker McCormack took the position that the sales would serve to bolster a sinking Communist government at a time when we should be taking steps to hasten its downfall," reported Hodges. "He warned that approval of the shipment of grain to Peiping would touch off a major foreign policy debate in Congress that could easily endanger passage of your trade program."

"What did Representative Kitchin say?" questioned the President.

"Kitchin was very blunt," replied Hodges. "He threatened a full - scale investigation."

"What is your recommendation?" the President asked.

"As you know," said Hodges, "I have been opposed to granting the license from the outset unless you should rule it in the national interest to permit such sales. This legislative opposition reinforces my position."

"There are good arguments on both sides," said the President in summing up. "However, my decision is that we do nothing to jeopardize the trade bill. We can't afford to have that important legislation mixed up in a China policy debate."

Later, the President called Hodges and directed him to reject the license and issue a terse statement, reading:

"There was no evidence that the order held by I. T. C. was based upon a request from the government concered. It is rejected."

This statement was drafted by Secretary Ball and Dr. Rostow. They prepared it to keep the door open for future sales to Communist China. Their argument is that surplus grain can be used to temper the Chinese Communist hostilities toward the U. S.

CHINA POLICY REVIEW — The U. S. does not recognize either Communist China or North Korea, and has a tight embargo against trade with both countries.

At the President's request, Dr. Walt Rostow has begun an overall review of our policy toward Communist China. This review is based on a State Department policy paper stating that Sino-Soviet relations are deteriorating so fast that the U. S. should adopt a flexible China policy to take advantage of the alleged split.

This view of a Russia - China split is challenged by the Joint Chiefs of Staff and Central Intelligence Director John McCone. They hold that the rift is not nearly as deep as claimed in the official State Department paper.

ON THE INSIDE — President Kennedy personally interceded with congressional leaders to win their approval for Brazil's President Goulart to address a joint session of Congress next week. An earlier request from the State Department was rejected by House Speaker McCormack and Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., on the ground that too many foreign dignitaries have been addressing Congress. Actually, the leaders are opposed to giving Goulart a congressional sounding board because of his soft stand on Castro at the Punta Del Este conference, and his government's failure to support the U.S. at the Geneva disarmament talks . . . America's First Lady returned from India with a load of gifts, including an ivory lamp from President Rajendra Prasad, a Tanjore plate and a photograph from Vice President Radakhrishna, and a carpet and paintings, and a set of books on Indian cultural subjects from Prime Minister Nehru. Her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill, received an ivory powder box from the President and two paintings from Nehru. Mrs. Kennedy gave Nehru a silver-framed autographed photograph of the President and herself, and a Berneil box with an engraved greeting and the Presidential Seal. Mrs. Kennedy was also showered with fifty gifts for Caroline and John Jr.

SOCIAL WHIRL — Pakistan Ambassador and Begum Aziz Almed drew a record crowd of over 600 at a lavish party to celebrate the 20th anniversary of the founding of their country as a free state at the same time Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy was attracting vast throngs during her visit in Pakistan. Apparently the First Lady's trip had much to do with bringing diplomats and other VIPs to the Pakistan embassy. But they had no reason to regret it because the buffets were elaborate and the drinks plentiful—of a non - alcoholic variety. Feature of the buffets — on long tables on the first and second floors of the embassy to accommodate the horde of free - loaders — was an exotic mouth - watering curried chicken. Not a speck of it was left when the huge party finally ended . . . President Kennedy is really serious about his drink - more - milk campaign. Milk is now regularly listed on the daily White House menu.

Cameroon President Ahmadou Khidjo was frankly entranced by the gilded decorations of the fashionable hotel ballroom in which a reception was held in his honor by his embassy. Attired in a blue, toga - like robe embroidered in jonquil yellow thread, the Moslem leader, who speaks French and English fluently, looked frequently up and admired the gilt ornamentation. When a foreign ambassador asked him about this interest, Ahidjo said smilingly, "All that bright gold. It's very handsome and I like it very much." . . . Only about one-fifth of the foreign diplomatic corps attended the cabinet concert of noted singer Marian Anderson. Among the many absentee diplomats were representatives of countries that frequently criticize the U. S. for race discrimination.

Mrs. John Tower, chic wife of Texas' Republican Senator, declined to give a formal talk at a reception in her honor by the Republican Capital Hill Club, but she made a big hit by relating some amusing incidents of her husband's spectacular election campaign. The story that brought down the house was as follows: During Towers' barnstorming through the Panhandle, a "regular - sized Texan" (6' 4") shook hands with the 5'4" candidate and then remarked, "Son, you are the shortest candidate I have ever encountered. I sure wish there was a way to get you elected without anyone seeing you." . . . A beautiful engraved Steuben glass bowl was presented to Mrs. Lyndon Johnson at a luncheon for her by the 86th Congress Club. The Vice President's wife told her hostesses, "It's so much fun to be among old friends from Congress; to rewalk old paths and to renew old friendships." Menu consisted of "L. B. J. fruit cup, tenderloin (Texas, that is) tips, chuckwagon salad, Lone Star parfait, and Lady Bird mints." . . . Representaive Marguerite Stitt Church, R-Ill., who is quitting Congress after 12 years' service, told a party of this decision "before Washington became a way of life and while there is still time to enjoy other things." Mrs. Church says she has made no plans as yet for her "retirement," but is confident she will find plenty to keep her busy. Among the guests were Mrs. James Hamilton Lewis, widow of an Illinois Senator, former Italian Ambassador and Signora Augusto Rosso, Jacob Beam, former U. S. Ambassador to Poland reported slated to be the next Ambassador to Moscow, and Madame Sze, widow of a Chinese Ambassador.

THE ALMANAC

By United Press International

Today is Sunday, April 1, the 91st day of the year with 274 to follow in 1962. This is April Fools' Day.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The evening star is Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1853, Cincinnati, Ohio, set a precedent when the municipal government decided its fire department personnel would be paid a regular salary.

In 1918, the Royal Air Force was founded in Great Britain.

In 1939, Generalissimo Francisco Franco, rebel commander-in-chief, announced that the Spanish Civil War had ended. The United States extended recognition to the Franco regime.

In 1945, American armed forces began the invasion of Okinawa.

A thought for the day: Prince Otto Von Bismarck said: "Not by speechifying and counting majorities are the great questions of the time to be solved . . . but by iron and blood."

Report From Washington

A trip to Washington with a chance to talk with and to hear from some of the top officials in government is most interesting, to say the least, but it is also frightening in many respects.

One thing is certain, however, after a trip like this; you hear so many sides of various questions that you come away just as confused as you were before.

The purpose of the trip was to attend a Foreign Policy briefing by the Department of State. While these are of extreme value, you also have to be careful in attempting to separate the facts from the propaganda because in many cases the administration is trying to put over its idea about a certain policy matter or bill pending in Congress.

Then, too, through the kindness of Congressman Otto E. Passman we were able to reach and talk to other ranking officials in government. Many of these, in off-record conversations, threw a lot of light on many of the hidden problems and plans.

Two aspects stand out in review — the fantastic weapons now being developed or visualized which might make the nuclear destructive forces look like a Sunday School picnic by comparison, and the danger of certain type of men who have wide authority in our government.

New Weapons Of War

One of the new weapons which has been developed and about which there isn't too much secrecy is the so-called nerve gas. The Army reports "considerable progress" in this field. This gas, it is said, could rob the inhabitants of a large city or area of any defense effectiveness for several hours. Presumably this could apply on the battlefield with soldiers.

It was suggested that the Russians are also stockpiling an appreciable amount of similar gas and would use it to incapacitate the people in an attempt to gain control of Western Europe's industrial complex without destroying it.

One of the most terrible and fantastic weapons discussed by various sources is the so-called "death rays" — light which is shot through guns. If this is correct, this could change the entire complexion of war in the future and could bring on a real war in space at some future date.

It's reported that our scientists are astonished at what can be done by taking ordinary light, intensifying it through various devices and using it as ammunition. Reports are that already scientists have fired light rays brighter than the center of the sun and extremely short bursts of light have sheared holes through tempered steel. And there's talk of light rays powerful enough to kill at long range.

It is said that the defense department is giving serious consideration to this new and fantastic concept of weapons, and it is presumed again that the Russians are also working on this theory. Some of the weapons being talked about are:

Mostly now, the military, it is said, is interesting in the ray idea from a defensive standpoint, although only time will tell what other ideas might be developed from this new field.

As best that can be learned this new idea is already out of the realm of theory and the race is now how to put them to work.

Such new weapons coupled with ones already in existence could be so awesome as to give us all heart attacks. However, it is good to know that our scientists and military men aren't sleeping and are going all out in research in an effort to keep the United States ahead. This is encouraging, although the very thoughts of such weapons are more than most of us can comprehend.

Double A Warheads

Another authoritative source says the United States plans to double the number of nuclear warheads in its stockpile by the end of 1964. Already, we reportedly have enough on hand to blow Russia off the face of the map.

Administration strategy, it is reported, for nuclear war envisions three broad uses of American nuclear strength. This strategy includes a massive second strike against an attacking nation, a selective second strike at attacking military bases, or a threat while seeking to terminate a war, using remaining nuclear forces as a bargaining weapon.

The primary American requirement is a second - strike capability large enough to absorb the enemy's opening blow and strike back with devastating power. The second strike strategy sets the maximum limit for American nuclear forces.

It was also pointed out that in the event of a surprise attack by the Soviet Union against us, we could strike back with sufficient enough force to wipe that nation out. In other words, they could not come close to destroying our nuclear power.

We Might Hit First

It has always been the idea that this nation would not use its nuclear power first, that it would wait for an enemy to hit first.

However, President Kennedy is pictured as saying that there would be certain situations in which we might use nuclear warfare first.

He said one of the situations would be to prevent the overrunning of Western Europe through a massive conventional attack by the Communists. If such an attack was succeeding, it was said, the United States would have to use all available means and this would mean our nuclear capability, regardless of the consequences.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger says this has been U. S. policy since the late 1940s, and actually represents no change. However, this seems to be the first time that it has been spelled out in those terms.

Impressive Secretary

The man who impressed us most in the executive branch of government — in fact the only one to do so — was Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

In various situations and talks, he gave the impression that he knew how he wanted the defense department operated, where he was going and how long he expected it to require him to reach his goal.

No one who heard him could doubt his sincerity, his love for America, his belief this nation is as strong if not stronger than the Communist and that it will take a lot of money and sacrifices to keep it that way.

He definitely is not a politician and doesn't look at our military posture from a politician's viewpoint. He obviously doesn't believe in keeping military installations that are not needed.

His aim — and a laudable one — is to keep the U. S. ahead of the world as a military power without waste and excessive spending. And the odds are this can be done with a lot less money than has been spent in the past.

He obviously doesn't believe that the B-70 bomber or the RS-70 as it is now called is necessary to this nation's military might. In fact, he's pictured as believing right now that it could be a waste of money to develop the project. Total cost for 80 of the planes would be around $10-billion.

There are three or four things used in the argument against development of the RS-70. One is the fact that it couldn't live over the target area. This means that the personnel who operate the speedy plane would be sitting ducks over the target and would have little chance of getting out alive. Another is the fact that no way has been found to attach missiles to it and allow it to fire those missiles several hundred miles from a target as do the B-32s and B-58s.

Another reason advanced against the bomber is the fact that a new system of radar would have to be developed for it and so far no such system has been devised.

A dispute apparently had developed between McNamara and Rep. Carl Vinson of Georgia, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee over the project. The House had authorized $491 million for the 2,000-mile-per- hour plane. This was the sum wanted by the Air Force and opposed by McNamara who thought $171 million enough for the year starting July 1.

In the much - publicized "compromise" between the two, Vinson received letters from McNamara and President Kennedy promising new studies of the plane and additional spending if warranted.

In return, Vinson dropped from the bill a phrase which would have "directed" the administration to spend the total amount.

McNamara is said to have strongly opposed spending of that amount of money. He has now assured Congress there will be an extensive new study of the RS70 in connection with the building of three experimental models of the plane.

However, those close to McNamara picture him as believing emphatically that to develop the plane would be a waste and that the money could be used for experiments and missiles more effectively.

He has said that the B-52s and B-58s are all the bombers we require in view of our ever growing missile strength. The B-52s soon will be armed with the new Skybolt missile which can be fired at a target while the bomber is 950 miles away. Bombers will remain as part of our strike force through the 1960s at least, but it's indicated that by then our nuclear forces will generally be missiles. The major reason for this: Missile sites are placed underground and consequently would be safe even in a surprise attack and would remain intact to destroy the enemy, while planes would have to be in the air or on the ground and could be destroyed, leaving us without means to strike back.

At any rate it is a good feeling to know that someone like McNamara is heading up the defense department and it is to be hoped he doesn't become discouraged and resign.

This Book Story Of A Mad Actor

CRANE EDEN. By Earl Conrad, Bernard Geis. $4.95.

And Crane Eden is a show-off to end show-offs. He not only drinks enough alcohol to float an aircraft carrier; he also goes for narcotics. He has a teen - age tramp for a mistress. He risks his photogenic neck in idiotic stunts. He is a middle - aged glamor boy. He throws money around like greenish confetti, when he doesn't know where he can get the next alimony installment.

The story's setting is in a sun - washed island of the southern waters, where a company of actors is supposed to be making a pilot film for a television series. Crane needs to have this project materialize, to retain his faltering glamor - pull with the mass audience he is trying to hold. But of course he ruins everything with a small boy fight with the project's financial backer.

The upshot of the tale is that Eden slides down into a vague sort of death, leaving the reader a little unsure whether he brought it on himself or is just paying an involuntary tribute to the facts of physiology.

Conrad has a good bang-bang style and makes the story go with a fast pace. But somehow the vulgar four-letter shock words seem a little overdone and Eden gets lost somewhere between caricature and foolishness.

More About Death Rays

While conferences and talks did not reveal the full extent of the development of Light Ray Weapons, a national publication (U. S. World News and Report), has come out with a survey on them. As follows the uses were listed as:

1. Antimissile — Light rays, vast in power and range, and aimed like searchlights, would be swept across the heavens at almost the speed of light. Enemy warheads would be knocked off course or, ideally, destroyed in flight. Says one authority — "With light rays, you can hit anything you can point your finger at."

2. Antisatellite weapons — A beam concentrated on a satellite would exert enough power to send it flying off its course. Its electronic gear could be heated beyond critical limits, or the orbit of an enemy satellite might be controlled by gentle pulse, nudging it first one way and then another, taking control from the enemy.

3. Antiaircraft guns — Big enemy planes, struck by light rays, could be slowed down and thrown off course and their fuel tanks could be set ablaze.

4. Space spotlight — Spy satellites equipped with light guns could illuminate target areas on earth and take extremely detailed photos, even at night.

5. Orbiting death rays — Some experts say that if harmful rays were substituted for visible light and shined on earth from a satellite, whole areas could be terrorized.

At any rate, it should be an interesting future for those fortunate enough to live to see it. In fact, some of these, it is said, could be operational before or by 1970.

Russian Type Wars

What type of wars do you believe the Russians want and will stage in the days to come?

Ranking military officials do not believe the Soviets will resort to nuclear war if it can be avoided and as long as the U. S. is even with them or ahead.

Most likely the fighting will evolve around what the Communists call "Wars of Liberation" and this type, it is reported, will be used by the Reds as long as capitalism exists. These types of wars are like the ones going on in South Viet nam and other areas of the world today. What this means is this — the Reds will try to move into weak nations and take over by small - scale fighting, using communist natives of those countries as soldiers, through terror and economic instability. Because of this theory, the U. S. is, in addition to building up its nuclear strength, is increasing its conventional equipment and methods. It is reported that we are reaching a high - level of preparedness in this area. The results are showing in our success so far in South Viet Nam.

Defense Secretary McNamara is pictured as being "very pleased" with our accomplishments in that nation so far, while pointing out that the next three months would be the critical period.

While our personnel in South Viet Nam are not actually committed to combat, many of them are in the fighting area and have been ordered to fight back if attacked. We have had some casualties in that area.

One gets the impression, however, that we would commit our troops to positive action if the situation warrants it. In other words, we will fight to keep South Viet Nam.

Overall, it is good to know that while we consider the requirement for an effective military posture as nuclear superiority, we are preparing to fight "brush wars' if the need arises.

Tariffs And The U.N.

Editors attending the Foreign Policy Briefing in Washington the past week were treated to a tremendous propaganda job on the proposed U. N. bond issue and President Kennedy's request for a trade expansion plan.

Several speakers emphasized how important and beneficial both were and why they were so necessary. But the truth of the matter — both are dangerous, extremely so.

Some top experts say that if Kennedy gets the power to regulate tariffs that 800 United States firms may be injured by import competition over the next five years, with 90,000 displaced American workers requiring job retraining. Undersecretary of Commerce Edward Guderman told the House Ways and Means Committee that the adjustment assistance costs under a new relief plan of the trade program might average $37 million a year. Of this, $24 million would go to injured business firms in the form of loans from a $100 million revolving fund.

On the U. N. bond issue, Undersecretary of State Ball spent almost an hour telling editors what a wonderful job Adlai Stevenson was doing as U. S. representative at the U. N. Then he said it wasn't true that Stevenson had the same status as secretary of state as had been charged in some quarters.

In effect, he said, the U. N. had kept the great powers apart, meaning kept them from a war.

Ironically, later on another speaker said the thing that had kept the great powers apart — that is Russia from attacking us —was our nuclear power.

It is to be hoped that Congress defeats both of these proposals.

In columns during the next few weeks we will discuss various other aspects such as crime in Washington, impressions of House Speaker John McCormick and Congressman Otto Passman's stand on various bills now pending in Congress.

ON U.N. BONDS

22 Nations Have Signed Up To Buy

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The Soviet Union and its Communist allies find themselves beaten on the question of U.N. bonds even if the United Nations fails to sell the whole issue of $200 million.

More than a score of countries have agreed to put their money on the line in opposition to the Soviet stand.

The Russians are going through much the same experience they had a year ago when they sought to oust the late Dag Hammarskjold as secretary-general. Only Cuba, Guinea and Malai joined the Soviet bloc in boycotting Hammarskjold.

Cuba, Belgium and France voted with the Soviet bloc against the bond project. The vote in the General Assembly was 58-13, with 33 countries abstaining or absent.

Two months ago U Thant, the acting secretary-general, sent out his first bond-selling letters. Twenty-two countries have since stated their intentions of buying more than $150 million in bonds, in some cases subject to legislative approval. President Kennedy has pledged $100 million. Three have already bought $5,780,000 worth—Denmark, Finland and Norway.

The intended buyers include the United States, Britain and West Germany. They also include Asian neutrals—Burma, Ceylon and India—African neutrals — Ethiopia and Sudan — and European neutrals—Austria and Sweden.

Among other announced purchasers are Liberia, Nigeria, Malaya, Pakistan, Australia, Israel, Canada, Iceland and Ireland.

Every few days, some delegate tells Thant his country aims to buy bonds. Thant thanks the delegate for "this gesture of support for, and confidence in, the United Nations."

He might add, "and confidence in me, too," since he suggested the bond issue.

His term runs out April 10, 1963. Next fall, he will be up for election as secretary-general. The more backing he has, the more likely the Russians are to withhold their veto and let him start a full five-year term. They may veto him if they really want a three-headed secretariat, as they say. But there is growing doubt they will.

Facing a deficit, Thant suggested the bond issue because less than a third of the members were paying assessments for the U.N. special forces in the Congo and the Middle East. Sixty-nine nations are in default for one or the other, or both. Among the biggest defaulters are the Soviet Union, France, Nationalist China, Belgium and Italy. Also in the no-pay group are many Communist, Latin-American, African and Asian countries.

The bond pledges of some countries may be signs of conversion to the paying group. Ethiopia and Sudan are both going to buy bonds though neither pays for either peace force. Austria is, too, though it does not pay for the Congo force.

The bond issue will bear 2 per cent interest a year, mature in 25 years and be repaid out of the regular U.N. budget, which all members support.

The Soviet Union threatens to hold back the part of its budget assessment that would go to pay off bonds. It argues that the scheme mortgages U.N. headquarters to the bondholders, that it goes against the U.N. Charter and that, anyhow, the General Assembly usurps Security Council powers when it sets aside money for peacekeeping operations. Just how far the Soviet Union will go on this line remains to be seen.

The bonds are a controversial issue in the United States.

President Kennedy has asked Congress to let him buy $100 million worth. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has recommended that the United States buy $25 million outright and then match other countries' purchases up to another $75 million. The President has accepted this.

Thant has until the end of this year to accept more pledges and all next year to take the money and hand over the bonds.

Prague Called 'The Paris Of Eastern Bloc'

By LOYAL GOULD

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) —Communists call Prague the Paris of the East bloc. There are night clubs, strip joints, jazz spots, swank restaurants—all the things the Communists usually condemn as evidence of capitalist decay.

You see people pretty well dressed. Stores seem well stocked. Restaurants serve international foods. Strip dancers peel to Cole Porter's "Love for Sale." You can order Scotch whisky, bubbling Crimean champagne and Hungarian wines.

It is a showcase for communism, not only for Westerners, but also for visitors from the rest of the Communist world—except Albania and Red China—and from the emerging African and Asian nations the Communists want to woo.

"This is a paradise compared to East Berlin," said a touring East German.

"It's all part of a grand plan," said a Western European businessman who visits often. "They want to remove from communism the symbol of a badly clothed, unshaved fellow poised with a bomb."

But communism under the regime of President Antonin Novotny exists behind the glitter of Prague. There are the secret police and many curbs on freedom of the individual.

They do their best to stop Czechs from making contact with foreigners, even with those from the rest of the Soviet bloc.

The night life seems gay to the visitor, but to the Czech it is nothing like the "golden Prague" of the past.

"Look carefully," said an elderly Czech who knows Western life, "and you'll see that nothing is done with the lightness and the ease you find in the West. It's too forced here. There's no freedom in it."

Though they are much better off than people in most Communist countries, Czechs complain. Their biggest complaint is lack of freedom.

"Hundreds of American tourists come here every year," said a Czech, "and all they can do is marvel that we are not as poor in material things as some people in the West believe. "So many of them can't seem to grasp that what we lack is the freedom to say and do what we want."

If the tourist could see the realities of Prague, he would not see non-Communists shot in their beds any more. He would see a more subtle side of Communist ways.

For example, a pensioned Czech suspected of "ideological deviations" is judged by a neighborhood committee that decides whether his pension should be reduced.

Children sent to church by their parents cannot receive a secondary education.

Monaco's Status As Never-Never Land In Danger

By HARVEY HUDSON

PARIS (AP) — Monaco's status as a never-never land is in danger.

The famed casino is still solid on its foundations and the roulette wheels run true. Prince Rainier and Princess Grace are cozily settled in the 120-room palace. The 65-man royal guard in chocolate soldier uniforms is ever loyal.

But the gloom among the palm trees can never be washed away by the blue Mediterranean or burned away by Monaco's brilliant sunshine.

The problem is simple—income taxes.

France has suggested that perhaps Monacans should pay income taxes.

But President Charles de Gaulle has never flinched at turning French wrath on the Soviet Union, the United States or England. He apparently has no qualms about stinging France's littlest neighbor either.

Solemn negotiations on the subject are in progress between France and Monaco. When the talks are over, Monacans are likely to learn more about taxes.

Monaco lives in a state of fictitious independence through French tolerance. Its 300 acres are surrounded by France and the sea. Its 21,000 residents—only about 2,500 of them Monacan citizens—could not live or die without France.

Visitors arrive on French trains by French highways, or land by plane at a French airport. Electricity and practically everything consumed in the principality come from or through France. Except for souvenir coins, all the money is French.

The treaty covering French-Monacan relations goes back to 1918. At that time, Monaco was a quiet, unambitious little playhouse where wealthy Englishmen and the aristocracy of Europe liked to go for a look at the winter sun and a fling at the casino. Monaco didn't really bother anyone, and France didn't bother it.

Income taxes began in France in 1917. Monaco kept its government going through revenue from the casino, sale of its brightly-colored postage stamps and a wide variety of indirect taxes.

With no army to support, no veterans' pensions to pay, no farm subsidies and no foreign aid contributions, Monaco can still get along the same way. Profits from the casino tumbled when France allowed French cities to set up their own gambling facilities, but this loss in revenue was made up from other sources.

Goulart Says He Not Communist

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) — He drives a small car along with the rest of the traffic whizzing down the new wide avenues of Brasilia. He doesn't look like a millionaire. In public, he doesn't act like one.

Joao (Jango) Goulart is not only a millionaire, but the president of the largest nation in Latin America. Today many Brazilians say he has begun to act like a president although military leaders last August did not want him in the job.

The men in command of the military then—they since have resigned—charged that Jango Goulart was too far left, tied too closely to Communists, to move into the presidential palace Janio Quadros left with his sudden resignation Aug. 25.

When Goulart goes to Washington Tuesday to visit President Kennedy, North Americans will not see much of the old Goulart left—the political heir of dictator Getulio Vargas, the ex-labor minister who was accused of working with Communists to strengthen his political hand, the ex vice president who charged foreign firms bled Brazil.

As president and leader of 70 million Brazilians, Joao (pronounced Jo-Own, almost rhyming with go-down) Goulart has moved into the center in the political spectrum. He is not and never was a Communist.

"In countries like Brazil," he says, "all reformist position is labeled as leftist by forces interested in maintaining the status quo. In countries like Brazil, the state necessarily has to exercise a role of leadership in a policy of development. Many times this is confused with socialism or even with communism."

As for his political ideology now, Goulart sums it up in what he calls two words:

"Development — to conquer backwardness.

"Freedom—so that the struggle against underdevelopment can be carried out within the principles of democracy."

Goulart's trip to Washington, New York, Chicago and the Strategic Air Command headquarters in Omaha is his first outside Brazil since he assumed the presidency last September with the nation on the verge of civil war because of a military roadblock against him.

Loneliness Amid The Busy Life

ELEVEN KINDS OF LONLINESS. By Richard Yates. Atlantic - Little, Brown. $4.50

The 11 short stories in this book are concerned with the theme of loneliness, but not in the usual sense of a person lost in a remote place.

The people in these stories are caught and whirled about in the circular eddies of a vigorous stream of life that moves all around them.

One is a small boy from the slums, whose foster parents have placed him in a suburban school, where he struggles to gain acceptance from the other children. A kindly school teacher tries her best to help him fit in, but unwittingly makes it all the harder for him to reach out to the others.

'Walk On The Wild Side' At Paramount

Laurence Harvey, Capucine, Jane Fonda, Anne Baxter, and Barbara Stanwyck as "Jo" are starred in Charles K. Feldman's "Walk on the Wild Side," which opens today at the Paramount Theatre

Reportedly as turbulent and as daring as the Nelson Algren best-selling novel on which it is based, Columbia Pictures' "Walk on the Wild Side" is a story of love and violence in New Orleans, in the depression-ridden '30s when rootless men and women shared, or fought to retain, their loneliness.

"Walk on the Wild Side," according to Hollywood, is a successor to the film made from an earlier Algren novel, "The Man With the Golden Arm," although it covers a different place and time; its characters are considerably less "sophisticated" and, therefore, more earthy.

Harvey appears in "Walk on the Wild Side" as a dispossessed Texan. With nowhere to go, he takes to the road seeking a lost love, Capucine, and he finds her in New Orleans' notorious Doll House Cafe. She is the most attractive of the place's various attractions and proprietor Barbara Stanwyck doesn't look too happily at Harvey's appearance on the scene.

Jane Fonda, a hoyendish young woman whom Harvey finds on the road and brings with him to New Orleans, is another of his feminine entanglements and so is Anne Baxter, playing a sultry widow who also develops a romantic interest in the wanderer.

A REAL, LIVE BOY is the wish of Geppetto, the kindly old woodcarver, who loves his new puppet so much that the Blue Fairy grants his wish — and thereby hangs the adventurous tale told in "Pinocchio," a full-length cartoon in color by Technicolor, released by Buena Vista and opening Wednesday at the Jim Theatre.

UNKEMPT BUT COSTLY

For the play "Gideon," based upon the Biblical story, cast members have to maintain a rustic, unkempt appearance. Even so, the hairdresser bill, according to an auditor's statement is $300 weekly.

Curtain Call

By BB STRON

"Speaking of Murder" is in its third week of rehearsal and seems to be coming along fine. At this point, Richard Clark, director, tells us the visitors are still welcome to visit during rehearsals. We will announce the opening date next week in this column.

Little Theatre president, Mrs. Frances McHenry, has just returned from having attended "All American," which just opened at the Winter Garden Theatre in New York. Misses Lallage Feazel and Mary Wilton McHenry accompanied her. Among the celebrities attending the gala opening were Arlene Francis, Chita Riveria, and James Stewart. At Sardi's Restaurant after the play, Rudy Vallee was one of the guests at the table of Mrs. Slade Brown.

MANY PLAYS

You might be interssted to know that there are 28 plays now on Broadway and 26 off Broadway. Many of these are musicals. The approximate cost to produce a musical on Broadway is $400,000 and off Broadway, $15,000.

While in New York, Mrs. McHenry also had lunch with Ivan Uttal, former director of the Monroe Little Theatre. He is scheduled to direct an off Broadway show this fall. Ivan was on his way to see "Zoo Story," which was written by Edward Albee. Ivan says that he is an up and coming playwright, and that we shall hear more about him in the future.

We regret to hear that George Patterson, our custodian at the theatre is leaving to accept another position in New Orleans. We will miss him as he is very helpful in constructing scenery, among other things. However, we want to wish him much luck and happiness in his move.

ASSISTANCE

Our thanks go to Fred Cupples, who has been working in the storage room at the Strauss Playhouse. He has built a second story and built shelves, which will enable us to keep it in better order.

Ed and Mary Ellison were in El Dorado for a performance of "The Solid Gold Cadillac", which was presented by the El Dorado Little Theatre.

Board Member Betty Biedenharn has just returned from a trip east, and while there was privileged to visit the azealea gardens of South Carolina. Welcome home!

It is good news to all of us that Patron Member Marie Bernstein is home, after having been hospitalized for several weeks.

Don't forget, "Speaking of Murder," will open soon. Begin thinking now about attending. You are welcome to come to the Strauss Playhouse and sit in on a rehearsal if you would like to.

We are still in need of a lap dog for "Speaking of Murder," one that will be quiet on stage. If you have such a dog or know of someone who has one, encourage them to contact Richard Clark at FAirfax 3-1235. Richard also says that he is still in need of people to work backstage. If you would like to work in this capacity, be sure to call him, at the above number.

See you next week!

New Policy At Theatre Is Success

The Movie Discount Cards, which debuted in the Monroe area only two weeks ago, have already proved to be a big success, reports local Paramount Gulf Theatres executive Ted Hatfield.

The Movie Discount Card program which allows students from 12 through 17 years of age to attend the Paramount for reduced admissions, was made possible through the cooperation of local school officials and PTA leaders. An application for the card, available in the theatre lobby, must be completed and signed by a parent. This is presented at the threatre boxoffice, with one dollar, and the student receives his discount card.

BOOKING

Many family attractions have been booked by the Paramount Theatre during the next several months, allowing students maximum use of the MDC. The color western riot, "Sergeants 3," with Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin is scheduled to open Sunday, April 8. The king of twist, Chubby Checker, is back again on Friday, April 20, in "Don't Knock the Twist." This is followed by the Easter attraction opening Sunday, April 22, "Rome Adventure," starring Troy Donahue and Angie Dickinson.

MAGICAL

The kiddies will be delighted with the magical adventures of the "Magic Sword," opening Friday, April 27.

The all-time favorite of the younger set, Elvis Presley, will be back Sunday, April 29, in "Follow That Dream," and the following week, Sunday, May 6, Pat Boone, Bobby Darin and Ann Margaret star in Rogers and Hammerstein's "State Fair."

PLAY TO BE FILMED

NEW YORK (AP) — Henry Fonda is to be star and coproducer of the film version of "A Gift of Time," in which he has been appearing this season on Broadway. Olivia de Havilland will repeat her stage role.

Garson Kanin, author and director of the play, is to be Fonda's partner in making the picture. Location scenes are to be shot during August in the south of France and interiors will be filmed subsequently in a New York studio.

RAIN'S REIGN

STRATFORD, Ont. (AP) — Douglas Rain comes back to the Shakespearean Festival next summer with the distinction of being the project's only 10-year actor.

Rain, who is to appear in "Cyrano de Bergerac," has been with the company since its first season in 1953. He has portrayed 17 roles.

Playboy Denies Romance With Film Actress

NEW YORK (UPI)—Millionaire Brazilian playboy Jorge Guinle flew here from Rio Saturday, checked into the same hotel where Janet Leigh is staying and admitted he "might have a drinquezinho with her" while he is here.

Miss Leigh was incomunicado. Telephone callers were referred to an answering service. She and her husband Tony Curtis recently announced their separation. Earlier this week Miss Leigh fell in her hotel room, receiving minor injuries. She blamed her fall on sleeping pills and "three left feet."

Oil Refiners Are Noticed As Cautious

HOUSTON, Tx. (AP) — Oil refiners have been a bit cautious this year while preparing for the spring-summer gasoline season.

Gasoline being held in storage normally hits a record level just before the start of the April-September heavy consumption season.

Inventories last week, however, totaled only 206 million barrels, compared to 211 million a year earlier.

Domestic refiners added only 19 million barrels of gasoline to their inventories between Jan. 1 and March 23, compared to 24 million the same 1961 period.

The reduction of gasoline inventories results from a refinery operations cutback prompted by a fear petroleum being held in storage was excessive.

Domestic refinery operations reached a record level of 8,755,000 barrels a day. Several major refiners began cutbacks in late February and strengthened them in March. Last week's refinery operations involved the processing of only 8,152,000 barrels of crude oil daily.

B. R. Dorsey, a Gulf Oil Corp. vice president, said this week the 8,755,000 barrel level was far in excess of requirements.

"The inability of the industry to wisely use its available capacities, particulary in refining, has been one of the most significant trends of the industry's operations to date," Dorsey said.

He said the capacity that has been created gives the domestic oil industry a substantial margin of spare poducing and refining capacity to meet almost any emergency in peace or war.

"But, generally speaking, the industry has shown a complete lack of foresight in the proper use of the capacities available," he said.

"The future could be much brighter if the industry would only pace itself—to hold its operations at a proper level to insure that it provides its own risk capital to continue to serve the national economy."

Increases in domestic demand for gasoline the last two years have been disappointing, falling well below the three to four per cent gains forecast.

To counteract the trend, the American Petroleum Institute (API) last year began a test advertising campaign designed to stimulate expanded use of automobiles by the motoring public.

H. L. Moir, chairman of the institute's travel development committee, announced in late February the API is encouraged by preliminary results of the tests. He said the committee is continuing and broadening its activities for 1962.

Moir, a Pure Oil Co. vice president at Palatine, Ill., said preliminary analysis of the 1961 campaign indicates the public can be encouraged to drive more, particularly for pleasure.

The 1961 campaign included advertisements recommending pleasure drives in areas near 10 test cities. The results were evaluated against 10 similar cities where the advertisements were not published.

Moir said preliminary analysis indicates 61 trips of the type advertised were taken per 100 families in the test cities compared to only 45 trips per 100 families in the 10 cities in which the advertisements were not published.

Gasoline consumption, he said, increased 2.4 per cent more in the test cities than in the other areas.

Mississippi Production Tests Slated

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Southwest Gas Producing Co. is preparing for production tests at its Franklin County wildcat the Hale No. 1, sec. 34-7n-2w, in an effort to evaluate commercial worth of a Tuscaloosa sand.

The well was drilled to 10,625 feet with drill stem test run in open hole reported to have recovered oil in the Oldenberg area.

Placid Oil Co. is continuing production tests at its Wayne County Wildcat, the G. M. & O. Land Co. No. 1, sec. 35-8n-8w, located southeast of the Yellow Creek field. Operators are currently swabbing a small amount of oil from a perforated interval at 11,738-48 feet.

Elsewhere in Wayne County, Humble Oil and Refining Co. is preparing to complete the U.S.A. No. 1, sec. 13-9n-8w, from the Cotton Valley formation. It will be the first deep Yellow Creek field production.

Very little information has been released on the well testing.

Humble is also drilling below 11,250 feet in its second deep venture in the area, the Norsworth No. 1, sec. 18-9n-7w, with no test information being released.

Gay and Roell have abandoned their Wilkinson County wildcat, the Wall No. 1, sec. 6-1n-4w, after logging a thin Wilcox sand on water at 8,785 feet. The scheduled drilling depth was 10,010 feet.

In Adams County, Victor P. Smith is preparing to final his wildcat, the National Gas Co. No. 1, sec. 67-7n-1w, on pump. The well flowed a small amount of oil by heads from a perforated pool in the Tuscaloosa formation at 10,276-82 feet. The potential pool opener is located near the big Cranfield oil field.

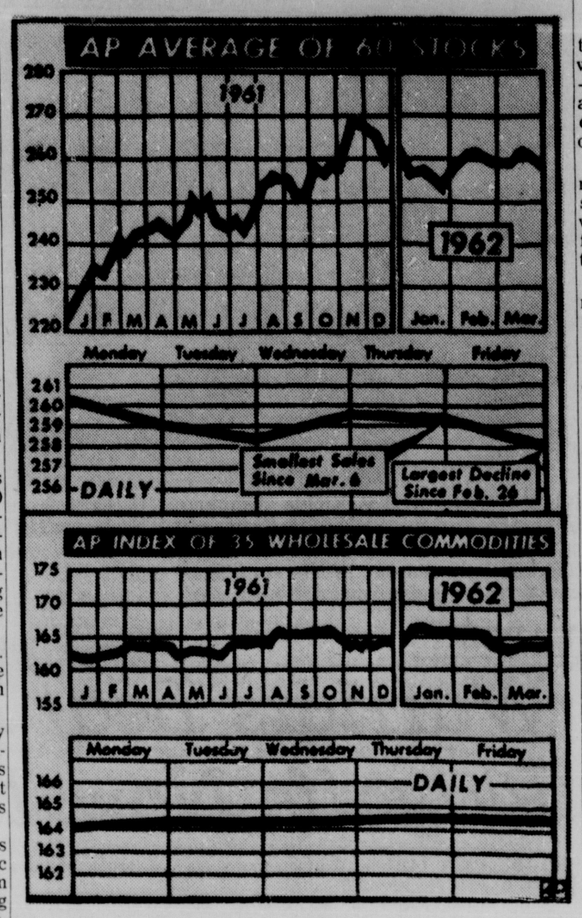

Crowe Greyhound Drilling Co., Inc., begins production tests on the Franklin County wildcat, the Board of Supervisors No. 1, sec. 30-6n-2e, located two miles southeast of the abandoned Roxie field. Production casing has been set to 6,431 feet ot evaluate oil shows found on wireline tester at 6,364 feet.

In the Holmesville area of Pike County, Humble has staked location for a 13,500 foot Paluxy sand wildcat test. The venture is the Holmesville unit No. 1, sec. 19-3n-9e, located about 7 miles southeast of Little Creek.

Field drilling during the past week saw four new oilers and one gas condensate well completed.

At Pool Creek in Jones County, E. L. Erickson completed his Weems No. 2, sec. 22-9n-10w, as a triple completion. A zone at 11,412-28 feet flowed 170 barrels of oil per day. A second zone flowed 450 barrels daily from 11,218-28 feet and a third zone at 10,816-26 feet flowed 465 barrels per day.

Olin Announces 61 Income Total

NEW ORLEANS, (Special) — Gross income for 1961 of $48,348,662, an increase of approximately 3 per cent over 1960 and a new high for the Company, was announced today by Harold F. Moses, president of Olin Oil and Gas Corporation.

Net income for 1961 was $3,228,121 after absorption of approximately $722,000 after taxes in depreciation, depletion and interest charges due to income tax changes in previous years. This compares with $3,481,914 for the year 1960.

Based on the number of shares outstanding at the end of each year, net earnings after preferred dividends were therefore equal to $1.10 per common share ($1.36 per share before nonrecurring charges) in comparison with $1.20 per share in 1960.

ONE COMPLETION

12 New Locations Staked In Area

Activity held firm last week in the Monroe Oil & Gas District with but one completion reported —that in Union Parish—but balanced against the staking of an even dozen new locations throughout the 14 parishes.

District Manager Duncan Cook recorded the lone completion in section 3-21-1W of the Ora Field, while Union Parish's Monroe Field further contributed five new sites to lead the pack in new activity.

Twice as many rigs, at 24, were shown on Cook's weekly report as actively drilling and or testing. Ouachita Parish listed three among the group—one a wildcat and one each in the Cheniere and Monroe Fields — while LaSalle Parish led the field with 10.

Thre were no recompletions during the week, which saw abandonment recorded on a total of 11 rigs, pushing the number of inactive sites to 86. There were 86 locations on file.

Prospective Home Buyers Receive Help

By EDWARD COWAN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Before you sign the purchase contract on a house, advises the federal housing administration (FHA), ask yourself these three questions:

How much do I need to borrow to buy the house?

How long should I take to repay the loan?

How much is the loan going to cost me?

To help prospective home buyers answer these questions, FHA has published a leaflet showing typical monthly payments for loans of various sizes, repayment periods (terms) and total interest payments over the years.

By borrowing as little as you can—that is, by making as large a down payment as you can—you save interest, the agency advises.

"If you are able to make extra payments of principal from time to time, you will pay off your loan in a shorter time and pay less total interest," the FHA pamphlet says.

"The longer your loan runs, the less you'll be paying monthly on principal and interest, but the greater will be the total amount of interest you pay over the term of your loan."

The increase in aggregate interest payments as you stretch out the term of the loan is illustrated in the brochure. Suppose you borrow $15,000 at 5¼ per cent for 20 years. Interest payments during those two decades will total $9,254 (more than 60 per cent of the original loan). Over 25 years they will add up to $11,930; over 30 years to $14,758, and over 35 years — the FHA maximum in most cases—to $17,777, more than the loan itself.

Many people, fail to realize how much they pay in interest. Their big concern is what the monthly payments are. (Interest payments are deductible from taxable income on your federal income tax.) Monthly payments are a primary concern of FHA too. The agency won't insure your loan unless your income and family budget indicate you can afford the payments.

Stretching out amortization can make a big difference in monthly payments, FHA's table shows. (The table includes principal, interest and the mortgage insurance premium.) On a $15,000 loan to be repaid over 20 years, monthly payments will be $107.27. Stretch it to 25 years and the payments drop to $96.19.

Take 30 years to pay and you need only $89.16 a month. Over 35 years, it's $84.37.

The FHA leaflet also has similar tables on the cost of long and short-term home improvement loans insured by FHA. Readers may obtain a free copy by writing on a postal card to Public Information Office, Federal Housing Administration, Washington, 25, D. C. Ask for FHA No. 230.

Crossett Firm Releases First Quarter Report

CROSSETT, Ark. (Special) — Net sales of all forest products by The Crossett Company showed an increase but earnings were down considerably during the first three months of 1962, according to the firm's first quarter report just issued.

Net sales were $11,469,000, up 8 per cent from the total of $10,562,000 in the first period of 1961. However, earnings were down 20 per cent to $621,000 compared with $778,000 last year.

The decrease in earning was attributed to costs in connection with the start-up of the flakeboard plant, weather and seasonal influences on markets, and average prices well under those of last year.

At its January meeting the Board of Directors declared a 15c dividend on both Class A and Class B stock payable May 1, 1962, to stockholders of record April 14, 1962. This is the same dividend as was paid at this time last year.

Cotton Future's Retreat Follows Recent Advance

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures worked lower this week on the New York Cotton Exchange in slow trading. At the close, they were down 5 rents to $1.10 a bale. Prices were mixed the week previous.

The retreat was attributed mainly to technical considerations following a fairly sustained recent advance, particularly in the nearby May and July contracts.

Scattered trade and commission house buying on the decline was insufficient to reverse the trend.

Although 1961 crop cotton entering the government loan stock was the largest in five weeks, it seemingly had no market effect.

Cotton owned and controlled by the government was estimated as of March 23 at 5.4 million bales, including 1.5 million bales of 1961 and prior crops owned by the Commodity Credit Corp.

Except for the in-and-out current loan movement, there has been no recent change in government holdings.

Exports in the week ended Tuesday were the lowest since late November, amounting to 56,000 bales compared with 102,000 the preceding week and 218,000 in the comparable 1961 week. For the season, exports reached a total of 3,439,000 bales against 4,429,000 in the comparable period a year ago.

Optician Group Elects Officers

Other officers chosen were Eugene Naccati, New Orleans, vice president; Eugene McKeon, New Orleans, treasurer; and Steve Balliet, Baton Rouge, secretary.

Gas Company Announces '62 Expenditures

SHREVEPORT (Special)— Capital expenditures of $47 million will be made during 1962 by United Gas Corporation and subsidiaries, it has been announced by Ed Parkes, president. The expenditures will cover all segments of the company's operations for various construction, drilling, development and expansion projects.

Of the total capital expenditures, United Gas Pipe Line Company, transmission subsidiary, has budgeted $20.4 million for various pipe line and other construction projects, all of which are located in the Gulf South states.

Major expenditures will be made for pipe line facilities to connect additional natural gas reserves to the system, increase delivery capacity and serve new customers in the New Orleans, Jackson, Miss., Monroe and Lafayette, La. and Houston operating districts of the company. Other construction projects are scheduled for the San Antonio, Tyler and Shreveport districts.

The 1962 capital expenditures follow the $75 million capital investment program of 1961, which included more than $50 million for construction of 217 miles of 30-inch pipe line from South Louisiana to North Louisiana, and 69 miles of 36-inch pipe line to connect reserves in the Bastian Bay field in South Louisiana to the pipe line system.

Union Producing Company, production subsidiary, will make capital expenditures in 1962 of $17.3 million. The exploration and development program calls for a minimum of 71 company-operated wells to be drilled and 25 wells to be drilled in joint operations with other companies.

Drilling projects for gas and oil are scheduled for Union Producing company's Louisiana districts headquartered at Lafayette, Monroe and Shreveport. Mississippi drilling projects will be carried out by the Jackson district, and drilling in Texas will be in the Beeville, Houston and Tyler districts.

Retail Food Firm Names Officers

Joseph B. Hall, president of the Kroger Company since 1946, has been elected chairman of the board and chief executive officer.

The company's stores in the Twin Citiy area are among 1,350 operated by Kroger throughout the midwest and south.

Kroger, now the nations third largest food retailer, began with one small store opened in 1883 in Cincinnati where the company's headquarters are still located. Sales in 1961 totaled $1,842,342,667.

Hall began with Kroger in 1931 as manager of the real estate department. Davis began with the firm in 1944 as a vice president.

"Three enjoyable years in our Gold Medallion Home have proved:

—says Richard A. Heepke, 9441 Roselyn Drive, Harahan, La.

The Gold Medallion on Richard Heepke's home means he has provided his family with the finest in modern, all-electric living. Among the features they enjoy are:

Light for Living, an up-to-date concept of illumination that provides plenty of light where it's needed—for reading, sewing, studying and other activities.

All-Electric Laundry, where Mrs. Heepke can wash and dry—without drudgery—all the clothes for her active family.

Electric Heating—clean, even, flameless—"has cut down colds in the family," says Mr. Heepke, "and we think flameless electric bathroom heaters are safer for children."

Protected Investment because the Heepke home will remain modern electrically for years and years to come.

Consider the advantages of a Gold Medallion Home when you buy, build or remodel. Call your LP&L office for details.

Northeast Thinclads Dominate Florida Relays

Indians Win Five Events; Set Records

GAINSVILLE, Fla. (Special) — Northeast Louisiana State and its remarkable Styron twins dominated the 19th annual Florida Relays here Saturday with five victories.

The Styrons, Dave the sprinter; and Don, the hurdler, won the coveted Kearney-Rayburn Award together for the second time in three years. The award goes to the meet's outstanding performers. The twins won in 1960 but did not compete in the Florida Relays last year.

They had a hand in everything the Indians wrapped up Saturday. Don won the 120 yard high hurdles in record time of 13.8 despite a gusty wind that blew right into the faces of the runners. His sterling effort clipped .4 off the old mark which he had shared with Dick Durham of Louisiana State. Durham set the mark in 1959 and Don tied it in 1960.

Dave won the 100 yard dash in a fine 9.6, considering the wind. He shares the relay's record of 9.5 with Dave Sime of Duke, who set it in 1956. Dave equalled it two years ago.

In the relays, Northeast was invincible and set records in all three that it competed in. The Styrons ran in all of them.

The Indians won the 400 yard relay in a blistering 41.1 despite a terrible batonic change between the number two and three runners, Charles McDonald and Owen Owens. Dave let off and Don Styron anchored the race. The old record of 41.6 was set by the Indians in 1960. With a smooth pass of the baton, Northeast might have threatened the world mark of 39.6 set by Texans in 1959.

The sprint medley relay mark was next to fall. The Indians foursome of Randall Walker, Dave and Don Styron and Don Eiland, ran it in 3:23.1 as compared with the old mark of 3:24.6 set by Florida State University last year.

Next came the mile relay. The Indians whipped around this one in 3:11.9 to shatter the old mark of 3:12.8 which they set in 1960. John Baker and Walker ran the first two legs with Dave and Don Styron finishing up.

The crowd of 5,000 roared its approval as the gold shirted Styrons gave a tremendous exhibition against a fine field of opposition. Don, especially, turned in a remarkable effort considering he injured his leg two weeks ago and it was uncertain on Friday whether he would even try to compete in the hurdles.

Tiffen Stone of the Indians was second in the discus throw to Ron Carter of Alabama who won with a toss of 157-4½. Stone threw 154-6.

Northeast also scored in the javelin throw where Gene Harbert finished fourth with a toss of 204-4. Pat Arceneau, of Southwestern, won with a throw of 210-3½.

Jack Williams of the Indians finished fourth in the two mile run in which Jerry Nourse of Duke set a new record in 9:05.4. Noel Orr of the Indians finished in a six-way tie for fourth place in the pole vault which had three winners at 14½.

Louisiana Tech did not fair as well. Joe Cage finished second in the javelin. Max Howard was third in the broad jump which was won by Charles Mosley of Alabama on a leap of 23-9¾ and Bob Goree finished in a six-way tie for fourth in the pole vault.

Robert Daulton finished fourth and Howard fifth in the hop-step-jump, a new event this year. It was won by Bill Elliott, of the Citadel with an effort of 47-2½. Louisiana Tech also finished fifth in the mile relay.

East Stomps West In All-Star Game

By SKIPPER PATRICK

KANSAS CITY (AP) — All - America Chet Walker set a balanced scoring pace with 19 points as the East beat the West 123-110 in a dizzy scoring exhibition in the 11th Shrine East - West All-Star basketball game Saturday.

Both teams topped the previous scoring record of 103 set by the West last year. Every one of the 20 players figured in the scoring, seven from the East getting 12 points or more, and six from the West popped in 10 or more.

All-America Jerry Lucas of Ohio State led the West with 23.

It was comparatively easy for the sharp East crew as the West, featuring Lucas and All-America Billy McGill of Utah made a contest of it only in the first quarter.

Big Paul Hogue of Cincinnati's NCAA champs outscored and outrebounded Lucas as the East pulled in front 58-46 in the first half and had bulging leads of 20 to 24 points before a late West drive cut its losing margin.

Stewart Sherard, Army's great little playmaker, was voted the game's most valuable player. Sherard made eight of 13 field goal attempts for 16 points, as he sparked the East offense.

Lucas, in addition to leading individual scorers was top rebounder for the game with 14 takes. Lucas and Walker of Bradley did the top jobs among the All-Americas. McGill, who led the nation's scorers with a 39-point average, was limited to 11 points for the West. The East's Terry Dischinger of Purdue was limited to nine.

The East made 54 of 109 shots for 49.5 per cent. The West hit 46 of 114 for 40.4. A near capacity crowd of 9,000 witnessed the nationally televised (CBS) game played for the benefit of the Shrine Hospitals for Crippled Children.

FIRST INDIAN

Johnson First Team All-American, NAIA

Lanny Johnson, Northeast Louisiana State's senior guard, has been named to the first unit of the 1962 National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics All-America basketball team.

The NAIA Al- America team was announced Saturday afternoon by the Association's publicity office.

Other players on the 10-man first team are Charles Hardnett of Grambling, Zelmo Beaty of Prairie View A&M, John Bradley of Lawrence Tech, Ran Galbreath of Westminster College, Walt Mischler of Monmouth College, Kenneth Saylors of Arkansas Tech, Phil Shirk of Texas A&I, Roger Strickland of Jacksonville University and Marvin Trotman of Elizabeth City College.

Johnson is the first Northeast player ever to be named to the NAIA first team. Two other Northeast cagers, center Robert Cook and forward Jimmy Walker, both of Jonesboro, La., were on the NAIA honorable mention list.

Johnson, a 6-1 cager from Monroe, had earlier been named to the Associated Press second team Little All-America.

One of only three players to ever lead the Gulf States Conference in scoring twice, Johnson averaged 22.2 points per game in conference play the past season to lead Northeast to its Gulf States Conference championship. He topped the conference with a 23.5 scoring average in league games last season.

For the full 1961-62 campaign, Johnson averaged 21.3 points a contest to lead his conference in that department also. He scored 30 or more points four times during the season, getting 31 points against Arkansas A&M, 30 against Lamar Tech, 35 against Louisiana Tech and 32 against Spring Hill College.

In addition to leading the conference in scoring, Johnson was second in free throw percentage in the GSC for all games with 79.6 and fourth in conference games only with 79.4.

Despite playing the backcourt, Johnson tied for third among Northeast rebounders with an average of 4.7 per game.

Johnson set a Northeast career scoring record of 1,366 points the past season and also holds or shares four other school records — highest game average (21.3), most field goals in career (532), most field goals in a game (15 in 1960-61) and most points in a game (38 in 1960-61), a mark he shares with Melvin Gibson.

Johnson was named to the all-GSC team selected by the Louisiana Sports Writers Association in 1961.

John Uelses Tops 16 Feet Outdoors

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — John Uelses, the first athlete to clear 16 feet indoors in the pole vault, became the first to do it outdoors Saturday with a mark of 16 feet ¾ inches.

The jump was first announced at 16¼, as a measurement was made before he made his second try. When the officials made a re-measurement, the official mark stood at 16¾. This equals his best indoor leap, made last month in Boston.

Uelses and Lt. Dave Tark of Camp Pendleton, tied at 15-8¼ and both set out for the 16 feet ceiling.

Tark, a 26-year-old Marine and a graduate of West Virginia did not come close in his three tries. The 15-8¼ was Tark's all-time best.

George Davies of Arizona State University, who set the previous record last year at 15-10¼, dropped out of competition after clearing 15-4.

Uelses then failed in three tries at 16-4. Two of them were relatively close misses.

Secondary laurels went to the two best discus throwers in the nation. Rink Babka, from Los Angeles, former co-holder of the world record, won the event at 194½, and Jay Silvester, who holds the world record at 199-2½, was second, at 193-1½.

Babka went over the 190 foot mark three times, and Silvester twice.

Larry Dunn of the University of Arizona was clocked in 9.3 in the 100-yard dash, but it was disallowed as a meet record because he was aided by a 4.9 miles-per-hour wind.

Dick Tiger Tops Henry Hank In 10-Round Battle

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Tiger, the British Empire middleweight champion from Nigeria, handed Henry Hank a terrific beating Saturday night in winning a lopsided 10-round decision over the Detroit contender at Madison Square Garden.

It was the seventh straight victory for the 32-year-old Nigerian who is the hottest of all the middleweights, including co-champion Gene Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, and Terry Downes of England.

Tiger, who chopped down his 27-year-old rival with blistering combinations to the body and head, won almost as he pleased.

The three officials had him ahead by the following score: Referee Art Mercante 10-0 in rounds; Judge Leo Birnbaum 9-0 and one even and Judge Bill Recht, 8-1-1. The A.P. card had Tiger in front, 9-1.

Tiger, hitting at short range with both hands, battled his taller rival toe-to-toe in the first two action-packed rounds. Tiger's hooks had more accuracy and power and he was able to block some of Hank's punches.

Hank, rated as the No. 4 contender gave the first ranking contender some stiff opposition in the second round. But that was it from him until the last round.

Tiger just belted the Detroiter at will from the third through the ninth rounds. Hank occasionally flurried but his rallies died down as Tiger relentlessly came back with his searing combinations to the head and body.

The Nigerian fired his shots in clips of 2, 3, 4, and 5 as the crowd of about 5,000 at the televised fight oohed and aahed.

McGuffee Wins Championship In Eros Tourney

EROS (Special)—L. V. Norris poured in 24 points to pace McGuffee Construction Co. to a 70-56 triumph over Leroy's Gas Station in the finals of the Eros Independent basketball tournament which ended here last night.

F & N Water Wells defeated Downsville, 87-68, for a third place finish. Scotty Sims led the winners with 35 points and Dick Hinton collected 25 for the losers.

McGuffee reached the finals with a 86-74 victory over Donwsville while Leroy's clipped F & N, 65-57.

Warriors Beat Boston Playoffs Now Tied 2-2

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain received a trophy as the most valuable player in the National Basketball Association Saturday and then proved it by scoring 41 points in leading the Philadelphia Warriors to a 110-106 victory over the Boston Celtics, deadlocking the Eastern final playoffs at two games apiece.

The best four of seven series now moves back to Boston for the fifth game Sunday.

Playing before a national television audience, Chamberlain netted 15 field goals on only 29 shots and 11 for 22 from the foul line for 41 points.

The 7-foot-1 Warrior star also collected 34 rebounds as he dominated Boston's Bill Russell in the battle of giant centers. Russell scored 31 points for the Celtics, but his rebounding prowess was curtailed when he drew four first-half fouls.

With Russell in foul trouble, Boston Coach Red Auerbach alternated "Jungle" Jim Loscutoff and Tom Sanders on Chamberlain. But both fouled out trying to stop the fadeaway jumpers, tap-ins and dunk shots of the Warriors' ace.

Boston led 25-23 at the end of the first period, but trailed by a point, 55-54, at the intermission. The Warriors maintained their single point edge 78-77, after three quarters, and then put the game away with a 32-point final period as against only 29 for the defending champion Celtics.

This was a hard-fought defensive battle with little more than one to three points separating the teams most of the way. The Warriors took the lead for good at 87-86 with 8 minutes, 30 seconds to go in the final quarter on a one-hand push shot by rookie Tom Meschery, who scored 23 points and handed out seven assists in a brilliant performance.

The closest Boston came after this was 89-88 with 7:49 left. Here, Chamberlain and Meschery scored from the field and Chamberlain dropped in a free throw to give the Warriors breathing room at 94-89.

Boston must have experienced one of its poorest shooting days in a long time as the usually hot-handed Celtics made only 36 field goals on 127 shots. The Warriors, with Paul Arizin scoring 26 to help Chamberlain and Meschery with the scoring burden, weren't too much better. They hit 38 of 92.

Tom Heinsohn, the Celts' scoring star, scored 21 points on nine field goals and three fouls before fouling out late in the fourth quarter. Philadelphia's playmaker, Guy Rodgers, tallied 12 but handed out 10 assists and exhibited sensational ball control in the late minutes as the Celtics tried desperately to rally their forces.

Chamberlain's MVP award, earned last year by the Celtics' Russell, was awarded by the Philadelphia Sportswriters Basketball Club.

Late in the first quarter Philadelphia's defensive star, Tom Gola, took a bad spill suffering a severe ankle sprain. He was taken to Philadelphia General Hospital for X-rays. Gola returned later on crutches and will be out for the rest of the series.

Coach Frank McGuire of the Warriors said, "With a healthy Gola we have a wonderful opportunity in this series. Right now it looks tough. We were playing with six men and now we are reduced further."

CONFERENCE ACTION

Tech Gains Split With McNeese 9

RUSTON (Special)—Louisiana Tech and McNeese State College opened Gulf States Conference play here Saturday spliting a twin bill on a wet and cold windy afternoon.

Tech won the first game 2-1 on a two hitter by southpaw ace Sonny Parker and freshman left-hander Benie Hickman hurled the Cowboys to 3-2 victory in the nightcap.

Tech faces Southwestern in another double header Monday at Lafayette while McNeese hosts Southeastern at Lake Charles.

In the opener, Tech got a run in the first when Dave Haurska walked, stole second and scored on a single by Frank Betts. The "Pokes" tied it in the top of the fifth when Lenny Kahn walked, Arney Bridges reached base on an error and Ken Rabalais singled to score Kahn.

The Bulldogs got the winning run in the bottom of the fifth when Parker was hit by a pitch, Paul Labenne singled and Parker scored on an attempted force play at second base.

Tech jumped on Hickman for two runs in the fist inning of the night cap when Labenne who had four hits for the day singled and David Lee hit a long homer to left center.

Hickman gave up eight hits, was frequently in trouble and had to be rescued by Jim Bischoff in the seventh. Tech loaded the bases but Bischoff struck out Lee to win the game.

Bischoff was a hard luck loser in the first game when he limited Tech to four hits and struck out eight. Tech's Woodson also deserved a better fate. He pitched a four hitter and struck out 12, but was a victim of some faulty fielding by hit teammates.

Tribe Netmen Open Tennis Slate Monday

A revamped Northeast State tennis team opens the season Monday and Tuesday with matches against Southwestern at Lafayette and McNeese at Lake Charles.

Southwestern, Northeast's Monday afternoon opponent, finished in a tie with the Indians for third in the Gulf States Conference last spring while McNeese was conference champion.

Only two players from the 1961 Northeast team are back this spring. Kirk Fisher of Monroe, runnerup in No. 2 competition in the GSC meet in 1961, returns along with Bill Ulmer of Baton Rouge, the team's No. 4 player last season.

Fisher will play No. 1 this season with Ulmer No. 2. Newcomers will fill the other spots.

Charles Thacker, a Monroe senior, is scheduled to play No. 3 with Bob Statham of Bogalusa No. 4 and Anthony "Buddy" Embanato of Monroe No. 5.

The probable lineup in doubles is Fisher and Thacker for No. 1 and Ulmer and Statham for No. 2.

Other members of Coach Jim Coats' team are Drury Byum of Monroe and Irby Gamble of Marthaville. Byum, because of a heavy class schedule, is not expected to make out-of-town trips but will be available for Monroe matches.

The Tribe netmen will open their home season next week also with a Friday match against Northwestern. All Northeast home matches will be played on Monroe Recreation Department courts. The Northwestern match will be the first of three straight home affairs for Northeast. The Indians will meet Louisiana Tech April 10 and Southwestern April 12 here.

Haas Memorial Golf Tournament Ends 3rd Round

The last six matches of the third round of the 15th annual Cramar Haas Memorial Tournament at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club are scheduled to be completed before tonight.

Results of other third round matches are:

Clyde Nash over Frank Davis; Dr. George Varino over Dr. Walter Ernest; I. F. Bennett over S. J. Rogers by default; Bill Hardy over Jay Adams; W. T. Hollis over Dr. E. Worthen; C. R. Tidwell over Frank Rizzo; E. L. Holloway over Jack Taylor; J. R. Peat over Jack Rivers; Glynn Walker, Sr., over Jim Sherman; Robert Guerriero over Fred Fudicker by default; Dr. Buddy Bodron over Roy Powell; Phil Fishman over Dr. Matt Spencer; H. C. Menuet over Van Veck Hoven; R. L. Davis Jr. over Pete Haddad.

JACKIE DAVIS, Philadelphia Phillies outfielder, is forced at second by Sammy White in the fourth inning of yesterday's game with the Minnesota Twins. White grounded to second who tossed the ball to the Twins shortstop Zoro Versalles. Here Versalles tries to get the ball to first for a second out by Davis slowed up the shortstop's throw and White was safe. (AP Wirephoto)

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) — Dallas-Fort Worth of the American Association handed its parent club, the Los Angeles Angels, an 8-2 defeat Saturday before a crowd of 1,929.

Big Bob Lee hurled five no-hit innings for the Rangers. He was replaced by Ron Ericson in the sixth inning. The latter yielded both Angel runs and five hits.

Dick Littlefield's Texans worked over four Angel pitchers for 12 hits, including homers by catcher Pat Corrales and outfielder Burge Burnhardt.

Nats Defeat Yankees

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., (AP) — Right-hander Joe McClain blanked the New York Yankees on four hits for seven innings and drove in two runs with a single as the Washington Senators defeated the world champions 7-3 Saturday night.

Bill Stafford went seven innings and was the loser. McClain tagged him for his two-run single in the second.

Jim Coates and Marshall Bridges finished up for the Yankees, Coates allowing three runs in the eighth and Bridges yielding two unearned scores in the ninth.

Aaron Carries Braves

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Hank Aaron drove in six runs with a pair of home runs Saturday as the Milwaukee Braves rapped the San Francisco Giants 14-10.

Aaron hit three-run homers in his first two times at bat, in the first and second innings. He now has six spring homers.

San Francisco matched Milwaukee's 16-hit production but Aaron's two homers equalled the FBI output of four hit by the Giants. Felipe Alou hit a pair for San Francisco, and Chuck Hiller and Jim Duffalo connected once each.

A's Defeat Orioles

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Kansas City Athletics snapped Baltimor's six-game winning streak Saturday night, 12-1, behind six-hit pitching by Art Ditmar and Bob Grim and an 11-hit attack on three Oriole rookie pitchers.

With most of the Oriole squad in Mexico City for an exhibition series against Mexican teams, only three regulars were in the Baltimore line-up — outfielders Jack Brandt and Boog Powell and second baseman Johnny Campbell.

The A's built up a 3-0 lead on Bill Short in the first five innings and made it 4-0 when Leo Posada belted a home run off Bob Leopold in the seventh.

They sent 12 men to the plate in the ninth and scored eight runs off 20-year-old Howie Stethers.

Red Sox Top Cubs

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—Outfielder Carl Yastrzemski's third spring home run powered the Boston Red Sox to a 6-5 victory Saturday over the Chicago Cubs.

Yastrzemski's blow evened the spring series between the teams at three victories each.

The loss went to left-hander Jackie Curtis, who was the victim of a three-run Boston rally in the seventh. Yastrzemski's two-run belt came in the eighth.

The game's only other homer was by Ernie Banks for the Cubs after rookie second baseman Ken Hubbs had doubled in the fourth. It was also Banks' third spring homer.

Pirates Whip Reds

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates unloaded five home runs Saturday in whipping the Cincinnati Reds 14-6 in an exhibition baseball game. The Reds hit two homers.

Roberto Clemente belted a grand slam homer in the first inning and winning pitcher Harvey Haddix connected with a three-run homer in the same inning.

Dick Schofield hit a three-run homer in the third and Dick Groat and Larry Elliott socked solo homers in the eighth.

Haddix, a small left-hander, had a perfect day at the plate. He went three for three and drove in five runs. Haddix worked six innings, giving up three runs on four hits. The loser was Jim Malone.

Tigers Boo-Boo

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Detroit's leaky defense bobbled twice in the 10th inning here Saturday and the Bengals dropped their fourth loss in a row, 9-6, to the Chicago White Sox.

Two errors by Chico Fernandez, singles by Bob Sadowski, J. C. Martin and Floyd Robinson led to three White Sox runs.

Martin had five hits, four singles and a double to lead the White Sox, who won their fourth in a row.

The Tigers greeted Herb Score with three runs in the eigth. Mike Roarke lined over the left field fence to send the Tigers ahead. A double by Jake Wood, Purn Goldy's singie and an error led to two more runs for Detroit.

But the White Sox tied it in the ninth off Terry Fox.

Singles by Mike Hershberger and J. C. Martin—his fourth hit of the day—and Al Smith's triple brought in two runs. A walk and a double play tied the score.

AT JONESBORO-HODGE

Rupp Illustrates Winning Ways

By RICK BRYAN
WORLDS SPORTS EDITOR

JONESBORO — Adolph Rupp, basketball coach of the University of Kentucky, turned on all of his charming, home - spun wit, to illustrate his philosophy of sports at a banquet honoring the Jonesboro-Hodge basketball team here last night.

"I'm criticized for my philosophy," Rupp told a large audience in the school's spacious basketball gym after the fete, sponsored by the Jonesboro - Hodge Lions Club. "I'm known as a hard, tough guy," Rupp said, "But, I don't care what they say as long as we win."

"It takes rugged individuals to get anywhere in sports," Rupp told his audience. "You must do it yourself."

The famous Kentucky mentor added that sports teach free enterprise. "In all the years that I've been at Kentucky," Rupp added in a bit of sarcasm, "we've never got any help from Washington."

"But sports have a lot to offer," Rupp went on. "It's better to have your boy drag in after practice every afternoon with a broken nose than to have him sneaking around the county in a cheap car and come home with a broken character."

"They criticize me," Rupp complained, "because I don't say 'It's not whether you lose or win the game that counts, but how you play.' That's not for me, it does make a difference.

"You send your kids to school to succeed," Rupp said to emphasize his point, "and it matters whether they pass or not."

"I don't travel a hundred or thousand miles in the snow because it doesn't matter. I go for one reason — to win."

"You had better believe it's hard to walk the length of the court to congratulate the other coach when you lose," Rupp went on, "but when I turn to leave, I say to myself, 'You old buzzard, wait until I meet you next time.' That's just the way I am."

"The success we've had at Kentucky," Rupp indicated, "was due to one thing — instilling the desire to succeed in the boys from the start."

"Sports give a boy a challenge," the coach asserted. "Herb Elliot, who once ran the fastest mile, was a thin, shy boy who walked with a limp, but he was determined to run the mile in less than four minutes, and because he was, he overcame his handicap. This was what I mean by a challenge in sports," Rupp said, "and if a boy has what it takes, he will respond to the challenge."

"A Kentucky montuain boy named Johnny Cox wouldn't go back to his home a failure," Rupp told his audience, "and because he wouldn't, became one of the university's all - time basketball greats."

Gary Black, second team All-Stater and first team All-District player on the Jonesboro team that had a 27-5 record was named the squad's "most valuable player." After the talk, Tiger basketball player Randy Ewing presented Rupp a gift on behalf of the team and had the coach autograph a basketball for the school's trophy case.

Special guests at the banquet were Athens Coach Jimmy Bates, and Trojan star Donny Henry; Ringgold's mentor Bob Corley and Redskin ace Barry Haynie, Denhigh and Bearcat guard Leon Barman Garner, coach at Ruston high and Bearcat guard Leon Barmore; and Louisiana Tech basketball Coach Cecil Crowley.

Ruston and Athens won state championships in their classes the last two years and Ringgold, while not winning the state crown this year, won it the two previous years. All three prep players we first team all-Staters and Haynie was the Ark-La-Tex athlete of the year.

Twins Earn Victory

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — The Minnesota Twins scored a 6-4 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Saturday when rookie second baseman Bernie Allen slammed a two-run double off the center field wall in the 10th inning.

Allen and Harmon Killebrew each accounted for three RBI with Killebrew's coming on a pair of home runs.

The Phillies had a line-up consisting mostly of rookies and newcomers to the squad and were further handicapped when forced to play without the guidance of Manager Gene Mauch.

Mauch was ejected from the game in the first inning when he had a slight disagreement with first base Umpire Ed Hurley. Coach Peanuts Lowry ran the Phillies for the remainder of the game.

Sammy White hit the only home run for the Phillies—a solo shot in the sixth inning when the Phils tied the game at 4-4.

STYRON TIES RECORD

Northeast State sprinter Dave Styron tied a Brown Stadium record when he ran the 220-yard dash in 21.4 in a triangular track meet here March 24.

The track record for the 220, run around a curve, was set in 1960 by Sid Garton of East Texas State.

RUNS IN THE FAMILY

Tommy Edmonson, star Northeast State pole vaulter, is the brother of Larry Edmonson, second baseman on the LSU baseball team. Tommy Edmonson, a freshman from Baton Rouge, won the vault in the college division of the Southwestern Recreation Meet this year with a 13-11 effort.

NEW SPORT

The Northeast team, coached by physical education instructor Barry Johnson, was victorious in its first meet, winning the team title in the Southern AAU novice division gymnastics championships here March 23.

SWIFT RISE

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — Dick Howser, shortstop with the Kansas City Athletics, was named the team's captain in his rookie year (1961).

BIRDIE TEBBETTS

Milwaukee Outfield Is Still Unset

(EDITORS —This is the 13th of 20 dispatches on the 1962 prospects of the major league baseball clubs).

By MILTON RICHMAN

BRADENTON, Fla. (UPI) — Look, ma, no outfield! So what can you expect from the Milwaukee Braves?

Not much.

The tipoff on the Braves situation is the fact that Hank Aaron is the only outfielder on the roster who is sure of a job. And even then there is some question whether he will play center field or right.

Unfortunately for Milwaukee, Aaron can't play both positions at the same time even though he hit 34 homers, drove in 120 runs and batted a healthy .327 last year.

Manager Birdie Tebbetts hopes that 23-year-old Mack Jones will win the center field job so Aaron can return to right field, the position he prefers. Jones batted .326 in 97 games at Louisville last season but only .231 in 28 games with the Braves.

Lee Maye, a .271 hitter with the Braves in 1961, is the left fielder. The other outfield candidates are rookies Howard Bedell, who hit .327 at Louisville, and Len Gabrielson, who batted .278 with the same club.

BRAVES LACK SPEED

Tebbetts, who left his front office job to replace Charlie Dressen as manager late last season, believes the prime reason for the Braves' failure to win the National League pennant since 1958 is a lack of speed. He says he'll emphasize it this year.

Birdie also plans to use everyone of his pitchers, with the exception of 41-year-old Warren Spahn, in relief if the occasion demands. So he says, anyway.

Spahn will be shooting for his seventh straight 20-victory season. He'll have to slow down sometime and if this happens to be the year, the Braves might finish even lower than the fourth place wind-up they managed last year.

Tebbetts thinks Span will be all right, though. The amazing lefty will take his regular starting turn along with Lew Burdette (18-11), Bob Buhl (9-10), Carlton Willey (6-12), and Bob Shaw, obtained during the winter from the Athletics, for whom he compiled a 12-14 record.

Tebbetts is expecting improvement from three of his younger pitchers, Tony Cloninger (7-2), Bob Hendley (5-7) and Don Nottebart (6-7), and he'd better get some improvement from his bullpen. Don McMahon (6-4) and Ron Piche (2-2) will work strictly in relief.

HAVE GOOD INFIELD

If Milwaukee's outfield were as good as its infield, most of the Braves' troubles would be over. Joe Adcock is at first base, Frank Bolling at second, Roy McMillan at shortstop and Eddie Mathews at third.

Adcock, still one of the better sluggers in the league at 34, hit 35 homers last year while driving in 108 runs and batting .285. Bolling and McMillan form one of the best double play combinations in the circuit, and Mathews can be counted on to come close to the 32 homers, 91 RBI's and .306 average he produced last season.

Aaron's younger brother, Rommie, who hit .299 at Austin; Lou Klimchock, acquired along with Shaw from the A's, and Amado Samuel, a .250 hitter with Louisville, all may be retained for utility purposes.

CATCHING IS STRONG

Like the infield, the catching is strong. Joe Torre already is being hailed by some as the No. 1 receiver in the league. He hit .342 at Louisville last year, then was brought up by the Braves and had 10 homers along with a .278 average.

Del Crandall, out most of last season with a shoulder ailment, appears almost completely recovered, and Tebbetts also thinks highly of still a third catcher on the roster, 27-year old Bob Uecker, who had a .309 average with Louisville.

IN PHYSICAL CHARACTERISTICS

Today's Great Homer Sluggers Much Alike

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

Today's great home run hitters of the major leagues are remarkably alike in age and physical characteristics, and remarkably unalike in personality and approach to the game of baseball.

A composite picture of the eight men in both leagues who hit 40 or more homers last year would show a sturdy slugger standing 6 feet, ½ inch, weighing 198 pounds, and 27 years and 3 months old.

The eight, with their home run totals, are Roger Maris, 61, and Mickey Mantle, 54, of the New York Yankees; Jim Gentile, 46, Baltimore Orioles; Orlando Cepeda, 46, and Willie Mays, 40, San Francisco Giants; Harmon Killebrew, 46, Minnesota Twins; and Rocky Colavito, 45, and Norm Cash, 41, Detroit Tigers.

That this is the era of the home run was amply shown by the interest generated last year in the duel between Maris and Mantle, culminating in Maris' feat of hitting 61 homers, most ever in a single season.

Of course, old timers insisted that this did not break the immortal Babe Ruth's record of 60 set in 1927, since Maris had the opportunity to play in 162 games resulting from the expansion of the American League to 10 teams. The schedule with eight teams in Ruth's day was 154.

The personalities of the eight home run hitters of today cover a wide spectrum. He's how they look:

MARIS—Suspicious of strangers, loyal to his friends, rather inarticulate, and at present the center of a dispute with some members of the press in which he was at least partly an innocent victim.

MANTLE — Much mellowed as compared to his attitude of five years ago, a fierce competitor, not given to philisophical dissertations.

KILLEBREW — The "All-American Boy" of the sluggers, an easy and friendly talker, with a great deal of homespun charm.

COLAVITO—A rival of Gentile in the good looks derby, intensely serious, proud but not overly so, and like Gentile and Killebrew an easy talker.

CASH—A newcomer to the inner circle of fame, and inclined to kid about it, intelligent and friendly.

CEPEDA — The baby of the bunch, who won't be 25 until Sept. 17, flamboyant, still groping his way in English.

MAYS—The "Say Hey" kid of baseball, as natural as a young colt, who despite his great record as hitter, fielder, and base runner hasn't quite come up to his full potential.

One thing seems assured—considering that Mays, the oldest of the group, is not yet 31, fans are in for a lot more home runs in the years to come.

Greatest interest in 1962 of course will focus on Maris and to a considerable extent on his teammate, Mantle. Both again will be under extreme pressure this year. Few baseball men are so rash as to predict that either or both will repeat their performances of 1961. In fact, most experts think that if each reaches 50 homers he will be doing very well indeed.

It is more than possible that with the spotlight on Maris and Mantle, the home run derby could be won by someone coming up fast on the outside.

For instance, there is Cepeda, whose home run production fluctuated around 25 for four years, and then shot up to 46 last year.

Or Gentile, who hit nearly twice as many of his 46 homers last year away from home as in Baltimore. The Baltimore park with its deep outfield has been altered slightly, and he may be able to raise his production there sufficiently to bring him into contention.

Or Killebrew, who achieved 46 homers despite the fact he was sidelined for two weeks last year with a pulled hamstring, and below par for three more.

Or Colavito, who seems to be on the way back from a poor showing in 1960, and who had in 1961 the best year of his career.

In addition, there's a half dozen men still active in baseball who have hit 40 or more at one point in their careers, and some of whom might do it again. These include Roy Sievers, now with the Phillies, who had 42 in 1957 and 27 last year; Ed Mathews of the Milwaukee Braves who had 47 in 1953 and 32 last year; Hank Aaron, also a Brave, who had 44 in 1957 and 34 last year; Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs, 29 last year but 47 in 1958; Duke Snider of the Los Angeles Dodgers now admittedly near the end of his career but capable of 16 homers in limited play in 1961, as compared to his high of 43 in 1956; and Gil Hodges, a former teammate of Snider now with the New York Mets, down to only eight last year as compared to a peak of 43 in 1956.

But in the final analysis, it probably will be one of the eight comparatively young sluggers who will go on to new glory.

It might be the biggest, Gentile, who stands 6-4 and weighs 215. Or it could be the smallest, Mays, a mere 180 at 5-11.

Whatever happens, it is a safe assumption that the spotlight in 1962 will continue to be squarely on home run hitting.

AT OZA PLANTATION

Field Trials End This Afternoon

The American Kennel Club Licensed Field Trial will come to a close today after one and a half stakes are completed this afternoon.

The Open All-Age stake is slated to get under way at 7:30 a.m. and will be completed today because it went unfinished Saturday.

Also scheduled to begin following the all-age open is the Amateur Stake, which is open to any retriever over six months of age but handled by an amateur.

The Derby Stake was completed Saturday with the number one position going to Petite Rouge, owned and handled by Johnie R. Cheney of Groves, Tex.

The trial is being held on the OZO plantation five miles south of Monroe on Highway 165 by the North Louisiana Retriever Club with licenses from AKC.

Schwarzer Ruede, handeled by Mrs. Logan H. Bagby, Jr., who owned the dog, won third place in the Derby Stake Saturday.

Three certificates of merit were awarded in the Derby. They went to: Katange Pepper, owned by Keith M. Barnett, of Minneapolis, Miss.; By-Jingo, onwed by Jack Finketstein, of Houston, Texas; and Tennant's Curly Boy, owned by S.G.E. Tennant, also of Houston.

C. A. McMahan, of New Orleans and a local man, T. D. Fortenberry, Jr., served as judges for the Derby.

The Derby was open to retrievers which are not over two years old. To place in the event a pup should have been able to walk at heel and sit steadily on the line until ordered to retrieve. However a controlled break would have been permitted if the dog is quickly brought under control by the handler.

Ridan Edges Cicada In Gulfstream

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Ridan and Cicada staged a spine-tingling stretch duel in the $125,800 Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park Saturday with Ridan the winner by a nose.

Admiral's Voyage was third and Doctor Hank K. finished fourth in the field of 10 colts and the filly, Cicada.

Stewards called for an inquiry after the two leaders battled battled through the 941-foot-long stretch with Ridan nosing out the Meadow Stable's swift Cicada in the final jump.

The results and the race were declared official 10 minutes later. It was the third of four $100,000 races in Florida this winter to end in an inquiry.

Sunrise County was disqualified after he ran very wide in the stretch during the Flamingo Stakes. Yorky was disqualified from the first place in the Gulfstream Park Handicap two weeks ago for bearing in on Jay Fox.

Ridan, favorite with the more than 25,000 on hand, paid $4.70, $3 and $2.30. Cicada paid $3.70 and $2.20. Admiral's Voyage paid $3.

Fractional times were: 23 1-5 :46 3-5, 1:10 4-5, 1:37 and 1:50 2-5, compared with the derby record of 1:46 4-5 set by Gen. Duke in 1957.

Ridan, owned by Mrs. Moody Jolley and ridden by Manuel Ycaza, was fourth when he moved past the clubhouse. He took over second after a half-mile and stayed there until he caught Cicada in the stretch.

Puss N Boots, an erratic colt, leaped into the lead but Cicada moved smartly and was second after the first quarter-mile, easily passing Puss N Boots before they reached the half-mile mark.

Under Braulio Baeza, the Meadow Stable's fine filly stretched her margin to four lengths after 6 furlongs, with Ridan second.

Sharp Count was third at that point and Admiral's Voyage, winner of the Louisiana Derby moved from sixth to fourth and then third in the stretch run.

Ridan was on the outside coming down the stretch, and Cicada stayed on the rail. Ridan appeared to come in on Cicada as they battled head and head toward the finish.

It was six lengths back to Admiral's Voyage, who was a head in front of Doctor Hank K.

Ycaza said, "Cicada came out to hit me. My horse ran straight all through the stretch."

But Willie Shoemaker had a different version of his mount's race. He said Cicada was a little rank (moody) going along the back stretch.

TIED WITH RUDOLPH, MAXWELL

Ferrier Gets Back On Top At Azalea

By KEN ALYTA

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP) — First round leader Jim Ferrier leaped back from third position into a tie for the 54-hole lead Saturday in the $20,000 Azalea Open Golf Tournament with Mason Rudolph and Billy Maxwell.

Their 209 totals, 7-under-par, put them a stroke ahead of Dave Marr and two up on Tommy Jacobs going into Sunday's final round.

Maxwell and Rudolph each shot 69, lowest round of a day in which a steady 20-mile per hour southerly wind swept the Cape Fear Country Club course.

Only 16 of the 77 players bettered par 72 and 10 others equalled it. Ferrier shot a 70 round to move into the thick of the scamble for the top money of $2,800 awaiting the winner. In the event of a tie, an 18-hole playoff will be held Monday.

Thirty-six hole leader Jay Hebert slipped to 75 for a 212 total and a four-way tie for sixth place with Jerry Magee, Howie Johnson and Mac Main.

Ferrier was off winging with a 30-foot birdie putt on the first hole, but missed greens cost him bogeys on Nos. 4 and 5. He birdied the seventh from 15 feet to turn in par 36. A great chip from 25 yards off the green set up a 2½ foot par three putt on No. 10.

"That started me off," he noted. From that point he parred seven holes and birdied two—No. 14 from 10 feet and 15 from 3½. Maxwell had a scrambling front nine, three birdies, three pars and three bogeys. "But I was right proud of that back nine 33," said the little Texan.

Rudolph used only 38 putts, three less than Ferrier, and missed only three greens. The Clarksville, Tenn., native had a 35-34 card.

U.S. Open Champion Gene Littler, a stroke back of Hebert after 36 holes, bogeyed two of the first three holes and shot 76 to drop five shots off the pace.

'Ageless' Archie Is Seeking New Target For Fists

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Ageless Archie Moore sought a new target for his punishing fists Saturday after crumbling the immediate heavyweight title ambitions of the No. 3 contender, Alejandro Lavorante.

Moore, at 45 a wonder of the boxing world, hammered the Argentine giant mercilessly Friday night at the Sports Arena, then knocked him out 37 seconds into the 10th and final round.

Lavorante, carried out on a stretcher but up and about later, recuperated Saturday. His manager said he was "all right" but planned further medical checks.

Moore, the confident old mongoose, meanwhile, cocked his eye on one of these:

1. Floyd Patterson, world heavyweight champion.

2. Sonny Liston, No. 1 contender for Patterson's crown.

3. Gene Fullmer, recognized by the National Boxing Association as middleweight champion. Moore, recognized as light-heavyweight champion in California and parts of Europe, might want the bout in his home town, San Diego.

4. Heavyweight Ingemar Johannsen, in Sweden.

Moore also said he'd consider an offer received from a Honolulu promoter after Friday night's bout — to fight Bobo Olson for $60,000 plus 60 per cent of the gate. Olson is onetime middleweight champion trying a comeback as a light heavyweight.

Lavorante, 211, was staggered several times in the eighth and ninth rounds and in the 10th sagged against the ropes. Referee Tommy Hart stopped the fight, Lavorante stumbled to his corner, then slumped from his stool to the floor.

Moore, 197, said later all Lavorante needs is experience.

"I could take him to my salt mines and make a champion of him in two years," Moore said, referring to his training camp.

What about Patterson or Liston? "I think I could beat either one of them. I am the superior fighter. I am the elder statesman."

One thing's sure, Moore says: He has no intentions of retiring.

"The boys shouldn't be worrying about my gray hair," he remarked in a few thousand words. "They should be worrying about these gray fists."

Lavorante, his hopes for a shot at the world heavyweight title darkened, slipped into seclusion Saturday.

Pinky George, Lavorante's manager, said the boxer left his hotel room before George arose Saturday morning, ate nearby, then departed. He left word he was going to the beach and "wanted to get away from it all," George said.

West Monroe Takes Fourth At Alexandria

ALEXANDRIA (Special)—West Monroe's thinclads chalked up fourth place here yesterday, with 34 points, at the Bolton relays. Byrd captured first place with 81½ points, while Port Arthur, Tex. was second with 44 and 5-6, and Baton Rouge was third with 42½.

The Rebels, who had only six men entered in the meet, added special luster to their fourth place standings by breaking three meet records and tying another.

Cline Avetitte, who along with Charlie Van Zile tied the 100-yard-dash meet record of 10-1, took top honors in the 440-yard run with a meet-breaking time of 50.4.

Other point getters for the Rebels were Ray Alexander who took fifth in the javelin with a toss of 155 feet, and the 440-yard relay team who won fifth.

Next action for the West Monroe team will be next Friday in Jonesboro at the Jonesboro relays.

GOLF RECORD

DENVER (UPI) — The lowest 18-hole round shot on the 1961 Professional Golfers Association tournament circuit was a 61 by Art Wall Jr. on the second round of the Denver Open.

Kilmore Wins Grand National Steeplechase

AINTREE, England (AP) — Kilmore shot into the lead a fence from home Saturday and romped away to a 10-length victory while making the Grand National Steeplechase a triumph for old-oldsters.

The winner, a 28-1 betting shot, was the first 12-year-old horse to capture the world's most famous jumping race in 39 years. The first Irish Hospital Sweepstakes of the year was based on the result.

OPTIMISM BLOOMING

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —The time has come to assess the 1962 rookie crop with opening day just ahead and optimism blooming in 20 big league camps.

This is the riskiest business of all, more difficult than trying to put the finger on the potential pennant winner in the ever-changing National League.

A year ago Don Schwall, who was to be the American League rookie of the year, was not even on the Boston Red Sox roster. He didn't come up from the Seattle farm until mid-May. Billy Williams, the National League winner in '61, was on the Chicago Cubs' roster but he didn't break into the line-up as a regular until June.

It is quite probable that the '62 winners also are hiding on some minor league roster, waiting a final decision on advancement to the big show.

On the basis of what has been seen in Florida and the information drifting in from Arizona and California, the best newcomer in the American League appears to be John (Boog) Powell of the Baltimore Orioles.

All in all, the '62 crop looks better than the '61 rookies at this same stage of the game. Willie Davis of Los Angeles and Carl Yastrzemski of Boston were getting the big whirl at this time last spring. Davis wound up hitting .278 and Yastrzemski, billed as "the new Ted Williams" batted .266. Both Davis and Yastrzemski, however, showed great promise for the future.

Powell, a 20-year-old Floridian out of Key West High School, had to learn a new position to make the club. Groomed as a first baseman, he had to shift to the outfield when Jim Gentile established himself as a home run slugger.

Baltimore's prize rookie was assigned the left field job the first day he reported to the Orioles' camp at Miami. Although his fielding is a bit shoddy, his bat has more than made up for that. Until he was sidelined due to a pulled shoulder muscle, he was hitting .350. One spring day in Tampa he hit six straight batting practice pitches over the right field fence.

You can't miss Powell. He is a 6-3, 235-pound brute with a powerful left-handed swing. This will be his fourth year as a pro, moving up the ladder from Bluefield after his graduation from high school in June, 1959, to Fox Cities and Rochester. He couldn't get a loud foul in Rochester last spring but wound up with a .321 average, 32 home runs and 92 runs batted in.

The first time he saw Powell, former manager Paul Richards said, "In five or six years he will be one of the most devastating hitters in the American League." Manager Billy Hitchock and the Oriole brass are convinced he is ready, and will go along with him even if he has his usual slow start in early season. With Powell hitting No. 3 and Gentile No. 4, the Orioles hope to establish some long-needed punch in their line-up.

In addition to Washburn, the Cards are counting on Julio Gotay, who had previous trials, as their regular shortstop.

The New York Yankees' plan to start one of two rookies at shortstop in place of Tony Kubek, still in the Army. Phil Linz has been hitting for a slightly better average but Tom Tresh has shown more power. The survivor of this bitter competition could well be the man to challenge Powell for the rookie honors.

Stiff competition for rookie honors may come from a pair with the Los Angeles Angels. Catcher Bob Ridgers, up from Dallas-Fort Worth with gaudy recommendations, has been impressive. So has Jim Fregosi, another Dallas product, who may have won the regular shortstop job on his flashy fielding.

Cleveland has a highly-touted young pitcher in Sam McDowell, a lefty with a 13-10 record as Salt Lake City. Although McDowell was hit hard by the Giants in his first exhibition start, Manager Mel McGaha is going to give him every chance. McDowell's problem is control. Ty Cline, a 22-year-old outfielder, is in line for the center field job and leadoff position.

Detroit's camp has a march sensation in Purnal Goldy, an outfielder who hit some tape measure home runs. However, breaking into an outfield that includes Rocky Colavito, Al Kaline and Bill Bruton is too much to ask. He might stay as an extra man. Bill Freehan, a $125,000 bonus catcher, looks like a sure taing for the future but not this year.

Bernie Allen, the ex-Purdue quarterback, has been a surprise in the Minnesota Twins' camp, giving Billy Martin a wrestle for the second base job.

Joel Horlen, a 12-game winner at San Diego, is supposed to be a starter for the Chicago White Sox although he has not been too impressive in the exhibitions. Mike Hershberger, an outfielder with a .310 average at San Diego, must beat out Al Smith, or Floyd Robinson.

The best of the new boys at Washington is Jim Hannan, a former Notre Dame man, who was drafted from the class D New York-Pennsylvania League last year after a 17-7 season at Olean. Hannan, a right-hander, may need more seasoning. Catcher Ken Retzer appears to have made the club.

Boston hit the rookie jackpot last year with Chuck Schilling, Schwall and Yastrzemski. Bob Tillman and Don Gile, two rookie right-handed hitters, are fighting for jobs while the Sox search for more right-handed power.

Rookies Manny Jimenez and Jose Tartabull may make it in the Kansas City outfield. Of the new pitchers John Wyatt, Dan Osinski and Dave Wichersham, who appeared in 17 games last year, may help Hank Bauer's thin staff.

When the Cardinals talk guardedly of being a pennant contender this year, they are counting heavily on Washburn, a most impressive pitcher who broke in with two fine starting jobs last fall.

"Washburn is one of the finest young pitchers I have seen come up to the majors in many years," said Manager Johnny Keane. "His control is phenomenal."

Washburn, 23, has even less pro experience than Powell. A former star at Whitworth College of Spokane, Wash., he showed promise at Rochester in 1960, and led the International League in victories and earned run average with 2.34 last season when he compiled a 16-9 record with Charleston.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Phillies have a great prospect in right fielder Ted Savage, a 25-year-old right-handed hitter. Savage was called the most exciting player in the International League since Jackie Robinson and walks. H was voted the International's most valuable player.

Milwaukee hopes to fit Howie Bedell into its renovated outfield. The 26-year-old rookie hit safely in 43 consecutive games at Louisville, where he batted .327. Mack (The Knife) Jones, another Louisville outfielder, also has impressed this spring as a home run slugger but is a somehwat erratic hitter. Infielders Tommy Aaron, Amade Samuel and Denis Monke probably will stick.

Cincinnati has great hopes for Sammy Ellis, at Columbia, S.C., fresh out of Mississippi State. Tommy Harper, up from Topeka, has been getting a shot at Gene Freese's third base job, along with Cliff Cook, a 32-home run thumper at Indianapolis.

The Chicago Cubs' coaching staff is giving Ken Hubbs a good trial as the regular second baseman and Lou Brock, who hit .361 at St. Paul, has been playing center field.

As usual, the Los Angeles Dodgers are loaded with bright new faces. Second baseman Larry Burright who hit .291 at Atlanta, may win the second base job. Pitcher Joe Moeller, a 20-game winner in his first year out at Reno, Greenville and Spokane, is a borderline case for '62.

Gaylord Perry, a 16-game winner at Tacoma expected to step into a regular job with the San Francisco Giants, has been wild. Manuel Mota, moved up from Tacoma, has been a surprise with the bat. Charlie Hiller, a '61 rookie back for another try, is a key man at second base.

Bob Veale, a 6-6 lefty with a blazing fast ball, has a good chance to make the Pittsburgh staff. Outfielder - first baseman Donn Clendenon appears to be set for a utility role and Manager Danny Murtaugh has high hopes for outfielder Willie Stargell for the future if not for '62. Catcher Orlando McFarlene probably will make the club due to Smoky Burgess' illness.

Foreign Invasion Hits All-Time Peak In 1962

NEW YORK (UPI) —The foreign invasion of major league baseball reaches an all-time peak in 1962.

California still leads the nation in sending its native sons to the majors but for the first time in history there were more foreign-born players on spring rosters than there were natives of any other state.

Reporting at the 20 training camps this spring were 75 Californians, divided almost equally between the two major leagues. There were 71 born outside the United States, giving the "invaders" a wide edge over the second place American state—Pennsylvania, with 59.

They came from Cuba (27), the Dominican Republic (12), Puerto Rico (11), Canada (8), Venezuela (4), the Virgin Islands (3), Panama (2), and one each from Italy, Poland, the Bahamas and Nicaragua.

Among the 50 United States, Alaska, Hawaii and Nevada failed to provide at least one representative but Maine, New Hampshire, New Mexico, both Dakotas, Utah, Vermont and Wyoming got there with one man each.

THE TURKEY SEASON

If you're a novice turkey hunter, then it's too late to prepare yourself for that grand ole bird, because the gobbler season is just six days away. It opens next Saturday.

Gobblers are the most wary of all North American game. They were born to be shy even when there's a hen available. A gobbler is bold only when you're on a deer stand.

Because of the bird's nature, turkey hunting requires more skill than any of the hunts, since calling a gobbler within gun range is an art within itself.

Louisiana's 1962 turkey season will depend on two principal factors. While the population has increased considerably, it won't be a cinch to kill a gobbler.

The most important factors in the coming season will be the weather and the number of people in the woods yelping at each other while the birds steal away.

A cold snap or rain or extremely high winds can ruin anybody's turkey hunt. This is the mating season for the turkey family and unless conditions are right the hunter simply can't hear the males gobbling.

But on a brisk spring morning when the woods are still and the leaves are damp, a gobbler yodling the turkey love call will silence the songbirds and send the owls home.

The season opening next Saturday will run through April 15 or nine days including two complete weekends. Fourteen Louisiana parishes will have a season, including parts of seven in our area:

Union, Morehouse, Madison, Franklin, Catahoula, Concordia, and Tensas.

The Chicago Mill Game Management Area, located in Madison, Tensas and Franklin, again will attract most of the hunters, who must obtain a written permit before entering the area.

Hunters can obtain a permit by writing the Ferriday office of the Louisiana Wild Life & Fisheries Commission. Hunters also should remember that turkey hunting requires a big game license with a turkey tag.

If you have bought a big game license but do not have the tag, then contact the nearest sheriff's department. And in case you're lucky enough to bag a gobbler, contact a biologist or a game warden so a check of the bird can be made.

In a nutshell, the regulations on turkey hunting call for shotguns only (no rifles), still hunting only (no dogs), and only one gobbler per hunter during the entire season. Make certain the turkey you sight has a beard.

And don't shoot at sound only. The yelp you hear could be a man.

DOGS, RECOGNITION

Two events on the outdoor scene in the area this week are worthy of mentioning here.

If you like to watch good dogs work, then the retriever trial sponsored by the North Louisiana Retriever Club south of town is well worth your while.

We were down for the opening and weren't disappointed one bit. The local club has brought in some of the finest dogs in the country. That's at the OZO Plantation five miles south of Monroe on U. S. 165 with signs marking the way.

The trial folks will be glad to have you and it won't cost a cent.

Meantime, it was a good thing when the wildlife commission this week recognized two industries that have extended a sympathic ear to sportsmen for a long time now.

Olin of West Monroe and IP of Bastrop received certificates of recognition for permitting the public to use their lands for outdoor recreation.

This recognition program is a new one and the commission did well by selecting two industries close to home.

LITTLE MAN'S CORNER

The fishing was fair and the little men made news afield in the first week of the year that acted like spring until Friday.

Two local anglers, Jack Pfrimmer and Doug Davis, set out a trotline in Bayou DeSiard along in the area of the Midway Dam. They checked it out the other day and pulled up a 60-pound turtle.

From Oak Grove, Orlando Hamilton Jr., according to Steve Harmon, who is editor of the Louisiana Conservationist, has volunteered the services of a group of 'rednecks" to kill nutria in South Louisiana.

Hamilton wrote Harmon a letter explaining that some hunters around Oak Grove would like to assist with ridding the marshes of nutria and would drive down to the Cajun country to do the job if they knew where to go.

Another Oak Grove sportsman, P. R. Saxton, landed 16 white perch at Gassaway. Bass fishing in Lake Providence hasn't been bad. Dr. W. A. Harris and David Harvey landed six on a Mirrow Lure.

Dr. Harris and his four-year-old son caught 10 before work one morning.

Others who have landed nice bass include Charley Lee King, W. P. Rushing and Bill Shirey.

If you plan to fish for bass, try worms, - regular dirt worms, and shiners. They seem to be catching more bass than any of the artificial lures at the present.

At Saline Lake in Winn Parish, two Texas fishermen, Jess Turner and Carey Williams, landed the limit of bass. Bass fishing there is fair.

And King's Dump in Franklin Parish has picked up. George Hill landed 17 large specs. Nick Lawson, fishing with crickets, caught 23 large bluegills in Lake St. Joseph.

Spec fishing has been good at Black Bayou. Pug Mills has been catching the limit and Ray Wright landed a nice string one day too. The Bill Minors have been giving their attention to frog gigging. Mrs. Minor is the paddler and the hunter. Bill goes along for the ride.

Straying for a moment, a recored number of 38 whooping cranes is wintering at the Arkansas National Wildlife Refuge on the Texas coast. This is two more than the 1961 record.

In addition to the 38 wild whoopers there are seven in captivity—six in the New Orleans zoo and one in San Antonio.

Bussey Brake has been the spot for fishermen in the northeast area. Spec fishermen having good luck include J. M. Musgrove, Mrs. W. R. Griffin, Mrs. R. A. Carpenter, C. J. Mosely, Frank Block and John Stamper, plus numerous others

BY WILD LIFE COMMISSION

Industries Recognized For Wildlife Service

Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation and International Paper Co. have been cited by the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission for their contributions to wildlife.

The industries were recognized by the commission at a New Orleans meeting last Tuesday for "great public service in the field of outdoor recreation and conservation of forests, fields and streams upon which the renewable supply of wildlife is so dependent."

Each of the companies has over 400,000 acres available to public recreation. Olin sponsors the FAIR program while International Paper Co. is responsible for Wham Brake and Bussey.

Certificates of recognition were received by Travis MacClendon, Olin woodlands manger, of Monroe and Joseph E. Pate, Bastrop mill manager for IP, of Bastrop.

Director L. D. Young said, "Presentation of the two certificates initiated a commission program of expressing public appreciation of policy by industry and private landowners of leaving private lands open to the public for hunting and fishing, boating and camping, and similar outdoor activities."

He pointed out that additional awards would be made to other companies and private interests in the near future.

"Tremendous benefits come from this open door policy on the part of both corporate and private interests," Young said, "and it is the plan of the commission to publicly commend this growing attitude of landowners, both large and small."

Erle Barham, Oak Ridge, Louisiana, chairman of the Louisiana Wildlife Federations' FAIR (Federation and Industry Recreation) program was present at the Commission at a meeting last year and suggested recognition of industrial and private landowners participating in this state wide program.

Advance Sales Big For Houston, Mets

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI)— Sports of all sorts:

Both the new Houston Colts and New York Mets have dandy advance sales for their inaugural seasons in the National League . . . The Mets have sold more boxes than the old Giants ever did in their New York days and are finding tremendous interest among old fans who haven't had a look at their one - time National League darlings (Giants and Dodgers) since the westward move in 1958 . . . The Colts reports more than 3,400 box seats already sold, meaning a gate of 261,000 in the bag before opening day.

The nation's jockeys, through the jockey's guild, paid out $110,777.57 last year to help ailing, injured and flat broke riders who were having tough time making ends meet . . . more than 100 jocks received aid of one sort or another from a fund set up by active riders who donate one day's earnings a year.

Despite financial headaches involved, more new golf courses (323) were opened in 1961 than any year in history . . . National Golf Foundation reports 6,623 are ready for play this spring with a record 400 more in the works for later this year or '63 delivery.

Trouble is, there also are more golfers than ever before . . . Traffic jams around first tees are terrific in many areas and the scramble for starting times is a weekend chore even the hardiest golf buff dreads.

Your wrinkles are showing if you remember the "wild men of Borneo" who once were featured at every circus sideshow and touring carnival . . . Descendents of those "wild men" whose chief sport was head-hunting now are taking up track and field and some have entered the British Commonwealth games at Perth, Australia next fall.

Another time flies note: Tallest man on Michigan State's basketball team in 1939 was six feet even . . . shortest in '62 was 6-1.

Kyle Rote, star New York Giants football end, is starting his third radio show on a New York station . . . He'll give frequent 90-second capsule comments daily during a morning disc jockey show from 6:30-9 a.m.

Georgia Tech football players got in shape for spring practice by using a streamlined weight-lifting system devised by Olympic lift coach Bob Hoffman . . . Takes only about two minutes a day, which is almost as long as it takes to pronounce the system—"isometric contraction."

Sponsors of the 62nd U.S. Open golf championship at Oakmont, Pa., have parking space for 10,000 cars on the club's east course . . . Presumably they'll also have a flock of tow trucks handy in case of a hard rain. . . Our family buggy almost buried itself in the mud trying to get out of a similar area during the '59 Open at Mamaroneck, N.Y.

Should be a bunch of "rich" horses in this year's Kentucky Derby . . . The 139 eligibles earned a total of $3,008,945 as two year olds last season.

Bobby Gleason, who runs a gym where boxers train, has a nifty sideline . . . He also operates a travel agency, specializing in arranging transportation for globe-trotting fighters.

Cards Way Overdue For Winning Year

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — The St. Louis Cardinals are way overdue and this could be the year they'll make it, principally because no one excepts them to do so.

The last time the Cardinals won the National League pennant was 1946. They finished fifth last year and certainly don't look like a winner now.

Manager Johnny Keane is concerned about two positions, shortstop and catching. The Cincinnati Reds were more or less in the same predicament last spring and surprised everyone by coming on to win. It's entirely possible the Cards could do the same thing this year.

Their pitching should be better for one thing. Larry Jackson, who suffered a broken jaw last spring, should improve on his 14-11 record of last year. Relief ace Lindy McDaniel slipped to 10-6 last season and is a better pitcher than that. Then there's rookie right-hander Ray Washburn, who had a 16-9 record at Charleston and has looked good this spring.

Another big plus for the Cardinals is the addition of hustling Minnie Minoso in left field. Minoso, obtained from the White Sox for Joe Cunningham, could supply the spark that the Cardinals have been missing for longer than they care to remember.

"I think we're going to have enough power with fellows like Ken Boyer, Bill White, Stan Musial and Minoso," says Keane, "and our pitching is much stronger than it was a year ago. My only two concerns are shortstop and catching. But our situation isn't exactly desperate at either spot."

Keane can always fall back on veteran Alex Grammas at shortstop. He's hoping, however, that one of two youngsters, Julio Gotay or Gerry Buchek, show enough to ease the problem at the position. Gotay hit .307 at Charleston and Buchek .277 at Portland.

The loss of Hal Smith behind the plate because of a heart condition can't be compensated for overnight. Gene Oliver, who hit .302 with Portland and .269 with the Cards, will be the No. 1 receiver, with Carl Sawatski and possibly Jim Schaffer in reserve.

White, who hit 20 homers and had 90 RBI's last season while batting a consistent .286, is back at first base. Big Frank Leja, another first baseman who belted 30 homers in the International League, also may be kept for utility duty.

Julian Javier (.279) is at second and the powerful Boyer at third. Boyer was a positive menace with the bat last year, hitting .329 while collecting 24 homers and 5 runs batted in.

The regular outfield will have Minoso in left, fleet Curt Flood, who hit .322, in center, and Musial in right. Flood already has brought his track shoes because he knows he will have to do a lot of running between the 41-year-old Musial and the 39-year-old Minoso. Charlie James, Carl Warwick and Don Landrum are the spare outfielders.

Delta League's Officials Request Meeting Tuesday

Officials of the newly formed Delta baseball league have called a meeting for Tuesday at 7 p.m. at Olin Kraft cafe in West Monroe.

Managers or representatives from the eight teams participating are urged to attend this meeting. This is the last scheduled meeting before the beginning of the regular season.

A league president will be named at the session, also decisions will be made concerning starting dates, colors of uniforms and each team's home park.

Holly Ridge Sets Tourney Games Thursday Night

HOLLY RIDGE (Special) — Holly Ridge's Independent Basketball Tournament is scheduled to be played here April 5-7, with the deadline for teams to enter set for noon Monday.

Eight teams have already entered and posted the $10 entry fee. They include, McGuffee Construction Company, Head Construction Company, Eros Independents Epps Independents, Linville Creasote Company, Northeast Independents, and Holly Ridge Independents.

Officials of the tourney said Saturday that no college player would be eligible to play in the event. All interested teams should contact the Holly Ridge High School before noon Monday.

JOHNSON RANKED

Lanny Johnson, Northeast State's all-star cager, ranked 60th in scoring in the nation the past season, according to NAIA statistics.

Johnson, a senior from Monroe, averaged 21.3 pionts a game for the full season and 22.2 in Gulf States Conference games, leading the league in scoring for the second straight year.

Defense Problem For Razorbacks' Baseball Team

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., (Special) — Defensive problems continue to plague the Razorback baseball team — and the Porkers are heading north for even more trouble. Arkansas opens a two-game series against the tough Missouri Tigers at Columbia on Monday and Tuesday.

A two-out single in the final inning saved the Razorbacks from losing a three-game series to Buena Vista of Storm Lake, Iowa, last week — and Coach Bill Ferrell saw his defensive worries mount. His 1962 team committed 13 errors in the series -most of them by an infield which still remains unsettled.

About the only thing consistent is the hitting of senior Jerry Carlton. After two years of leading the Razorbacks at the plate (.342 and .375 averages), the Sheridan shortstop has cracked three home runs and is sporting a .455 average. Promising newcomer Marl Carter of Lake City has gone four for seven, a .571 average and appears to be steady at third base.

Ferrell's concern is centered at first base where, because of injury, he's forced to use outfielder Darrell Williams at a position unfamiliar to the Fort Smith senior. It's possible the Razorback coach will make a change for the Tiger series.

The pitching staff, if not always steady, has been satisfactory and Ferrell believes will shape - up into a sound group. Soph Jackie Whillock will probably get the first call Monday but Ferrell intends to use his entire staff in the series if necessary. One other change anticipated could send Billy Joe Moody to the catching spot to strengthen the position defensively.

BUSINESS REGULATIONS

JFK Plan May Stir Hot Battle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Buried in President Kennedy's bill of rights for consumers is a proposal which could stir one of the hottest fights in Congress.

A UPI reporter who checked into it even before it was presented to Congress, reported tempers already are warming up and it could "ignite the loudest dispute in years over federal regulation of business."

The proposal isn't new, and it is a simple one: To give the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) power to issue what lawyers call "cease and desist orders."

It was endorsed by the President last year but his more recent strong support for it in his consumer message is bound to intensify and fight.

Cease and desist may be but simple orders from the FTC but their effect is far from simple.

President Kennedy said they are needed so the government can "lock the barn door" before small business is driven to the wall and consumers are hurt by deceptive trade practices.

Supporters of the proposal argue this way:

They say that some of the cases before the FTC are so complicated it takes years for the commission to decide them and then years more for the courts to rule whether the commission was right or wrong. By then, in some cases, the damage has been done and can't be repaired.

For example, if a big firm sets out to drive some small businesses to the wall or swallow them up, small firms may have vanished from the earth, with no chance of putting them back in business again, before a final FTC decision can be made.

Similarly, a firm may be indulging in some deceptive trade practice which is costing consumers millions. Before the practice can be stopped under present law, the firm has made its pile and there's no way for consumers to get refunds.

The cease and desist orders would be issued to direct a firm to stop these supposedly illegal practices immediately, pending a final FTC decision. Those supporting the power say it would be used sparingly—only where damage would be so great that it could not be repaired.

They also argue that the defendant still would have sufficient due process to protect this rights. He would first have to get a hearing before the FTC; he then could appeal the order to the courts; or he could refuse to obey the order and force the government to go to court to make him obey.

However, the kind of testimony which would be required under that kind of a court case is vastly different than if it had come before a court without a cease and desist order. Under the proposed law the court would not hear the merits of the trade practice itself, but merely whether the FTC had followed the law in imposing the cease and desist order, and had followed it without being capricious.

Opponents argue this way:

The new power would make the FTC prosecutor, judge and jury, all rolled into one. They ask—what happens to the rights of a businessman whose trade practice has been stopped by the FTC but who wins out finally in the courts? He can't sue the government for damages but the losses could be great. Lowell Mason, a former federal trade commissioner now practicing law here, said it would represent an "off with their heads" attitude toward business.

Opponents further argue that it would require the accused person to prove his innocence, instead of having the government prove his guilt.

Round-Up Slated By College Place

Round-up day is scheduled from 1 p.m. until 2 p.m. Wednesday at College place Baptist Church Kindergarten, 301 Sherrouse, Ave., according to Mrs. L. D. Allen, Jr., principal.

Mrs. Allen said children must have been born in 1957 to be eligible.

OBSERVING THE 60th wedding anniversary recently were Mr. and Mrs. William L. Perce, 2114 Gordon Avenue, Monroe. The couple were joined at a dinner by their children, Robert Perce, Mrs. R. E. Bedwell and Mrs. John Reitzell, and their families, all of Monroe.

KISS, DANCE IN CLUB

'Liz, Burton Fuel Romance Reports

ROME (AP)—Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton—"Cleopatra" and "Mark Antony" — night-clubbed Saturday on Rome's Via Veneto, adding fuel to a romantic blaze that is shooting off sparks on two continents.

A witness of the postmidnight visit on the town said they "held hands, danced and kissed many times."

A spokesman who had been asked for a reply to Fisher's New York statement, said at the end of the day: "I can't get anything to say here."

Suggestions that the whole thing might be a masterpiece of public relations for the film now before the cameras drew only chuckles.

Miss Taylor said nothing. But she and Shakespearean actor Burton, who have been seen together frequently off the set in recent weeks, went night-clubbing.

Saturday, the Italian press splashed pictures, together with one of Fisher, all over the front pages, almost pushing out other news. The most published picture showed Miss Taylor, smiling delightedly, holding Burton by the arm. He too was smiling, but not so broadly.

Umberto Spagna, one of Rome's corps of persistent free-lance photographers who haunt the night spots, gave this account of Miss Taylor's and Burton's stay at Bricktop's, one of Rome's noted night spots.

"I went to Bricktop's, but was told to leave my camera at the entrance. I went to the bar. I saw them (Miss Taylor and Burton) kissing each other many times. They danced, and they always held hands.

Monroe Morning World

April

Spring's arrival in a panorama of colorful blossoms provides a perfect setting for outdoor pleasures. Taking advantage of the season against a background of dogwood blooms are Mrs. Cotham Haddad, and children, from left to right, Joseph, Deborah, Billy and Sadie, who are pictured on the patio of their home, overlooking the bayou, at 112 Country Club Road.

Engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Alice Patricia Guyton to Hillman Huddleston Levie of Sarepta, is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don F. Guyton of this city. The future bridegroom is the son of Mrs. L. O. Fisher of Monroe and the late W. T. Levie of Birmingham, Ala., and stepson of L. O. Fisher of this city. The wedding will be an event of June 1 at 7 p.m. in College Place Baptist Church.

Sunday, April 15 is the date chosen by Miss Lillie Lucas, 3900 Spurgeon, and Daryl J. Simmons, Northeast Louisiana State College, for their wedding which will be solemnized at 3 p.m. in College Place Baptist Church by Rev. T. Earl Ogg. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. J. S. Lucas of Bastrop and the late Mr. Lucas. Parents of Mr. Simmons are Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Simmons of DeRidder.

Members of the "high-chair set" Stewart and Caroline Kitts of Indianapolis, Indiana, are pictured with their grandmother, Mrs. M. C. Wilson, 1049 Park Avenue, in whose home they are visiting while their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Kitts are on tour with the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra. Mr. Kitts is the son of Mrs. Wilson.

Announcement is made today by Mr. and Mrs. Charles William Gallman of Rayville, of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Tamira, to Stuart Allen Dyer. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Dyer, also of Rayville. The wedding will be solemnized Saturday, June 2 in the First Methodist Church of Rayville, at 6 p.m.

On Dit'

by Denise

Spring has been so glorious of late that even real house-bound types are inspired to get out and dig in the dirt. If results can be as lovely as this season's dogwood trees and azalea blossoms, leave us all grab up the old shovel and have at it with gusto.

Off to revel in that grandest (so they say) of seasons, April in Paris, are the JOHN SHERROUSES, JR., and the HENRY BIEDENHARNS, JR., who left on Wednesday for a month abroad. Today they are on the high seas aboard the S. S. France.

Prior to their departure, these two couples, together with the ALLEN BARHAMS, were named guests of honor at a Bon Voyage party last Saturday night. Jane and Allen left on Thursday for a Caribbean cruise.

The party was held in the CLAY WILSON home on Pargoud boulevard, with the H. W. M'SHERRYS and the BURT SPERRYS co - hosts with the Wilsons. Travel posters were used throughout the house, which was converted to a cruise ship with signs reading "Embark Here"; "Promenade Deck"; "Life Preservers Here"; and so on . . . Going away presents for the travelers included sacks of Confederate money and old coats "custom made" with tiny pockets sewn to the lining.

Twenty - two guests were seated at individual tables for steak dinner. Centering the "captain's table" was a tall candelabra from which strings a-flutter with pennants spelling "Bon Voyage" stretched to table corners.

Birthdays provide most excellent reasons for parties. JOYCE KELLOGG invited friends to drop by Friday night in celebration of husband DICK's natal day. Particularly lovely spring flowers were seen at this affair. In the entrance hall, Joyce used a pair of silver wine coolers filled with lavender tulips, pink stock, wisteria, fuchia and purple azaleas, and variegated peach blossoms. These colors were repeated in the arrangement placed on the living room piano, with pink dogwood and wisteria in a blue Chinese vase.

Dining room decorations were all in white and green. In the center of the table, a crystal and silver epergne held a green and white birthday cake, encircled with white chrysanthemums and lilies. Tall white candles burned in branched candlesticks at each end of the table. Included on the buffet menu were shrimp, ham, turkey, Swedish meatballs, and raw cauliflowerets with cheese dip.

This party was such a success that it inspired KATHERINE JORDAN to get up a dinner the next night honoring IVY on his birthday. She called a few close friends for a surprise supper in the Stag room at the Paragon. All yellow flowers, including jonquils, acacia, and yellow tulips were used with yellow candles on the dining table. The birthday cake was inscribed "That Wonderful Year?"

Here this week from Baltimore, Maryland, were the BARLOW INABNETS, JR., who visited his relatives. Among the parties which honored these visitors was a barbecue at Pipes camp given by JOAN and DICK PIPES last Saturday night, and dinner at the home of OLIVE and RYAN SARTOR . . . On Wednesday LOUISE COOK invited Pam for luncheon at the Lotus Club. Others included in the group were Barlow's mother, WILHEMINA INABNET and sisters - in - law, BOBBIE INABNET and NORA MARIE INABNET.

Guest of the SANFORD STEPHENS this week was ANN MARIE GANDOLFO SMITH. She was joined by husband GUY for the week end, and they plan to return home today. Last night the visitors were inspiration for an informal cook-out supper at the home of the KENT ANDERSONS. Included in the party were the DUKE SHACKLEFORDS of Jones, the Stephens, and the BILL M'DOWELLS.

Wednesday noon, Sue Shackleford was hostess for luncheon at Bayou DeSiard Country Club honoring Ann Marie. Six guests were seated at a round table centered with yellow iris and a variegated euonymus . . . Thursday's hostess was SOPHIA BLANKS, who invited a few for lunch at Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

Birthday parties for the younger set have included a number of gala affairs this week. SARA STUART M'SHERRY celebrated her eighth birthday at a ten a.m. to one-thirty party attended by forty little friends. The guests gathered at the McSherry home for play in the yard before traveling by bus to Bernstein Park for a wiener roast lunch.

For her tenth birthday, CHRISTINE MOORE entertained with a slumber party Friday night. Eighteen little girls brought pallets, which we understand went unused while they danced the Twist and ate tuna sandwiches, potato chips, ice cream, cheese sandwiches, soft drinks, and candy all night.

An Easter theme was carried out at WALTON WAKEFIELD's third birthday party, held Thursday at Bayou DeSiard Country Club. Thirty guests took part in a go - fishing game and went bowling on a miniature alley . .. Large honey - comb paper eggs in bright spring colors nestled in grass the length of the table. Jonquils were used in the centerpiece, and the cake was an Easter bunny. Candy rabbits and wheeled animal figures were given as favors.

On Thursday, LESLIE FAUCETT was honored with an Easter party at home in celebration of her tenth birthday. An "Egg Fortune" game occupied the young guests. Later rhymed clues written on cut-out paper eggs led to the "treasure," supper. An Easter rabbit wreathed in flowers and presiding over a nest filled with chocolate eggs centered the table where twenty-six little girls were served sandwich supper with ice cream and birthday cake.

With Little League tryouts getting underway this week, we were reminded of Herbert Merrill's poem "Springtime Matilda":

My Aunt Matilda used to go
A little crazy in the spring
When crocuses appeared in snow
And robins opened beaks to sing.

With flying hair and flying skirt
And rake and trowel and bag of seed,
She excavated tons of dirt
And execrated every weed.

I thought her conduct more than odd
And deemed her wits had quite departed,
For clearly spring was sent by God
To get the baseball season started.

Glamor Swatters

Imaginative fly swatters — usually the least glamorous of household gadgets—now come fitted with over-size plastic flowers which conceal the business end. These summertime essentials—with pink rose, yellow sunflower, or blue anemone motifs — can be kept sanitary by washing in hot suds and rinses after every victim is dispatched.

Opera Club Has Program On Carmen

The plantation home of Mrs. R. L. Morgan, at Fairbanks was scene of the March meeting of the Opera Club. Arrangements of colorful spring blossoms were used throughout the reception suite.

Upon arrival members were invited into the dining room where refreshments were served from a beautifully appointed table which had for its centerpiece an antique silver footed bowl filled with natural long leaf pine branches. Mrs. J. Norman Coon Sr. presided at the coffee service.

Mrs. C. R. Tidwell, president, conducted the business meeting, which opened with the club song, "My Louisiana," and the collect in unison. A tribute in memory of Mrs. P. A. Poag was read by Mrs. Coon.

Program for the afternoon was on the opera, "Carmen." A sketch on the life of Bizet and story of the opera were given by Miss Juanita Porter as recordings were played throughout each act of the opera. Highlight of the program was appearance of the guest artist, Mrs. George Temple, who sang a rendition of "Sequidilla." from Carmen.

Those present were Mrs. J. N. Coon Sr., Mrs. J. C. Kramer, Mrs. B. B. Martin, Mrs. Merle Padgett, Mrs. C. W. Oseland, Mrs. John Sholars, Mrs. C. R. Tidwell, Mrs. R. O. Ware, Mrs. Morgan, Miss Porter and the guest, Mrs. Temple.

Initiation Held By Kappa Kappa Iota Sorority

A spring theme prevailed throughout the home of Mrs. Clinton G. Willingham in Ruston, which provided the setting for the initiation ceremony of Epsilon Conclave of Kappa Kappa Iota sorority Sunday, March 25.

Mrs. Carnahan, assisted by Miss Driskell, Mrs. Riddle, Mrs. Lizzie V. Riser, Mrs. Murphy Oliver, Miss Dorothy Hines and Miss Laurice Capps, conducted the impressive initiation ceremony. Initiates were Miss Laura Mae McCullin, Miss Martha Davis, Miss Louise Hogan, Mrs. Alline H. Delony and Mrs. Virginia Selle.

The tea table in the dining room, covered with a white cutwork cloth was centered with an arrangement of spring flowers. Miss Driskell presided over the silver tea service.

Other members of the local chapter present were Mrs. Johnnie O'Neal and Miss Carrie Mae Terrill.

Puppet Operetta Given Mitchell PTA By Pupils

Officers were elected for the ensuing year when the W. R. Mitchell P.-T. A. met March 21 in the school cafeteria with Mrs. W. W. Hinson presiding.

They are Mrs. F. A. Phillips, president; Mrs. W. G. Wade, vice-president; Mrs. E. H. Berry, treasurer; Mrs. R. O. Berry, secretary; Mrs. J. H. Curry, historian and Mrs. Wilma Leverette, parliamentarian.

Girl Scouts of Troop 85 of Mitchell School, performed the flag ceremony for P.-T. A. members and led the group in the Pledge of Allegiance. Mrs. Lydia Tolbird's fourth grade presented a puppet operetta, "Jack and the Beanstalk," and "John Hudson's Surprise." Puppets were made by the students.

Mrs. W. H. Springfield, health chairman announced spring roundup to be held Tuesday, April 3 at 12:30 p.m.

Room count was won by Mrs. Leverett's first grade. Following the meeting parents visited the class rooms where creative work of the children was on display.

MISS JUDITH ANN DUGDALE will become the bride of James W. Williams Jr., of Choudrant on Friday, April 20 at the Alabama Presbyterian Church, Choudrant. Rev. William Clark will preform the 8 p.m. ceremony. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Bryan of Downsville and the late G. R. Dugdale and Mr. Williams is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Williams of Choudrant.

A JUNE WEDDING is planned by Miss Bobbie Nell Davis and Willie C. Bryant, specialist 4th class, U.S. Army, whose engagement is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Davis of Natchez. The future bridegroom is the son of Archie Bryant of Eros, La., and Mrs. H. A. Davis of Fenwick, Miss. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Victor Anderson of Natchez.

Cornbread Sandwiches

If you bake cornbread in a jellyroll pan you'll get a crisp crust on the top and bottom with less crumb and bread in between. This makes a good sandwich because it doesn't break easily. For baking, you preheat the gas oven to 400 degrees before baking. The thin sheet of bread will bake in about 15 minutes. Cut it into squares, split and butter each square and fill with thin slices of chicken or ham. The sandwiches are delicious served warm. Preheat the gas oven to 170 degrees, put them on a baking sheet and cover loosely with aluminum foil.

Eureka HDC Hears Talk On Social Security

Mrs. M. S. Rosenthal, sister of Mrs. Earl Garland, was a guest of the Eureka Home Demonstration Club when it met March 21 in the home of Mrs. James McDaniel at Calhoun.

Gardening and home furnishings were discussed after which Irwin Clair, representative of Social Security office, was introduced by Mrs. Audrey Dawson and gave a talk on the program.

Refreshments were served at conclusion of the meeting. Those present were Mrs. Carl Jordan, Mrs. Ivey Frost, Mrs. Earl Garland, Mrs. Rosenthal, Mrs. Duke Boyd, Mrs. Arthur Frost, Mrs. Cleve McDaniel, Mrs. Albert M. Jordan, Mrs. Coy Lee, Mrs. Thelma Clark, Mrs. James A. McDaniel and Mrs. Roy V. Wuest.

Open House Honors Evans Family, New Residents

Open house on Sunday afternoon, March 25 complimented Rev. and Mrs. James O. Evans, who with their daughter, Marilyn, and sons, Wayne and Harold recently established residence in the parsonage of St. Mark's Methodist Church. The Evans family moved to Monroe from Heflin.

Hostesses for the open house were the Women's Society of Christian Service and members of St. Mark's Methodist church.

The parsonage at 748 Bayou Shores Drive, was profusely decorated with spring flowers for the occasion. Central decor for the serving table, which was overlaid with an ecru imported French lace cloth, was a silver compote, entwined with an all white arrangement of gladioli, mount hood, chrysanthemums and spirea. A silver coffee service and crystal punch bowl were at opposite ends of the table, where hostesses alternated in serving throughout the afternoon hours.

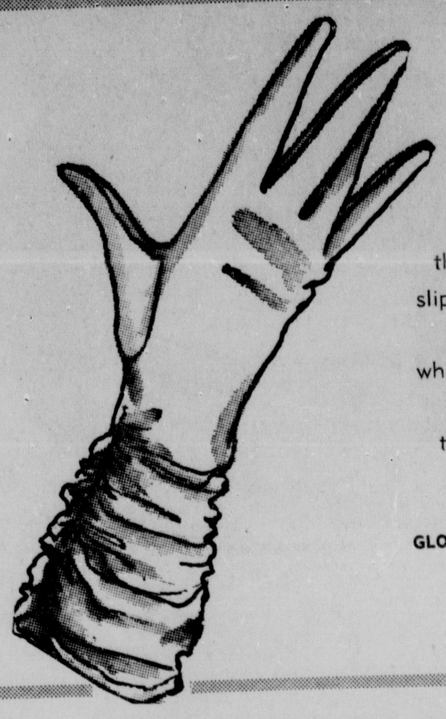

Mrs. Evans was wearing for the occasion a black lace model with a cattelya orchid corsage. Miss Marilyn Evans wore a pink brocade frock and a vanda orchid corsage.

Approximately 125 guests called during the appointed hours of 2 until 5 p.m.

Northeast Music Major To Appear In Recital

Coralie Heard White, a senior music major at Northeast Louisiana State College, will present a piano recital April 3 at 8:15 p.m. in Biedenharn Recital Hall on campus.

The recital, which is open to the public, is partial fulfilment of the bacheolor's degree in music.

Mrs. White is recognized throughout the area as piano soloist, accompanist and organist.

Her interests also include numerous college organizations. She served for two years as accompanist for the college choir, and presently is a member of the college band, vice president of the Northeast Louisiana State College Honor Society, and president of the Senior Board.

She is active in Phi Mu, national social sorority, and has been selected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. In December Mrs. White was soloist with the Twin City Symphony, and this spring she will appear as soloist with the college band, West Monroe High School Band, and South Arkansas Symphony.

Daughter of Judge and Mrs. Jesse S. Heard of West Monroe, Mrs. White studied with Miss Claire Freiberg during elementary and high school years. During this time she received numerous superior ratings in federated music club contests and National Piano Guild auditions. She has done summer study with Carleton Liddle and Earl Stout at Louisiana State University. Presently she is a student of Mrs. Florence Z. Allpritton, associate professor of music at Northeast State.

Mrs. White's senior recital will include Bach's Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue; Beethoven's Sonata Op. 53 (Waldstein); Ravel's Jeux d 'eau; Poissons and L'isle Joyeuse by Debussy; and Schumann's Carnval Op. 9.

MRS. CORALIE HEARD WHITE

Ice Cream Hues Invade Millinery

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

Conversation, while buying a hat this spring may sound more like a visit to an ice cream parlor than a millinery shop.

Some women will order sherbet; others lime ice or creme cafe. Naturally, in these days of the Twist, many will want to try peppermint. And many, many others will take vanilla.

Still, these masses of fluff and flora overhead will be more delectable than digestible, even for posie-pouching ponies.

Blooming hats flowered into fashion last year. Since, not only the fad and the flowers, but the chapeaux themselves have grown to giant proportions.

On this season's bonnets flamboyant flowers will wind around high rising crowns, mounds and pointed peaks and finally brim over the face like unruly weeds.

These fussy, frilly toppers were created by American milliners to flatter the fluffy, fluttery, feminine fashions which will dominate a style - conscious woman's wardrobe this spring.

Just as those cossack type furry hats have been able to conceal the wearer's uncoiffed locks this winter, this spring garden variety will do equally well at the task. Indeed, a person could be bald these days without anyone knowing or caring.

However, the big news in spring hats are not the huge flowers, or shapes, but the sweet tooth colors.

Pale beige (described as creme cafe) or off white (vanilla) are the new, neutral "wear - it - with-everything" hues.

Clear, lemon yellows are blended with a range of greens from lime ice to spearmint. Pastels are frosted to look as cool as soda glasses. The sherbert hues—raspberry, strawberry, orange and peach — well, these are self-explanatory.

Whipped cream white will still be on the scene to combine with ice white suits and coats for spring. But it will be used sparingly, mostly as a topping with flowers, bands and bows in minty colors adding the fashion flavor.

At least these millinery confections are minus calories. They are big and sugary, but lightheaded.

Beta Sigma Phi Supper Party Held At Hubkas

The home of Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Hubka, 1406 McGuire Avenue, was scene of an Italian supper Saturday night for members of Beta Pi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, their husbands and guests.

Quartet tables in the den at which guests were seated, were covered with gay red and white check cloths and centered with candles, in hurricane globes.

Assisting Mrs. Hubka in serving were Mrs. Bob DeMoss and Mrs. Joe Lister of the social committee.

Following dinner evening hours were spent in games, in which white elephant prizes brought by the members, were awarded winners.

Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Truett, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bussell and Miss Toni Ann Hubka, daughter of the hosts. Members and husbands in attendance included Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Bob DeMoss, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hinckley, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lister, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Schempf, Mrs. Norman Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Hubka, and the sponsor, Mrs. A. B. Johnson.

Next regular meeting of the chapter will be Thursday, April 5 at 8 p.m. in St. Paul's Methodist Church, with Mrs. Myrtle Groves and Mrs. Odie Lee Gossett, hostesses.

Poole-White Vows Revealed

Miss Georgia White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. White of Grayson, became the bride of Malcolm Poole of McComb, Miss., son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Poole of Enterprise on Saturday, March 24.

Screens, Mirrors Provide Camouflage For Door

The distraction of unsightly doorways .. . a decorating problem facing many homemakers . . . can be easily overcome with screens or movable room dividers of fine plate glass mirrror.

As is often the case in an average home, especially one more than fifteen years old, the dining room is built with an assortment of doorways leading to the kitchen, pantry, living room, and hallway; bedrooms ordinarily open on a hallway, the bathroom and possibly an adjoining bedroom. In some instances rooms may open on two, three or as many as half-a-dozen adjacent areas.

This can be effectively accomplished with little effort by using a screen or partial divider surfaced with mirror. Besides "masking" the doorway, the mirrored surface becomes an asset to the decoration by reflecting the wallpaper, carpeting and other furnishings in the room. The mirror will make the room appear larger and help make the most possible use of available light. And the screen, in addition to concealing the doorway and whatever room may lie beyond it, also helps cut down drafts throughout the house.

The screen itself can be made in a variety of attractive designs, some using large framed mirror panels, others composed of smaller rectangular panels set in a wooden grid. Using only a few common hand tools, a capable do-it-yourself carpenter can build a screen in a few hours.

'Land Of Cotton' Fashion Show To Be Held April 7

"The Land of Cotton" is the theme chosen for the Cultura Book Club's annual spring style show and luncheon to be staged Saturday, April 7 at the Paragon Club.

The event, presented annually by the club as a benefit of the Cerebral Palsy school, will begin at 12 noon. Spring and summer fashions from the Palace will be shown by models and will depict the theme, "The Land of Cotton."

Mrs. Walter Silmon is general chairman of this year's affair with Mrs. W. T. Armstrong as co-chairman. Others serving as committee chairman are Mrs. Harry Liner, decorations; Mrs. Wood Sers, door prizes; Mrs. Bud Shepherd, tickets; Mrs. Richard Curry, courtesy; Mrs. Gene Hardin, entertainment; Mrs. Bobby Wilson, posters and Mrs. Kenneth Adams, publicity. Mrs. C. B. Welch is current president of Cultura Book Club.

Wash Burlap

If that newly fashionable fabric — burlap — has found its way into your wardrobe, you'll be happy to learn that it can be safely laundered at home.

A major producer of burlap recommends washing it separately by hand, in lukewarm soap or detergent suds and rinses. Just dip the garment up and down in the suds and rinses, hang it to drip, and smooth it while drying. If pressing is needed, use a warm —not hot — iron.

'Liz Romance Aiding Actor

NEW YORK (AP)—A Brooklyn theater owner posted this sign on his marquee Saturday:

"Richard Burton — Eddie Fisher's rival—in 'Look Back in Anger.'"

Albert Greene, owner of the 489-seat Avenue U Theater, said he dug up the picture in response to requests from women patrons who wanted to know what Burton's attraction is.

Green cut short the running of another film, "The Bridge," that was to have been on the program until Tuesday.

MRS. WAYNE HUFF

Huff-Duck Nuptials Are Read

Vows uniting Miss Sue Duck and Wayne Huff, both of Monroe, were solemnized Saturday, March 17 at 5 p.m. in the Kidron Baptist Church near Harrisonburg. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Duck of Urania and Mr. Huff is the son of Mrs. N. H. Huff and the late Mr. Huff of Harrisonburg.

The Rev. James Mallard performed the double ring ceremony in a setting of baskets of white gladioli and lighted candles. Mrs. Bobby Johnson, pianist, played appropriate wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina length gown of white lace over taffeta. Her fingertip veil or illusion was held in place by a tiara of pearls and sequins and she carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid.

Miss Sharon Duck, of Urania, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. She wore a frock of pink organza over taffeta, the bodice of which was overlaid by pink lace. She wore a matching pink headdress and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Candles were lighted by Miss Susan Huff, niece of the bridegroom, who wore an orchid cotton satin ballerina frock with matching accessories and the bridegroom's mother was attired in a navy ensemble with black and blue accessories.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the social room of the church. Mrs. Albert Huff served the wedding cake fron one end of the brides' table and Mrs. Gerald Crawford presided at the punch service opposite. The guest book was in charge of Mrs. Lester Sanford. A large number of out - of - town guests attended the wedding and reception.

For travel the bride wore a blue linen ensemble with white and black accessories and her orchid corsage. Mrs. Huff attended LaSalle High School and Mr. Huff was graduated from Harrisonburg High School and attended Louisiana Business College.

The couple has established a home in Monroe.

ENGAGEMENT and approaching marriage of Miss Leah Wayne Storey to Richard Lee Rogers is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leatus Alton Storey of Monterey. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louie Alvie Rogers, St. Louis, Mo., formerly of Palestine, Texas. The wedding will be solemnized May 27 in the First Baptist Church at Natchitoches, where both Miss Storey and her fiance are senior students at Northwestern State College. He will receive his degree from the school of Business Administration in June and Miss Storey is scheduled for graduation from the school of Home Economics in January, 1963.

Drew HDC Fetes Three Guests

Announcement of a clothing workshop in April was made by Mrs. Audrey Dawson, home demonstration agent, at a meeting of Drew Home Demonstration Club March 22 in the home of Mrs. Alma Morris.

Mrs. Dawson also gave ideas in landscaping and Mrs. W. O. Northcutt reported on house furnishings.

The demonstration for the afternoon was on the social security program, which was discussed by Mrs. Dawson and Mr. Watt, followed by a question and answer session.

Those present were Mrs. J .R. Agin, Mrs. V. C. Brister, Mrs. Jewell Crocker, Mrs. Clara Gilliland, Mrs. B. F. Henry, Mrs. Martha Henry, Mrs. Alma Morris, Mrs. W. O. Northcutt, Mrs. W. M. Roberts and Mrs. G. A. Strozier and three guests, Mrs. Sam Blackwell, Mrs. Lee Holstead and Mrs. A. O. Milstead.

Pastels Big News

Spring's basic red, white and blue have been bypassed in favor of clear, hot citrus pastels. Peach, pink, lime are good, along with sunshine yellow, which looks brightest. Subtle, sophisticated neutrals are showing up frequently, says Women's Wear Daily. The browns, from off-white all the way through dark tan look liveliest, and will probably hit the real big-time by fall.

Nubby wools and slubbed synthetics go for outerwear; dresses and sportswear are rugged denim, duck, hopsacking, and other novelty weaves.

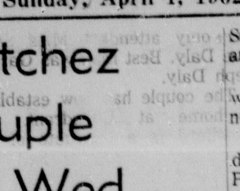

Purify Air

Indoor plants help to humidify and purify the air, the Society of American Florists says. Their leaves give off moisture, helping to keep the air moist. Plants help purify the air by absorbing carbon dioxide and emitting oxygen in its place.

Ice Cream Colors

All the delectable ice cream colors, strawberry pink, pistachio green, lemon ice and tangerine will make women look good enough to eat this spring. White is sharing its fashion pre-eminence with neutral ivory.

MRS. ARCHIE R. GILLILAND JR.

Gilliland-Gobble Vows Read In Candlelight Scene

Arrangements of white gladioli and branched candlebra entwined with southern smilax and fern trees formed a background in Highland Park Baptist Church for the wedding of Miss Alice Gobble and Archie R. Gilliland Jr., which was solemnized Friday, March 30 at 8 p.m. Rev. Edgar Wiggins officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Gobble, 604 Matthew Street and Mr. Gilliland is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Gilliland, 2402 Spencer Avenue.

Ronnie Brothers, organist, accompanied Phares Corder on trumpet as he played "Trumpet's Prayer," and Miss Donna Martin as she sang "Because," and "If I Could Tell You."

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a full length gown of white Chantilly lace over silk net and satin, with the scalloped lace forming a tunic over the voluminous net skirt in front. The lace bodice featured long sleeves tapered to points over the hands and her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a tiara of Alencon lace encrusted with aurora borealis sequins and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses.

Miss Phillis Massone, who served as maid of honor, wore a gown of sky blue satin brocade on baby blue background, with matching overskirt of nylon organza. She wore matching satin pumps and nose-length veiled headdress and white gloves and carried a cascade bouquet of pink chrysanthemums.

Dressed identically to the honor attendant were the bridesmaids Miss Helen Gobble and Miss Barbara Ann Gilliland, who carried cascades of pink, white and blue chrysanthemums. The flower girl, Miss Lisa Nettles, was also dressed identical to the other attendants and carried a pink basket of flowers.

Edwin Blackwell attended the bridegroom as best man and groomsmen were Phil Corder and Lonnie Brothers. Kenny Cagle and Charles Allen served as ushers and Randy Wiggins acted as ringbearer.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs Gobble was wearing a mint green sheath of rayon acetate with matching duster, and green hat and gloves. Completing her ensemble were bone shoes and bag and a corsage of white feathered carnations. Mrs. Gilliland, mother of the bridegroom, wore a Dior blue sheath dress with matching shoes and bag and white gloves and hat. Her corsage was also of white feathered carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church social room. An arrangement of pink and white carnations centered the table where Misses Kathy Bloomer and Winnie Knotts served the wedding cake and Miss Janice Fontana and Miss Linda Cooper alternated at the punch bowl. Miss Bobbie Nick and Mrs. Edward Morgan registered guests in the bride's book.

For a short wedding trip the bride wore a magenta spring suit with matching hat and gloves and black patent shoes and bag. White roses formed her shoulder corsage. Upon their return the couple will be at home at 305 Frederick Street.

The bride is a graduate of Ouachita Parish high school. Mr. Gilliland graduated from Neville high school and attended Northeast Louisiana State College.

Out-of-town guests were Jack Gobble of Baton Rouge; Miss Elaine Russell, Delhi; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holloway, Rayville; Mrs. Sallie Butler, Fort Worth, Texas and Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Self of Greenville, Miss.

MRS. JOE WALTER BRADFORD

Bradford-Daly Vows Read In Salt Lake City

Vows uniting Miss Janice Aline Daly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Daly of Salt Lake City, Utah, and Joe Walter Bradford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben L. Bradford Sr., Route 1, Choudrant, were solemnized March 10 at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, had as her only attendant Miss Sharon Sue Daly. Best man was Gary Joseph Daly.

The couple has now established a home at Choudrant. Mrs. Bradford is a graduate of Granite High School in Salt Lake City, and Mr. Bradford is a graduate of Louisiana Polytechnic Institute.

Spring Hues

Spring's newest hues have never been more feminine or flattering. Imagine a bouquet of fresh - as - a- - daisy fashions in shades reflecting such luscious flowers as mignonette, honeysuckle, nasturtium, morning glory, daffodil and snow drop. These pastels with a punch may be clear or bold or soft and muted.

Scent Essential

Cologne and perfume can be as important to good grooming as your make-up requisites, according to beauty authorities. Most people like to be around someone who is wearing a pleasant fragrance and the user always feels fresher and more glamorous. Besides giving you that well-groomed feeling, a fragrance can give you a mental and physical "pick-me-up."

Blue Leads Field

Women will be prettier this spring of '62. Fashion decrees a more feminine, frilly, fluffy look to be the vogue. Fabrics are soft and flutter as they move. Chiffons with softly tailored ruffles are the mode, as are soft silks, crepes and cotton matelasses. Blue is the number one color favorite. Whenever prettiness is a woman's primary concern, she turns to blue, the universal flatterer.

Coterie Hears Music Methods In Education

Mrs. Eloise Stanhope was hostess for the March 16 meeting of the Musical Coterie. During the business session presided over by Mrs. J. G. Caldwell, announcement was made of the convention of the Louisiana Federation of Music Clubs to be held in New Orleans April 3 and 4 and the official board meeting in Baton Rouge April 13-14.

During the study period Mrs. H. H. Land discussed "Four Methods of Music Education," which are the Jacques Dalcroze method and the Maurice Martenot Method, both from France; the Orff Bergese method from Germany and the Justine Ward method from the Netherlands.

The musical program included Rhythmic Dances No. 1 and No. VII by Jacques Dalcroze, played by Mrs. H. G. McDonald; "Perpetual Motion No. III," by Poulenc, played by Mrs. W. M. Harper; "Creek Dance," by Tselenti, played by Mrs. Edward Hayward Jr.; "German Dances from Opus 33" by Schubert, played by Mrs. Tex Kilpatrick; "Drie Dansen Voor Piano," by Andriessen, played by Mrs. Grayson Guthrie.

Those present were Mrs. B. D. Allbritton, Mrs. F. V. Allison, Mrs. James Caldwell, Miss Emy-Lou Biedenharn, Miss Jonnie Bankhead, Mrs. Grayson Guthrie Jr., Mrs. W. M. Harper, Mrs. Edward Hayward Jr., Mrs. Tex Kilpatrick; Mrs. H. H. Land, Mrs. Kedwick Martin, Mrs. Hugh G. McDonald, Mrs. James Murphy, Mrs. Phanor Perot, Mrs. Estelle Sanders, Miss Gertrude Sandrock, Mrs. Briscoe Trousdale Jr., Mrs. Henry Whitfield, Mrs. Felix Willey and Mrs. Everett Zeagler.

Lakeshore PTA Elects Officers, Presents Award

Election of officers for 1962-63 highlighted a meeting of Lakeshore P-TA March 22 at the school. They include Pat Mitchell, president; Harmon Everett, first vice - president; R. B. Martin, second vice - president; Mrs. Clint Hanna, third vice-president; Mrs. F. E. Heilman, fourth vice - president; Mrs. Arthur DeLoach Sr., secretary; Mrs. G. B. Wilson, treasurer and Odean Jones, parliamentarian.

Dr. Fred J. Vogel, of Northeast Louisiana State College, spoke to the group on the topic, "Democracy - Its Value to Us."

Stanley Brister, president, conducted the business session during which time he presented the state honorary life membership and pin to John V. Craft, active supporter of the local P-TA and past - president of the Lakeshore unit.

Mrs. Yvonne Warner, chairman of the Book Fair to be held at Lakeshore Elementary School April 9-13, announced that the next meeting of the P-TA will be April 12 with the Book Fair a highlight of the program. She also announced that Mrs. John P. Zoll and Mrs. Earl Gore, members of the faculty, attended the Louisiana Library Association convention in Lafayette, last Thursday and Friday. At a luncheon Friday, Mrs. Gore was presented the Modisette Award, which was awarded the Lakeshore Elementary Library, based on the A.L.A.'s new high standards.

Mrs. G. B. Wilson reported that Carl Moore, sixth grade student, placed first in the safety poster contest in the Fifth District P-TA meeting and that his poster will be entered in the state convention at Baton Rouge next month for competition in Group 2. Winning second place in Group 2 was David Simmons, fifth grade student. Mary Jayne Bentz held top honors in Group 1 and her poster will also be entered in the state judging contest. Danny Brockner won second place in Group 1. Both are third grade students.

Mrs. Jake Humphries and R. B. Martin were named delegates to the state convention with Mrs. John P. Zoll and Mrs. John V. Craft as alternates.

Soups To Sip

Thin soups may be served warm or cold, in cups or mugs and poured from a water pitcher. Keep soups to be served cold on the jet-cold shelf of the refrigerator. Dilute consomme and madrilene ahead of time so they won't gel. For serving hot, use a glass coffee maker over the automatically controlled burner-with-a-brain on the gas range. Set the thermostat at 175 degrees.

Charcoal As Log Burner

If you have wet or green logs that are hard to start burning in your fireplace, use wood charcoal briquets as a base. Ignite the briquets and let a fine white ash form over all, at which time they have reached maximum heat. Logs can then be put on. The intense heat of the briquets will dry the damp logs and they will soon catch fire.

Italy Launches Sartorial Style In Rawhide

ROME (UPI)—Italy is launching a new sartorial style for men and women—suede and rawhide suits and dresses.

This country has been a leader in new stylings for both sexes, competing with London and Paris, for the past decade and has taken the upswing in styles in the last five years.

Italy gave men the revival of the cuffless pants and the double hacking vents, and women the knitted wool two-piece comeback and the toothpick heels on shoes.

This year thedesigners also are turning to the "glace" skin wearing apparel — the shiny-surfaced skins in snow-white or other colors according to taste.

BETROTHAL of Miss Rose Marie Knight to John Allen Frisby, is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Knight of Hamburg, Ark. The future bridegroom is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Zeke Frisby of Crossett. Wedding plans are incomplete and will be announced.

Copies Of Paris Fashions Created At U. S. Prices

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — What does Paris fashion mean to the average American woman — the woman who buys her clothes from the ready-to-wear shops in her own home town?

Seventh Avenue's production lines move so rapidly, in fact, that in most cases their French-inspired apparel is available to the American public almost as quickly as the Parisian couture houses make deliveries to their own wealthy clientele.

The line for line copies match the originals fabric - for - fabric, button - for - button, seam - for-seam, as the name implies. Only the couture house labels are missing.

Patterns for the line - for - lines are made from original costumes purchased by manufacturers' representatives in Paris and slipped here. These French imports are resold outside the country within a year to avoid duty fees on the foreign purchases, a precaution which enables manufacturers to sell their dresses more cheaply.

However, the line - for - lines are often not as popular with, or as practical for, the middle class American woman as adaptations. Adaptations are almost always made from these originals shipped to the factories. But designers also create them by memorizing clothes seen at the shows and examining them more closely later on.

With adaptations the fabrics, particularly woolen ones, are lighter in weight, better for American methods of home heating. Construction is less complicated, better for mass production methods. And the design itself is altered somewhat, but the basic idea is there.

Jules Crahay of Nina Ricci, for example, contracted to produce a junior miss line for manufacturer Cole - Mort. This line made its debut in America only a matter of weeks after fashion reporters applauded Jules Crahay's new style ideas at Ricci's opening in Paris.

Jules Crahay's American clothes are not exactly like those the French mannikins modeled. But very, very much so.

Dance Expert Predicts Death Knell For Twist

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — That happy gymnastic, the Twist, may not be a dance after all.

The dance expert who says so crawls further along the limb, predicting the death knell of the twist soon will be sounded.

"Two people do not hold one another while performing the Twist. How can it be a dance?"

The ballroom Brecker manages, Roseland, caters to 10,000 dancers a week. For more than 40 years people have come to the place in Manhattan to do the soft shoe, the slow shuffle, the fast jitterbug and the peaceful waltz.

Among the great orchestras that have played there: Tommy Dorsey's and Glen Miller's.

"So far as I can figure, we haven't had anyone stomp out of our place angry because they couldn't Twist," Brecker said.

"For a while," he said, "just putting a 'Twist' sign in a cafe window in midtown was a magic magnet. Of late, indications are that there is less and less power to that word."

—Playwright - producer George Abbott, with whom Brecker watched a Twist session, insisted that it is not a dance and that he would never use it in one of his shows.

—Some people have been injured doing the Twist. At least one doctor has said the injuries are like football injuries.

When he banned the Twist, Brecker soon thereafter received a cable from the director of the London Dance Institute. The cable read:

"Understand you have banned the Twist. We are in absolute agreement."

Violet Show Is Scheduled For April 12

Second annual violet show, sponsored by La Violette Club in Monroe, will be held Thursday, April 12 in the Louis Locke Room of Ouachita Parish Library, from 12:30 to 9 p.m.

Mrs. Lamar Moore, show chairman, announced the theme of the show will be "Violet Wonderland." The show is held in conjunction with the observance of National Library Week and is open to the public. The club expects several hundred plants to be on display.

La Violette club was organized three years ago by Mrs. Arthur Genung, and the same year became affiliated with the African Violet Society of America, Inc.

The Saintpaula, commonly called African Violet is a native of South Africa and although actually not related to our native violets, gets its name from a resemblance to them. African violets have become the most popular flowering house plant in America during the past decade, due largely to the great number of varieties available to growers. They can be grown from seed, leaf cuttings and from crowns broken away from the parent plant and when properly cared for, blooms occur throughout the year.

A big kitchen window box planted with fresh herbs is useful for the charcoal chef. Fresh basil, chives, dill, parsley, and sage are all good choices. The man who presides over the wood charcoal briquet fire will find them convenient for use indoors or on the patio.

Bowling Champ Gives Advice To Females

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cutterball goofs and even expert amateur bowlers stand to gain in gamemanship by listening to Marge Merrick.

During the tournament — 11 days and 72 games — she also lost something. Eight pounds.

Miss Merrick, 36, has been bowling for 16 years. She started just as many other females do, joining an office bowling league.

"I was definitely not a champion in the beginning," she said in an interview.

The first year, she averaged 130. In the tournament she won, Miss Merrick averaged 201.

Miss Merrick said the main trouble with bowling today is that each of the 32 million Americans who bowl regularly feels qualified to instruct.

"You listen to this person and then to that person and before you know it, you find yourself instructing others — but your own game doesn't improve a stitch," she said.

—Make the ball work for you. Don't handle it like a hot potato.

—Remember it's a game of concentration. Don't let anything or anyone ruffle you.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Talented Arranger Featured On Show

By MRS. JOHN TOLAR

The TV and Garden Center program was brought to us last week by Lafayette Ruffin, well known for his talent in flower arranging. He is a student of horticulture at Tech in Ruston.

An exquisite array of spring flowers were used in the arrangements made by Lafayette on the program. The first design was made by using the new growth of sweet gum for an assymetrical line in a low green ceramic bowl.

Within the line of sweet gum he placed six lovely "trumpet" daffodils. These have creamy white petals with long golden cups. For filler the variegated arbor vitre was used. This blended perfectly with the yellows and greens of the other materials.

CONTAINER

A black usabata was picked for the container for Ruffin's next oriental design. The heaven, earth, man line was simply portrayed by the placement of deep purple iris. The buds and foliage were used as filler, lovely for the hall or any place where color is needed in the home. A black footed base completed this design.

A large massed arrangement of Formosa azaleas, bright red hino azaleas and large orchid colored mums featured the next design made by Ruffin. This massed-vertical design was made in a mauve colored tall compote. The colors were exquisitely blended into a perfect picture of springtime.

Another large massed design was made by the placement of white dogwood (high) daffodils (three types) tulips (four types), narcissis (white and lavenders), and a line of new budding sweet gum — in a tall tan Hamet original (compote) container. This would enhance any large banquet hall or reception hall, or in simple use on the large patio table. The fragrance of these flowers gives a springtime atmosphere as well as the beauty of the colors.

Thanks, Lafayette Ruffin for such a wonderful show. We are looking forward to your next visit next month.

This week — watch for some of the State Flower Show arrangements. Those who are making a design for the state show are invited to bring their design to KNOE TV station, early Wednesday, April 4, so that we can show it on our TV program. I have contacted some of the arrangers, but, not knowing who all had assignments I am taking this way to invite others to bring their arrangement, if they can, from 5th district clubs to be displayed on our program.

A reminder about flower show schools is provided by Dr. John Wright of Louisiana Tech, chairman for Monroe Course 2, and Mrs. V. S. Garnett, 1606 N. 2nd St., Monroe.

Said Dr. Wright:

"Many people know something about the flower show schools sponsored by the National Council of State Garden Clubs, but they do not always understand the program fully.

"Purposes: It is commonly thought that these schools are only for training judges to judge in flower shows. Actually, a very small part of the time in a school is spent in practice judging.

"Most of the time is devoted to learning about the growing of plants (horticulture), arranging flowers and foliages (flower arrangement), and learning how to stage a flower show (flower show practice). These schools create a very good atmosphere for learning and are most profitable for those who want to learn, regardless of their desires or intentions relative to becoming a judge.

BASIC SCHOOLS

"Setup: The basic schools are set up in a series of five, 3-day schools to be taken over a two and one-half year period or at the rate of one each six months. There is a prescribed course for each school as regards the number of hours devoted to each major subject (horticulture, flower arrangement and flower show practice) as well as the specific aspects of each of these subjects that will be given in a particular school. The schools are spoken of as Schools I, II, III, IV, and V.

"A typical school consists of four hours of lecture on horticulture; four hours of lecture on flower arrangement; two hours of lecture on flower show practice; and two to three hours for a "little flower show." In the "Little Flower Show," demonstration judging is done by the instructors in Schools I and II and practice judging is done by the students in Schools III, IV and V.

"Instructors: Instructors must be approved by the National Council officers and must meet certain rigid standards in order to be certified. An instructor in flower arrangement and flower show practice must be also an accredited judge and must have had wide experience in teaching and working in the various aspects of arranging and staging flower shows. A specialist, such as a professor in horticulture in a university or college, may be approved to teach the horticultural subjects. A minimum of two instructors is required for each course.

"The Lincoln Garden Council and the Twin - Cities Garden Council together are sponsoring a series of the flower show schools for the fifth district garden clubbers and gardeners. School I was held last October in Monroe. School II is scheduled for April 11, 12, and 13 at the new Recreation Center at 3900 Westminster Street in Monroe. It is possible to start the series with School No. II and we urge all who are interested in learning more about horticulture and flower arrangement to plan now to attend the school. It may be taken for credit or audited for the sake of learning. Mrs. C. T. Payne of Natchez, Mississippi, and Professor C. G. Hobgood of Louisiana Tech will be the instructors."

Stamp News

Two new United States commemorative stamps honoring events in widely separated sections of the nation and contrasting themes will be issued in April.

The first of these pays tribute to "Century 21," America's first space - age world's fair which takes place in Seattle, Wash., April 21-Oct. 21. The second adhesive marks the 150th anniversary of Louisiana statehood. Both are four - cent denominations.

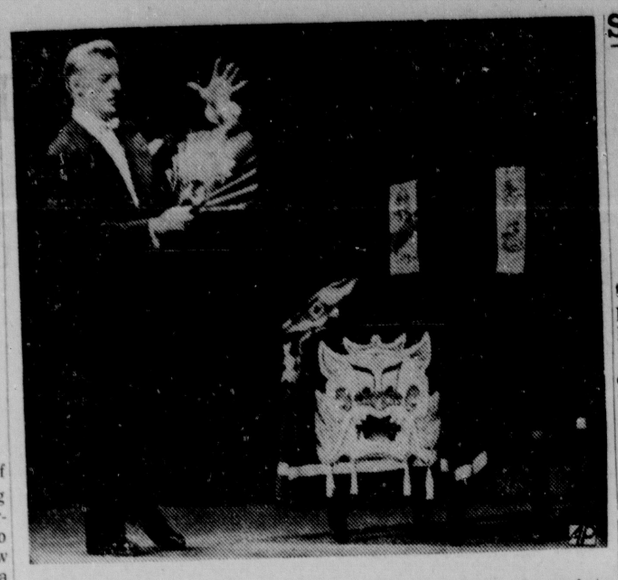

The design of the "Century 21" features the "Space needle' towering 550 feet above ground and built at a cost of $2.5 million. Two unusual elements are involved in the design. There will be a bleed at the top permitting emphasis on the needle, and also shown will be the monorail which will transport visitors. The wording on the stamp will be: "Seattle World's Fair 1962."

Collections desiring first day cancellations of the Seattle World's Fair stamp may send addressed envelope, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Seattle 1, Wash., no later than April 21. (Date of issuance is April 25.) Outside envelopes to the Postmaster should be clearly marked "First Day Cover World's Fair Stamp."

The four - cent Louisiana statehood stamp will be placed on first day sale April 30 at New Orleans. The central subject is an old river boat belching fire and smoke, churning up the Mississippi River, as seen at dusk through river bank trees with their Spanish moss. The dates 1812-1962 appear at the left. The lettering is old-fashioned.

First day cover collectors should send their addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, New Orleans 12, La. Outside envelopes should be clearly marked "First Day Covers Louisiana Statehood Stamp." Cover requests must be postmarked no later than April 25.

Latest of the nations to issue "Malaria Eradication" stamps is the Republic of China, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. There are two stamps in the set with identical design showing a globe emblem above and an Anopheles Mosquito — symbolizing the drive against the dreaded disease.

MAGIC of Neil Foster was caught by our columnist at the annual show of the Society of American Magicians in New York City, using only the stage light with Royal-X Pan film. The exposure was 1/50 at with Royal-X Pan film. The exposure was 1/50 at f/5.6. If he used the new Canon f/0.95 lens — wide open — the exposure would have been 1/3000th of a second!

Camera Notes

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

Fastest Lens. Available till now only for scientific and experimental work, a 35mm camera with an f-0.95 lens is being marketed for U. S. camera fans. The phenominal speed of this seven-element 50mm lens produces special effects when shot wide open since the plane of sharp focus is centered on a single detail such as an eye or a hand. The Bell & Howell-Canon 7 camera has an extra-sensitive exposure meter system and accepts both bayonet and thread-mount accessory lenses.

Long run 8mm. An 8mm reflex movie camera with the large film capacity and advanced features of a professional 16mm camera . . . that's the Bolex H-8 Rex. It takes 100-foot rolls of 8mm film giving a finished footage of 200 feet. The turret camera accepts three Switar lenses (wide-angle, normal and telephoto) which are equipped with a pre-set diaphragm arrangement not found on any other 8mm camera. It permits focusing with the lens wide open, then stopping down to a pre-set stop without removing the eye from the reflex viewfinder. Extremely accurate close-up focusing is also possible without extension tubes or supplementary lenses.

Still camera zoom. The Nikkorex is the first 35 mm single lens reflex camera with a built in f-3.5 zoom lens. The zoom ranges from 43mm to 86mm and the viewfinder image changes with the focal length.

Way out lenses. Nikon's Fish-eye lens is an f-8 superwide-angle 8mm lens with a 180 degree view. It has six built-in filters on an internally rotating turret and is supplied with a centering finder. The Nikkor Perspective Control lens is unique. It gives a 35mm camera lens control over verticals and horizontals equivalent to the camera-back movements of a view camera in architectural photography.

New flash. Sylvania has a new M-3 flash bulb, same size as the M-5 and M-25. Its special feature: prolonged duration of the flash at peak intensity thereby permitting its use with focal-plane shutters as well as with leaf-type shutters.

Compact light. The Sun Gun Professional is a new three-pound light unit which delivers the equivalent of 5,000 watts of illumination though drawing only 1,000 watts when plugged into a household socket. It can be hand-held or bracket-mounted, has an adjustable tilting head and a set of "barn doors" to control the angle and direction of the light. There also are accessory slip-in lenses and filters for portrait diffusion, color film conversion and light spreading to match wide-angle lens shooting.

SOUTHERN GARDENER

Grass-Like Cover Plant

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

Gardeners are slowly beginning to discover what a fine, grass-like ground cover the fine-leaved kind of ophiopogon is.

During the past few years, nurserymen in the coastal areas where the plant has been used for probably over a century have been advertising this little plant as "monkey grass." Sometimes they call it Mondo, and they sell it by the thousand or by the bushel.

LIKE GRASS

By whatever name you choose to call it, this tough little member of the lily family does look like grass. Single plants or little bunches can be set out six inches apart and will grow into a good turf in a season or two. It will grow in rich soil or poor. Once it is established, it can be mowed once a year if you feel the need to do so. In Rome, the city uses it as a ground cover in sections of their parks where people cannot seem to restrain themselves from walking over the terrain. Rome is terribly hot and very dry. When I was there in August, I thought how very similar the hot days were to our southern climate.

In books and catalogues, you will find this narrow leaved ophiopogon listed under ophipogon japonicus, with the common name Mondo. Dr. Kaempfer, one of the first botanists to visit Japan, wrote about this plant and drew a careful picture of it in his book about his travels across Europe and Asia to Japan in 1691 and for several years. He said that the Japanese called this plant "Snake's Beard" and these words were translated later on into the Latin, ophiopogon.

TALLER KINDS

Where a foot - high ground cover is wanted, people sometimes use the tall, coarse - leaved ophiopogons and liriopes. These two groups of plants are so very closely akin that botanists have to get out their hand microscopes if not their big microscopes to tell them apart, so do not worry if you are unable to do so. The taller plants have beautiful spikes of lavender or purple flowers in late summer. Some kinds have yellow and green leaves and make attractive accents, here and there, but a whole row of them as an edger is usually too much yellow and green.

NOVELTIES

Some of the Southern nurserymen and some California bulb specialists have been advertising new kinds of liriopes and ophiopogons for some time, now. There is a black - leaved variety for those who like that sort of thing, and there are very large kinds. One that we have mentioned in the column is liriope grandiflora introduced by Oakhurst. The leaves are two to three feet long, and the spikes of showy flowers are born on the outside of the clump where they are conspicuous — much more so than those of any other variety. They also make splendid cut flowers in August. Be sure to cut them off at the ground instead of pulling them off below the surface.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

This week's winner of a Tailor Trix pressing board is Mrs. Richard Jerman, Cleveland, Ohio, who sent this suggestion. "How to keep your patience and still iron a 'perfect' puffed sleeve. After finishing the lower edge of puffed sleeves with a bias fold, I run a narrow or round strip of elastic through the casing and fasten the ends together with a tiny safety pin.

"This can easily be removed when washing dress and the sleeves can then be ironed flat. A casing can also be used instead, when the gathers are placed about 1 inch above the hem. Use a strip of bias tape and proceed the same. You'll never complain about puffed sleeves again."

REVERSIBLES

"Dear Eunice,

"I would like to make a reversible jacket but don't know how to keep the wrong side of the material from showing at the hem. Would appreciate your help." Mrs. M.R.

Dear Mrs. M.R.:

When choosing a pattern for a reversible jacket or coat, remember not to choose one with a collar or lapels. The collar will never roll nicely both ways. Choose a simple pattern that has a cardigan neckline. It is best to choose two fabrics that are about the same weight.

Be sure when you turn the faced edges that the seamline is on the exact edge. After all edges have been carefully pressed, it would help to top-stitch with your machine, about ½ inch from the finished edges. This can also be done at the hem-line and will prevent either side from showing.

HOW TO SMOCK

"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"Could you please send me instructions on how to 'smock' children's dresses?" Mrs. E.F.

Dear Mrs. E.F.:

I am sorry, but I do not have such instructions available. I think you will find some of these patterns with instructions in any art needlework pattern book. Also, a few children's patterns include the stamped pattern and instructions.

HIDE BABY FAT

"How do you determine the place where the waistline should be on a small girl whose tummy still sticks out, baby-fashion? Obviously I need to measure the child herself, but after I do discover her correct waistline, how do I compare this figure with the pattern measurement? Can you help me? My girls all run to round tummies, and I hate to wait until they reach mid-childhood to have their clothes fit correctly." Mrs. R.H.B.

Dear Mrs. R.H.B.:

Since it would be difficult to tie a string around their waists to determine the correct waistline, the only other suggestion I can give is to use the place where the elastic from their panties comes.

Now measure from the shoulder (between the neck and the armhold down to the elastic waistband. Do the same in the back. You will find that if you allow a little extra ease, they will be able to wear their clothes a little longer. One of the best suggestions for making little girls dresses longer, is to make a fold or tuck just above the waistline so that you can lengthen the dresses at this point as well as at the hem.

SNAP FASTENERS

"Dear Mrs. Farmer;

"How can I keep the gripper-snaps from tearing out of children's garments?" Mrs. H.E.T.

Dear Mrs. H.E.T.:

You are probably using them without an inter-facing or extra piece of fabric between the outer piece of fabric and the facing. If press-on tape will not show through your fabric, you may use this instead. Once a gripper-snap has torn part way out, it is impossible to remove it and put it in again.

Please send me your questions. Remember, your questions are shared by many women from coast to coast. Questions of the most general interest will be answered in this column, they cannot be answered personally. If you would like Eunice Farmers "Buttonhole" leaflet, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Eunice Farmer in care of Monroe Morning World.

Move Plants Out Of House

By AUDREY H. DAWSON

After keeping foliage plants indoors for many months where conditions for growth might not be too favorable, it is a wise practice to move them outside during warm weather.

However, it would be well to repot the plants before moving out-of-doors. Use a good potting mixture, one part good garden soil, one part peat moss, and one part sand. In the bottom of the pot use broken crockery or gravel for drainage. Soils through which water does not move freely become stale and the roots of the plants will rot.

Most house plants are tender and will show signs of burning if placed in direct exposure to sunlight and winds. If possible, place plants near outdoor living areas where they can be enjoyed throughout the summer. The lush green foliage gives a cooling effect to patios.

PROBLEM

Sufficient moisture is a common problem during the summer months. You may want to sink your potted plants in flower borders if beds exist in areas satisfactory for growing the potted plants. This will cut down on the frequency of watering.

Spasmodic watering of plants is harmful. Sink pots in areas high in organic matter. This material will give a cooling effect to soil and conserve the moisture. Feed the plants a complete fertilizer at least twice during the summer. One tablespoon of a complete fertilizer as 8-8-8 per quart of water is sufficient.

Plant fall blooming bulbs during this month. Bulbs require a soil high in organic matter. Organize bulbs in general areas in groups or drifts rather than scattering a few bulbs over a large area. Bulbs are excellent used in a ground cover such as English ivy.

The lycorus or September lily is a very good fall blooming bulb that will add enrichment to the landscape. You may get them in colors of red, yellow, pink or white.

DRAPERY DEMONSTRATION

If you, Mrs. Homemaker, want to learn to make draperies, I invite you to a demonstration at the Agricultural Building in West Monroe, Friday, April 6 at 9:00-11:30 a.m. The demonstration will consist of measuring for draw draperies and making lined and unlined draperies.

Do you, Mrs. Homemaker, have a family Bible, a treasured volume of some great author that you want to keep. If they've been in the family a long time and are leather bound, they are apt to show signs of decay. If you want to add new beauty to the leather, our house furnishings specialist, Mrs. Jessie Mae Hill, recommends treating them with lacquer. First clean the books well, apply oil if you wish then spray or brush on two thin coats of lacquer. Be sure to let the first coat dry before applying the second.

Do not use lacquer on new books because it destroys the natural leather appearance, and do not use lacquer in a closed room or near a fire or open flame. Do not smoke when handling lacquer. The vapors and fumes are highly volatile.

RUG CARE

A rug can hold virtually its own weight in dirt and still the surface may look clean. You must remember, Mrs. Homemaker, that the life of a carpet depends on its care. So each day you should remove the surface litter with a carpet sweeper or vacuum cleaner. The carpet sweep is fine for threads and pet hair. A more thorough cleaning is needed each week. Go backward and forward over heavy traffic areas about five times with your vacuum cleaner. Remember, if you remove spots and stains immediately, the results will be much more satisfactory.

A THOUGHT

A friend is the one who comes in when the whole world has gone out.

REDS SEIZE LIGHTHOUSE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Communist guerrillas seized a South Vietnamese lighthouse, held it for several hours and stole all its tools last week, a U.S. source reported Friday. The Viet Cong group did not interfere with operation of the light.

BALANCE OF POWER

New High Court Justice Liberal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The effect appointment of Byron R. (Whizzer) White will have on the delicate balance between liberals and conservatives on the Supreme Court was not clear Saturday.

There is little in the former deputy attorney general's record to indicate if he will line up solidly with either group or become a swing man, a role frequently filled by Justice Potter Stewart.

In his public statements to date, White has rarely talked of the issues which confront the court. As No. 2 man at the Justice Department he did not shape policy and, until recently, he was rarely in the public eye except for his football exploits 20 years ago.

Court observers guessed that if White had to be categorized at this point he would have to be considered a moderate with an inclination toward a liberal view.

Shortly after he took office as deputy attorney general, White was asked if he was a liberal and replied: "Well, if resistance to change makes one a conservative I'm not a conservative."

A consensus of those who know him was that more often than not White will be found voting with those who favor holding to minimum government restraints on the individual.

Definition of a liberal or conservative is always difficult, and particularly so on the Supreme Court. It depends on the area involved — civil rights, property rights or whether the court should assume an activist bent or hew closely to precedent.

Even so, four justices generally are considered to be liberals — Chief Justice Earl Warren, Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas and William J. Brennan Jr.

Charles Evans Whittaker, whose seat White will take if he is confirmed by the Senate, tended to vote conservatively, as did Justices Felix Frankfurter, Tom C. Clark and John M. Harlan.

This usually even alignment, with Stewart straddling the two groups, points up the effect White's views can have in future decisions.

Although segregation decisions generally have been unanimous there have been 5-4 votes on other important issues.

White is not expected to run into difficulty when the Senate Judiciary Committee meets to act on his nomination, which Kennedy is expeced to submit formally early next week.

First Senate reaction to the appointment Friday was generally favorable.

And the committee chairman, Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., was quoted by an aide as saying he didn't always agree with White but believed the 44-year-old nominee would make a good justice. The aide quoted Eastland as saying he would support White's nomination.

When White went before the same committee last year on his nomination to be deputy attorney general he was not questioned about his political philosophy.

He was asked about his corporation law pratice in Denver. Much of the time, White said, he was busy with antitrust litigation and tax work.

White also was asked if he owned any stocks or had any other financial interests in corporations doing business with the government.

He replied that the only securities in private corporations he had retained were three rather small holdings.

"I have some shares in a Canadian oil company which does no business in the United States," he said. "I have some shares in a Colorado mining company which, like other mining companies, is no longer very active."

In addition, White said he had undivided interest in an investment trust management company.

"These shares are owned by the firm of which I was a member," he said, "and they will be distributed, I anticipate, to me in connection with the ending of my interest with the firm."

"This is a management trust in which the firm invested money of all the partners?" he was asked.

"Yes, sir'" he replied.

Negro Family's Home In White Area Wrecked

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (UPI)—An explosion and fire Saturday wrecked the interior of a six-room house recently bought by a Negro family in an all-white neighborhood.

The bungalow, in a middle class neighborhood about a mile south of Portsmouth's city limits, was unoccupied. Negro shipyard worker Anthony Gist, his wife and their three sons planned to move into it next Tuesday.

Police were not sure what caused the explosion, but firemen said they detected a strong odor of oil or gasoline when they arrived at the house after the fire had burned out. A screen on a rear window appeared to have been cut.

The damage was discovered by a policeman who noticed a shattered window on his way home from work about 7 a.m. EST. Neighbors said they were unaware of the explosion or fire.

Gist and his wife said they had received several telephone calls recently advising them not to break the color line in the neighborhood. But they said the callers were not particularly disturbing.

Mrs. Gist said she expected "some trouble, but nothing like this."

Scholarship Set In Library Work By State Group

BATON ROUGE (Special) — The Louisiana Library Association is offering a $300 scholarship in library science to a Louisiana college summer school graduate, or to a Louisiana citizen holding a bachelor's degree.

This 1962-63 scholarship will be given in memory of the late Miss S. Metella Williams, who was professor of library science at Louisiana State University 1932-1961.

The announcement was made by James S. Cookston of Baton Rouge, chairman of the association's scholarship committee. It will be awarded, Cookston said, for study during the 1962-63 academic year for a Master's degree at Louisiana State University Library School.

Applicants must meet the following requirements: legal residence or, if under 21, legal residence of parents, in Louisiana; provisional admittance to LSU's graduate school; and a recommendation from one qualified librarian employed in a Louisiana Library. Applicants will be interviewed by at least one member of the Scholarship Committee.

NEW HISTORIC SHRINE

Senators To Lose Place For Parties

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has decided to kick out the cocktail parties and committee meetings and restore as a historic shrine the old chamber if occupied from 1810 to 1859 and the Supreme Court used from 1860 to 1935.

This decision will be observed Monday with an informal reception — and not a dry one — for senators, Cabinet members, White House staff members and government agency heads in a glittering new conference chamber in the new east front of the Capitol.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., who have sponsored the move to refurnish the old chamber, hope the new walnut-panelled conference room will prove an acceptable substitute. It will seat 85 for lunch, accommodate 200 for cocktails.

Mansfield and Stennis have taken a dim view for some time on the growing practice of utilizing the old chamber as a convenient spot for members to throw parties and to entertain visiting dignitaries for lunch.

They felt that the old chamber which once resounded to the oratory of Calhoun, Clay, Webster and others deserved something better than the clink of highball glasses and the frenetic conversation of merrymakers.

They were not pleased, either, with the penchant of some committees to occupy the leather chairs where the high court justices used to sit in front of the marble colonade that stretches across one side of the semicircular hall.

Because it is handy to the Senate's present chamber, the old room was a convenient place for committee sessions. Members could duck out quickly for quorum calls or votes.

The Senate on May 28, 1934, passed a resolution which said the old chamber should be "preserved and kept open to the public under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the architect of the Capitol, with the approval of the Committee on Rules of the Senate."

The Rules Committee's interpretation of this was on the liberal side and tourists often found uniformed officers barring them from peeking at the historic spot.

FIRE, FLOODS, AND YOU!

Did you know that careless campers and smokers start dozens of floods every year?

It's true! Forest fires are a major cause of soil erosion and floods. When fire burns off the ground cover that holds the rain and protects the soil, the first heavy rain will loosen the soil and carry it down, unchecked, to silt our reservoirs, flood our towns, and pollute our streams.

Clean water and fertile soil are the lifeblood of the land. Be careful. Don't let your fire start a flood!

Remember—Only you can PREVENT FOREST FIRES!

R. CONRAD COOPER, chief negotiater for the steel industry, left, shakes hands with David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers, after the two reached agreement Saturday on a new-two-year labor contract — three months ahead of the June 31 expiration date and the earliest in USW-industry history. (AP Wirephoto)

Steel Pact Highlights Are Listed

PITTSBURGH AP)—Here are the highlights of the new steel contract announced Saturday by the industry and the United Steelworkers.

Comparison with present pace—An average annual increase from 3½ to 3¾ per cent and 8 per cent per year in the 20 years from 1940 to 1960.

Terms of agreement—In effect until either party gives 90 days' notice of termination served after March 31, 1964. Agreement may be reopened for bargaining on wage rates, insurance, pensions, etc. on 90 days' notice served after April 30, 1963.

Supplemental unemployment benefits:

1. $12.50 increase in maximum weekly benefits—an increase of more than $50 a month. Previous maximums were $25.00 per week when receiving unemployment compensation and $47.50 after unemployment compensation terminated. The new maximums are now $37.50 and $60.00 plus $1.50 for each dependent up to four.

2. Gross benefit increased and simplified—24 hours pay figured on last vacation pay, plus $1.50 for up to 4 dependents, replacing the old 65 per cent formula.

3. 4½ cents more per hour in cash going into sub. Total available for sub—9½ cents per hour.

4. No reductions until fund is below 35 percent, instead of below 75 percent, as provided in the old agreement.

5. Short work week benefit. If member works less than 32 hours, he will receive straight time pay for every unpaid hour up to 32.

6. Disability benefit—A member who becomes disabled by illness or accident while on layoff will now receive full sub benefits. Under the previous agreement he was denied sub and ineligible for unemployment compensation since he could not fulfill the "able and available" requirements of the state.

7. Numerous administration improvements to simplify plan, ease red-tape burden on applicants and improve grievance procedure.

1. One week additional vacation for each 2 years worked after 1960. Can be taken as vacation time off or banked at interest, payable at retirement, death, terminaiton or when needed for some hardship.

2. In addition, at retirement, one week's vacation pay for each 5 years' past service.

Revival Slated

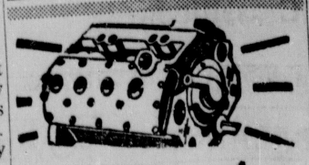

A spring revival series on the theme, "Jesus, The Hope of the World," will start today at the Mt. Gilead Colored Baptist Church, North 8th and Short Drew Streets in West Monroe, it was announced by the minister, S. L. Pierce. Services will be held daily at 7:30 p.m. through April 13.

Tornadic Winds Rake Alabama, Man Is Killed

By United Press International

Tornadic winds, accompanied by lightning and hail, raked across Alabama Saturday killing at least one person and causing at least $100,000 in property damage.

The U. S. weather bureau in Montgomery lifted a tornado warning for 19 central and south Alabama counties at 10 a.m. but alerted southeastern county residents to protect themselves from high winds and hail in thunderstorms skittering east.

A river bulletin issued at midmorning said "heavy rains of three to six inches in extreme south Alabama will result in local flooding of small streams and lowland areas of south Alabama. Sharp rises will occur on the Conecuh, Choctawhatchee, Pea and Yellow rivers but crests are not expected to reach flood stage. No serious flooding will occur unless there are additional heavy rains within the next 24 hours."

J. K. Bonds, section foreman for the Central of Georgia Railroad, was struck and killed by lightning at Leeco, near Opelika, Saturday morning. Bonds lived at Camp Hill in Tallaposa County.

Highway Patrolman R. C. Anderson said a twister struck near Miflin in South Baldwin County, causing "at least $50,000 damage." No injuries were reported.

The tunnel touched down near Bon Secour, throwing giant oaks and pines on the home of Asm. E. S. May (ret). It jumped to Miflin, 10 miles east, and badly damaged several homes, a cafe and a boatshed.

U.S. To Launch New Weather Satellite Soon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The space agency said Saturday it plans to launch the fifth Tiros weather satellite this spring into a wide-ranging orbit that will permit the mapping of polar ice.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said this would be accomplished by launching the satellite at an angle to the equator of 58 degrees instead of the 48-degree angle of the four previous Tiros launchings.

Two more Tiros launchings are planned this summer and fall, and later this year, the first Nimbus, a more advanced type of weather satellite, will be launched into a polar orbit.

The space agency said the first four Tiros satellites have transmitted more than 100,000 cloud cover photographs and infrared neat data for use in weather forecasting and research.

"The photographs have proved invaluable to the U.S. Weather Bureau and other users for worldwide operational weather forecasting," the agency said.

School Aid Ruling Hits Mississippi

By United Press International

Officials in three Mississippi cities are wondering how their school systems will be able to provide educations for more than 2,600 children of military personnel when a Kennedy administration ruling becomes effective in 1963.

The problem cropped up Friday when Education Secretary Abraham Ribicoff said his department would cut off special federal aid to some segregated schools serving the children of servicemen.

The ruling affects about 1,000 school children in Lowndes County from Columbus Air Force Base, about 1,400 at Biloxi from Keesler AFB, and about 250 in Lauderdale County from a Naval Air training base near Meridian.

Servicemen do not pay state taxes which are used to finance schools. To help the school systems educate children from the bases, the government has made sizeable payments to the local programs.

In Columbus, School Supt. J. E. Goolsby said taxes might have to be increased by five mills to continue the children's educations.

Biloxi Mayor Dan Guie said present state law probably would not permit his city to raise taxes high enough to keep up its program.

In Meridian, Lauderdale County Education Supt. D. B. Johnson said the children would continue to get an education from the county but it would be difficult with local residents carrying the full load.

Safety Courses Set In Ruston

RUSTON (Special) — Stan Zbozen of the safety division of the Louisiana Department of Highways and formerly director of first aid and water safety for the American Red Cross will be in Ruston beginning Monday to conduct courses in First Aid for Highway department personnel and other interested persons.

Originally scheduled to be here in early March, demands of the Highway Department for his assistance in preparing a safety manual accounted for delaying the courses.

Parish Red Cross Chairman Jim Tarver said arrangements had been made for Zbozen to teach a course in "standard" first aid to any interested people during the evenings of the week of April 2.

Jail Escapee Is Captured In Mississippi

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Monroe County sheriff Paul Brasfield said Lawrence L. Phelps, 26, one of five escapees from federal custody in Aberdeen, Miss., early Friday, was arrested about mid-morning. Two others remained at large.

The highway patrol picked up Edward Shipley, 22, near Corinth late Friday and West Point city police arrested John T. Walters, 32, on a rialroad track shortly after the escape was noticed.

Sheriff Brasfield said the five men apparently split soon after their night-time escape. Authorities believe the two remaining fugitives are in the northeast area of Tishomingo, Alcorn, Itawamba and Lee Counties.

Still free are Earlis Alexander, 30, and Raymond Chambers, 34. All five were being held for transport to a federal penitentiary or for trial.

They escaped the Monroe County jail early Friday by pounding a hole in the front wall with a window sash. The breakout was noticed about 7 a.m.

Text Of Glenn Church Sermon Is Published

NEW YORK (UPI)—John H. Glenn Jr., America's first space man to circle the earth, says that God put the universe in orbit and is keeping it there.

Glenn, in a sermon at the Little Falls United Presbyterian Church of Arlington, Va., said that scientific efforts to send man into space are "pretty puny" by comparison.

The text of Glenn's sermon, delivered last year, was published by Parade Magazine, together with a statement by the astronaut's pastor, the Rev. Frank A. Erwin, who said that "John wears his Chirstian faith as easily as he wore his silvery space suit when he entered Friendship 7."

"The suit was the armor of his body against the forces of space Erwin said. "his faith was toe armor of his spirit against the unseen."

The minister said that Glenn took no religious symbols with him in the Friendship 7 space capsule because "he rejects that concept of religion and rebels at the idea of using religion as an escape hatch for emergencies only."

Area Students On Honor Roll

PINEVILLE (Special) — Two northeast Louisianians, including one from Monroe, were among the 73 students to attain the 1961-62 honor rolls at Louisiana College, according to a report from Miss Dorothy Calhoon, registrar.

Donna Sue Guyton, senior mathetmatics major and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Guyton, Sr., 3902 Spurgeon, Monroe, made the "B" list. She is a graduate of Neville High School.

The other student from Northeast Louisiana on the "B" roll is Edwin Stewart Pinkston, freshman advertising art major and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Pinkston of Lake Providence.

Tech Releases District Band Festival Ratings

RUSTON (Special)— Additional band ratings in the district festival here were announced Saturday afternoon by Joe G. Sheppard, director of the Louisiana Tech band, who is collaborating with Oscar Barnes of Ruston High School in conducting the meet for the Louisiana Music Educators' Assn.

The visiting high school and elementary pupils were not competing against each other but were graded and given constructive criticism on their concert playing. Bands accorded superior rating will enter the state LMEA Festival in Baton Rouge the latter part of April.

Ratings reported at Tech Saturday afternoon were as follows:

Superior — Farmerville, Winnsboro and Oak Grove high schools.

Very good—Tallulah, LaSalle of Olla and Lake Providence high schools.

Good— Rayville high school.

Bands of class A and triple-A were to perform later, Sheppard said.

Superior—Haughton high school.

Excellent—Crowville, Holly Ridge, Columbia and Haynesville high schools.

Very Good—Newellton, Delhi and Arcadia high schools.

Very good—Ringgold elementary band; Monroe elementaries (All-City elementary bands); Shreveport elementaries (Tri-School C.Y.C.).

OPHS Seniors To Give Play

Ouachita Parish High School has announced the presentation of "Heaven Can Wait" as their annual senior play.

The play will be presented at 8:15 p.m. April 9 and 7 in the school auditorium. Tickets will be available at the door or from any member of the cast.

WANT-AD WONDERS Trade Mark

Want Ad Gets Homely Secretary a Job

Too tall, over-weight, and over 35, Frances Long was desperately in need of employment. The jobs always went to more attractive . . . although obviously less efficient applicants. This became a repititious, disheartening dilemma. Feeling that somewhere there must be an office that might hire a homely secretary, she ran the following ad and landed a job.

Efficient, qualified secretary seeks full-time employment. Unusually homely, the unattractive type your wife would approve.

RUNNING THE SCALES

Gospel Vocalizing At Shreveport

By JOHN CALE

Activity reached a peak this weekend in the neighboring city of Shreveport with the Tri-State gospel singing convention. The songfest opened yesterday at the Municipal Auditorium and will continue through today.

The session is under the direction of Videt Polk of Baton Rouge. More than 500 singers are taking part in the event including 25 of the South's gospel quartets. Featured today will be The Stamps-Baxter quartet of Dallas, the Melody Boys and James Family of Little Rock, the Rhythm Masters quartet of Birmingham, Alabama, and the National Deep South quartet of Shreveport. The Robinson Trio of Bastrop was slated to represent northeast Louisiana at the get-together.

GOSPEL ART

Since the Bible Belt of Dixie is the home of the gospel movement, and since the Tri-State convention is billed — accurately, perhaps — as the largest song-fest of its type in the country, the activity merits a close look from anyone interested in music.

"Holy but hospitable" might be a descriptive phrase for the general effect of this strictly American development on the musical scene. The late Virgil Stamps, granddaddy of all gospel endeavors, got his start in Upshur County, Texas, in the 1920's.

Then as now, one of the favorite Sunday occasions was the all-day "singing-on-the-grounds" at a community church. The Stamps brothers noted the limited material for the singings — usually the church's revival songbooks. So they started writing their own music, publishing it and establishing singing schools for a combination shape-note and sol-fa system.

There was no let-up in the progress of gospel music during the great depression of the 1930's. In fact, the songs and performances appeared to thrive on the adverse economic circumstances.

A quick analytical glance at present - day gospel trends shows a firm foundation on the early revival meeting hyms. But melody lines, harmonies and rhythms show the gospel train picked up many forms doomed to the sidetrack of musical history — the barber shop quartet harmonies; minstrel rhythms and enthusiams, a scattering of ragtime, blues and dixieland — all amplified through elaborate speaker systems.

Longhairs take heed! A gospel singing is one of the only musical functions going in these parts which will cause a crowd to assemble for no other reason than the "thing itself." Most other concerts appeal to certain measures of civic pride, response to a drive (financial), or other forces in addition to the music. Apparently people like that "holy but hospitable" atmosphere of the singing conventions more than ever.

UPCOMING

The third opera in the Paramount Theatre's filmed series, "Faust," is slated for Thursday of this week.

Also a series of faculty recitals has been announced at Louisiana Tech. Next Sunday, the series will open with a program by James G. Smith, baritone, accompanied by Helen Wooldridge at the piano. The program is slated for 3 p.m. in the Little Theatre of Howard Auditorium.

Subsequent recitals will be given by Mary Elaine Wallace, soprano; Alfred Tellinghuisen, tenor; Duchein Cázedessus and Marshall Bretz, pianists, Elizabeth Martin, cello, and Joe G. Sheppard, clarinet.

Satellites May Retaliate In Nuclear Attack

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—Satellites capable of directing U.S. retaliation against nuclear attack may be operational in 10 years, a Lockheed Aircraft Corp. official said Saturday.

Reporting on a company-funded study, chief spacecraft engineer R. A. Bailey said such satellites would be able to take charge if earth command centers were destroyed and order the launching of missiles from submarines and land bases.

Bailey envisioned the satellites as rimless wheels with four spokes radiating from the hub, which would be the command center.

Dutch Rout Invaders In New Guinea

HOLLANDIA, West New Guinea (AP)—Dutch marines routed a band of Indonesian invaders, killing one of them, in a brief battle on the island of Gag off the tip of Dutch West New Guinea, a military communique reported Friday.

At the same time, the Dutch said they were mopping up Indonesian infiltrators on the island of Waigeo, near Gag. They reported a number of the Indonesians had surrendered with quantities of arms.

The communique did not disclose the size of the force that invaded Gag, on the fringe of Indonesian territory, but reported the Dutch marines seized ammunition, outboard motors, light machine guns and American-made Garand rifles. There were no Dutch losses in Thursday's action, the communique said.

Last Sunday, an Indonesian air force plane attacked a Dutch patrol boat near Gag. The Dutch said the plane dropped a bomb that hit nearby, wounding three of the six Dutch sailors aboard. The boat remained afloat.

At the time, the Dutch reported infiltration by Indonesians of Waigeo.

President Sukarno of Indonesia has threatened to invade Dutch West New Guinea and take it by force if the Netherlands fails to hand over administration of the island territory.

Guide To Good Reading

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

The Ouachita Parish Public Library spends more than 20 per cent of it's annual income on the purchase of books and other non-book material. This is a higher per cent than is spent by most libraries and accounts for the fact that the book collection of the Library has increased very rapidly. On January first 1948 when the Library became a tax supported institution, the book collection consisted of 22,823 books. By April first, 1962 the total had increased to 73,500 volumes. Of course this is not up to the National Standard of 1 book per person, but we hope to reach that point within the next five years, when even more funds are available for the purchase of books.

New titles added during the past week offer a variety of reading material. Peter de Vries has a large and devoted reading audience who eagerly wait for his latest novel. The new title is "The Blood of the Lamb". It is the story of a man's search for faith. This is a startling novel of great power, which in its biographical scope encompasses the full range of human experience. James Ramsey Ullman writes fascinating novels of far away places. His latest one is called "Fia Fia". The setting is an exotic, remote island in the south Seas, Tiara. Except for a few years during World War II when it was a depot for the United States Navy, Tiara has remained untouched and unspoiled and its original native population lives in the twentieth century according to the almost idyllic precepts of their ancient civilization. Suddenly the peace of the island is disturbed by a group of Americans who have come to the island to build a luxury hotel. What this did to the island makes a poignant story of love and longing and the struggle for understanding between two worlds centuries apart.

An interesting and unusual novel is "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" written by Ken Kesey. It is a first novel by a promising young author and has it's setting in the world of a mental institution. It will not appeal to everyone, but some readers will find it absorbing. "Land of Promises" is the title of a new Double D Western by Joseph Wayne. It is the story of the opening up of the Ute Indian lands to white settlement in 1880 and of the people who came to make their homes in this territory. This is the story of the men and women who came there and how they fared.

The field of non fiction also offers several interesting new books. "I was Born Tomorrow" is an account of the experiences of a preacher's wife, written by Grace Nies Fletcher. It will find a ready audience. A useful new book in the field of bulletin boards and displays has just been released by Reine Randall. It is especially good in the field of school displays. Books to be used in making scientific experiments are always in demand. The latest one is called "The Crazy Cantilever and other Science Experiments" and the author is Robert R. Kadesch.

Isaac Asimov is a versitable writer who produces a world of material in the scientific field. His latest title is "The World of Carbon" and should be most useful. A most unusual book has just been written by Bernard Seeman. It is called "River of Life; the Story of Man's Blood from Magic to Science." It contains all of the old myths and items of folklore connected with the blood and also the latest scientific information in this field. An interesting new book in the field of literature is "Old Celtic Romances" translated by Patrick Joyce. This is a new rendering of tales from Irish mythology and should be most useful to students.

For those who like to read about trials, there is a new title by Ben Hect called "Perfidy". It is an account of a libel trail in an Israeli court and has many interesting aspects. One of the most colorful and interesting families in the world of international finance is the Rothschild family. Frederic Morton has written an absorbing account of the family which he calls simply, "The Rothschilds". There will be many people who want to read this. "Here Comes, There Goes, You Know Who" is the title of the autobiography of William Saroyan. It is written in his usual style and will find many devoted readers.

A most significant book is "The Spanish Civil War" by Hugh Thomas. This is the first objective history of the Spanish Civil War in all its aspects - diplomatic, military and political. In this book we get a very fine picture of the bloodshed, aspiration, intrigue and tragedy that laid the seed for the other wars which followed. MILTON CANIFF

NO, NO, COL. CANYON! I KNOW THAT ONE OF THE GIRLS IN THAT EUROPEAN CHORUS IS A SPY!

BUT, HIYU! YOU WON'T TELL ME HOW YOU KNOW!

IF I TELL, YOU MAY LAUGH!

NO...IN FACT WE DO NOT THINK IT FUNNY TO SEND AN EXPEDITION...

...TO HUNT FOR YOUR ELUSIVE AFRICAN SHORT-WAVE BROADCASTER FROM THE ICE CAP!

BUT YOU HAD THE TAPE I SENT TRANSLATED...

IT WAS AN AFRICAN BLINDED BY AN ATOM BOMB EXPLOSION!

TRUE ENOUGH! -BUT HOW DID YOU KNOW THE ACTUAL CONTENT OF THE MESSAGE IN THE AFRICAN DIALECT?

WHY—I HEARD YOU AND JAKE TALKING—WHEN I WAS STOWED AWAY IN THE PLANE!

I DID NOT MENTION BLINDNESS TO JAKE IN THE AIRCRAFT!

IT IS AN ENGLISH TRANSLATION OF CENTRAL AFRICAN DIALECTS

IT WAS IN THE SHOULDER BAG YOU BROUGHT ON THIS TRIP!

DID YOU WRITE OUT THAT MESSAGE AND MAKE A GARBLED TAPE WHICH WE FELL FOR?

NO! NO! I LISTENED TO IT — THEN GOT THE DICTIONARY AND MARKED THE PHRASES ONE BY ONE!

BUT NOW YOU WILL NEVER BELIEVE ME — THAT ONE OF THE EUROPEAN CHORUS GIRLS IS A SPY!
